YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS.

THE MAKING OF AN AFFIDAVIT.

INSURANCE COMPANY'S APPEAL DISMISSED.

The Hibernian Fire and General Insurance Company, Limited, appealed against an order made by Mr. Justice Johnston for the better discovery of documents in an action in which William Henry Rushbrooke was plaintiff, and Denis O'Sullivan and the Hibernian Fire and General Insurance Company were defendants.

Mr. James Geoghegan, K.C., and Mr. Kelly (instructed by Messrs. Corrigan and Corrigan), appeared for the appellants.

Mr. A. K. Overend, K.C., and Mr. Hungerford (instructed by Messrs. A. H. Allen and Sons), appeared for the plaintiff (respondent).

Mr. Geoghegan said that the plaintiff, William Henry Rushbrooke, of Gosford, Milford, Surrey, let a house on lease to Denis O'Sullivan, of Bond street, Queenstown. There were covenants in the lease to keep the house in repair and to have it insured. The defendants—the Hibernian Insurance Company—issued a policy of insurance to O'Sullivan for £5,350, insuring premises, furniture, and stock against damage by fire. On August 13th, 1923, the premises were burned, and the Insurance Company, after certain communications had passed, held that they were not liable and declined to pay. Counsel objected to the production of communications which passed between the offices of the company in Cork and Dublin in reference to litigation and to the report of the assessors.

Mr. Overend, K.C., said that the application before the Court was for a further and better discovery, and it was to that application that Judge Johnston had acceded, and from that order the defendants had appealed. The question was one of the sufficiency of the affidavit already made.

The Chief Justice said that he was of opinion that the appeal should be dismissed. The affidavit filed on behalf of the defendant company was insufficient, and did not in the schedule identify the documents in any way. Furthermore, the paragraphs referred to were most unsatisfactory and incomplete. He thought that it was necessary that the Insurance Company should make a proper affidavit.

Mr. Justice FitzGibbon and Mr. Justice Murnaghan agreed.

The appeal was, therefore, dismissed with costs.

TIPPERARY COLLISION.

CLERICAL STUDENT'S INJURIES.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN.)

John T. Mahon, a minor, and a clerical student, sueing by his father, Thomas M. Mahon, of Pound street, Nenagh, County Tipperary, brought an action against D. V. Lambkin, bank manager, of the Portumna branch of the National Bank, to recover damages for personal and other injuries alleged to have been sustained through the negligence of the defendant in the driving and management of a motor car in the County Tipperary on the 27th July, 1924.

It was alleged that the defendant's car was driven with great force and violence against the plaintiff and his bicycle, with the result that the plaintiff was thrown to the ground and badly injured. He had been prevented for some time from attending to his studies.

The defence was a general traverse and denial, and an allegation that the alleged injuries or damages were caused by the negligence and default of the plaintiff, without any negligence or default on the part of the defendant. It was further alleged that the bicycle was driven by the plaintiff at an excessive and dangerous speed approaching the cross-roads.

Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald, K.C.; Mr. V. Rice, K.C.; and Mr. H. Hamilton (instructed by Mr. James O'Brien), appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Patrick Lynch, K.C., and Mr. M. J. Connolly (instructed by Mr. James J. Kearns), for the defendant.

ALLEGED COMMANDEERING OF CARS.

ACTION AGAINST DEFENCE MINISTER.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

A case was heard in which John Derham, spirit grocer and motor garage proprietor, Athlone, claimed from the Minister for Defence £1,957 4s. 6d. in respect of the hiring and commandeering of motor cars over a period ranging from about July, 1922, to May, 1924. The plaintiff alleged that two cars commandeered were not brought back, and there were also claims in respect of wrongful treatment of cars, necessitating repairs, and for equipment, rugs, etc., which, it was stated, were not returned to plaintiff.

In the defence it was stated that no motor cars were hired or commandeered, as alleged, or at all. The defendant also denied wrongful treatment of cars, or that equipment, rugs, etc., came into his possession. Alternatively, he said that the acts complained of were done by him in pursuance of his public duty as Minister of Defence; that the action was not commenced within six months after the alleged acts complained of, and was barred by the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, and, alternatively, was barred by the Indemnity Act, 1923, so far as it related to matters or things done before the passing of the Act. The defendant also submitted that in so far as the claim referred to the alleged action of persons other than the defendant it disclosed no cause of action against defendant.

Mr. M. Maguire, K.C.; Mr. Jas. Geoghegan, K.C., and Mr. Jas. Cawley (instructed by Mr. D. J. Hanna, Athlone) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. J. A. Costello, K.C., and Mr. Bewley (instructed by Messrs. Corrigan and Corrigan) for the defendant.

Evidence having been given by plaintiff and witnesses on his behalf as to the hiring and commandeering of cars,

Mr. Costello asked for a direction in favour of defendant on the grounds that there was no evidence of any contract or agreement for the hire of the cars, and also that in so far as the Minister for Defence was liable for the acts of any person other than the defendant, the acts were done in pursuance of his public duty as Minister for Defence. He further submitted that the officers of the army had no authority to bind the Minister for Defence in a contract, and consequently he was not liable.

Mr. Maguire submitted that the case should go to the jury. The action was founded entirely on contract, and the Public Authorities Protection Act did not apply. As to the contention that the officers had no authority to bind the Minister for Defence, counsel said that they were acting in emergency, and everything that they did was adopted by the Minister for Defence.

Mr. Justice Hanna granted the application for a direction in favour of the defendant. There was no evidence on which the jury could find that the case did not come within the Indemnity Act, or to stop the Minister for Defence from relying on the defences which were made.

The jury, by direction, then found for the defendant, and on the application of Mr. Maguire the entering of judgment was stayed for a week.

THE SALE OF LAND.

ACTION BY LORD LISTOWEL.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

In the case of Lord Listowel v. Vaughan, Mr. Reardon (instructed by Messrs. W. Magnier and Son) applied on behalf of the defendant, Francis Joseph Vaughan, of Ballyhooly, Co. Cork, to have set aside a judgment obtained by the plaintiff on the 16th July, in default of defence in an action against the defendant for specific performance of an agreement whereby it was alleged the defendant agreed to purchase from the plaintiff part of the lands of Convamore, Co. Cork; or, alternatively, that the deposit lodged by the defendant should be forfeited and the sale rescinded.

The judgment of the 16th July ordered that the deposit be forfeited and the sale rescinded and that the defendant should pay the costs of the action. The defendant now sought to set this judgment aside on account of surprise, owing, as he alleged, to negotiations for settlement. The plaintiff denied that the defendant had been taken by surprise.

Mr. Justice Johnston now made an order that, on the lodgment by the defendant of £50 within one week, the judgment would be set aside, and a date would be fixed for the hearing of the application of the plaintiff.

Mr. Phelps, K.C., and Mr. M. Binchy (instructed by Mr. M. J. Byrne) appeared for the plaintiff to oppose the motion.

DIVISION OF AN ESTATE.

SURVIVING CHILDREN'S SHARES.

The case of Dillon v. Dillon was listed for judgment. The case came up on a memorandum of the Chief Clerk for the decision of a question arising on the taking of accounts. The suit was to administer the estate of Patrick Dillon, of Oldtown, Navan, who died in 1901, and the question was what interest his surviving children now took in the estate, which consisted of about 46 acres. The issue was between Patrick Dillon, who continued to work the lands; Bernard and Julia Dillon, the three survivors.

Mr. Justice Johnston held, on the facts, that Patrick Dillon was entitled to 61-81 parts, Julia Dillon to 14-81 parts, and Bernard to 6-81 parts of the estate.

Mr. Cecil Lavery (instructed by Mr. P. A. Mooney, Kells), and Mr. Morgan Byrne (instructed by Messrs. Thomas Gerrard and Co.) appeared for the survivors.

DUBLIN AND LUCAN RAILWAY.

HEARING OF A PETITION.

A petition in the matter of the Companies Acts and the Dublin and Lucan Electric Railway Company appeared on the list for hearing.

Mr. Molony (instructed by Messrs. O'Hagan and Son) asked for an adjournment for a month. He said that a provisional liquidator had been appointed by the Vacation Judge, and the hearing of the petition had been adjourned until the second day of the present sittings, while certain negotiations were pending which might render the application unnecessary. It was quite possible that some arrangements might be come to which would render the petition unnecessary. He made the application on behalf of the debenture holders.

Mr. Fitzgerald (Messrs. D. and T. Fitzgerald), for the company, consented.

Mr. Justice Johnston granted the adjournment.

BALTINGLASS TOWN HALL

SOLD FOR £100.

In the matter of the Baltinglas Town Hall Co., Ltd., in liquidation, an application was made by Messrs. J. P. Tyndall and Co., solicitors, on behalf of the liquidator, for liberty to accept an offer of £100 for the premises. It was stated that the premises had been put up for auction in September and that no offer was received. There was an affidavit by the auctioneer and by the liquidator recommending the acceptance of the present offer.

Mr. Justice Johnston gave the liberty asked for.

The name of the purchaser was not stated.

JOCKEY'S ACTION.

DECLARATION OF TRUSTEESHIP SOUGHT.

In the case of Joseph Canty, Mountjoy Lodge, Co. Kildare, jockey, against Thomas McNamara, of Clondrinagh, North Liberties, Limerick, farmer, Mr. M. Binchy (instructed by Mr. J. S. Gaffney) applied on behalf of the plaintiff for an order directing the defendant to comply with an order made on the 17th August for the discovery of documents, and that, in default of such compliance, the defence filed on behalf of the defendant in the action be struck out.

Counsel said that the action was for a declaration that the defendant held part of the lands of Ballincaroona or Kilfrush as trustee for the plaintiff.

Mr. M. J. Ryan (instructed by Messrs. Kenny and Burke), who appeared for the defendant, said that his client was quite willing to furnish an affidavit of discovery, and could explain the delay that had arisen in getting them.

Mr. Justice Johnston made an order that the defendant should comply with the order for discovery within ten days, and in default, that the defence be struck out and that the defendant should pay the costs of the motion.

CONSTRUCTION OF A WILL.

A COUNTY CAVAN TENANCY.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

In the case of Henry Humphries, of Kilnacreeva, Ballyhaise, against John Morrow, of Rockville, Ballyjamesduff, a summons was taken out by Mr. Humphries, one of the executors of the will of Robert E. Morrow, who was the husband and administrator of his wife, Rosalie Humphries, to have it declared whether, on the true construction of the will of R. E. Morrow, the residue of his estate, real and personal, which he directed to be divided equally between the defendant, John Morrow, and his sister, Mrs. Humphries, and to the survivors of them, constituted a joint tenancy or a tenancy in common. The deceased, who was described as a veterinary student and private in the Scottish Field Ambulance, died on the 15th September, 1916, at the Military Hospital, Devonport. By his will, which was proved by the plaintiff and the defendant, who were named as his executors, he, after other bequests, left the residue of his estate as stated.

Mr. T. J. Smyth (instructed by Mr. W. Reid, Cavan) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Herbert Wilson, K.C., and Mr. Foole (instructed by Messrs. W. J. Fegan and Co., Cavan) for the defendant.

Mr. Justice Johnston was of opinion, upon the true construction of the will, that a tenancy in common was created, and that consequently the deceased was beneficially entitled to half of the estate. He also held that there was no special gift to the survivor. As Mrs. Humphries survived the testator, the plaintiff, as her administrator, was absolutely entitled to get the premises. He allowed both parties their costs.

COUNTY MEATH LANDS.

THE RELIEF OF CONGESTION.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE WYLIE.)

Judgment was given in a case which was originally a claim by the executors of the late Miss Mary Butler, of Leeson Park, Dublin, to have the sum of £4,950 declared well charged on part of the lands of Staffordstown and Gerrardstown, Co. Meath, by originating summons of January, 1923. By order of Mr. Justice Dodd, dated 15th May, 1923, he declared the said sum well charged on the lands of Gerrardstown, which are held under lease dated 1st September, 1897, for a term of 35 years from the 1st of November, 1896, from Thomas Rothwell to Richard J. Butler, containing 679 acres 3 roods and 39 perches, Statute measure, at the yearly rent of £850.

In November, 1923, the plaintiffs had a receiver appointed, who entered into possession and receipt of the rents and profits of said lands, and they then proceeded in the Irish Land Commission for the sale of the tenant's interest under the Land Act of 1923, where same was finally declared a retained holding.

The Irish Land Commission, by motion on notice, applied to the Court for an order authorising the resumption of the holding for the purpose of utilisation in connection with the relief of congestion, and to fix the resumption price to be paid therefor. On same coming on for hearing on the 20th of July, 1925, after hearing counsel for the Irish Land Commission and counsel for the mortgagees and plaintiffs in the Chancery suit, judgment was reserved. The case coming into the list, the judge fixed the price for the resumption of the holding at £6,500, payable in 4½ p.c. Land Bonds equal in nominal amount thereto, and allowed the mortgagees the sum of £30 for costs of the motion.

Mr. Marnan (instructed by Mr. Hare) appeared on behalf of the Irish Land Commission; Mr. Dickie, K.C. (instructed by Mr. Ernest E. Merrick, LL.D.), appeared for the mortgagees and plaintiffs.

VALUATION APPEALS.

(BEFORE JUDGE DROMGOOLE.)

At Dublin Castle yesterday, Mr. J. Picton Bradshaw, of Mount Temple, Clontarf, appealed against the valuation of £87 on No. 13 Merrion square, and asked to have it reduced.

It appeared that in 1916 the premises were valued at £87, the rent being £120, the tenant to pay rates and taxes and keep the house in repair. In 1918 the house was let for £150 on lease for fourteen years, the landlord to pay rates and taxes and keep the external in repair. When all these were paid the landlord, it was alleged, had less than £50 profit. When the tenancy was made in 1916 the city rates were 10s. 5d. in the £; in 1922 the rates were 22s. 4d., and they amounted to £97 2s. 0d. Finding that he was making no profit, he called upon the tenant to pay the poor rate, and he thereby reduced his own payments to £75. Repairs averaged £27 a year. He thought that he had made a bad bargain when he acquired the property.

Mr. Disney, who gave evidence for the Commissioners of Valuation, said that the fact that a man made a bad bargain was no reason for altering the valuation. The nominal letting value of the house was £100, but if it was in the market now it would probably bring 50 per cent. more.

Mr. T. F. Burke, who appeared for the Civic Commissioners, to show how the value of houses had increased since 1917, mentioned that a house in Northumberland road, which had cost £560 in 1917, was sold this year for £1,800. The rents had also increased.

Judgment was reserved.

Mr. James Henry (instructed by Messrs. Franks and Oulton) appeared for the applicant; Mr. McCann, K.C., and Mr. G. R. O'Connor (instructed by Mr. Coll) appeared for the Commissioners of Valuation.

A DRUMCONDRA PUBLICHOUSE.

James Fagan, licensee of the house 146 Lower Drumcondra road, appealed against the valuation of £120, assessed against the premises, the previous valuation of which was £85.

Mr. Joseph Healy (instructed by Mr. Lemass) appeared for the applicant.

Mr. McMillan, valuer for the Commissioners of Valuation, agreed with Mr. Healy in saying that one or two endorsements on the licence would affect the selling value of the house, but it only operated when the publican broke the law.

Mr. Healy said that damage had been done to the value of public-houses by recent legislation. Three endorsements would render the licence forfeit. Public-houses had gone down in selling value since 1923.

Mr. McMillan said that publichouses brought more since 1923 than they fetched prior to 1919.

Judgment was reserved.

SEQUEL TO A COLLISION.

Patrick Somerville, of Commercial Buildings, Clontarf, sued the Dublin Tramways Company to recover £100 for damage caused to his motor car, and for loss of use thereof, by reason of the negligence of the defendants' servants in the management of a tramcar on the sea road, Clontarf, on the 24th November last.

The plaintiff is a taxicab proprietor, living at Fairview, and on the date named, about 7 o'clock in the morning, the taxi had as a passenger Mr. William Joyce, a commercial traveller, who was coming into the city. Near the Presbyterian church on the sea road there was a truck laden with sand for road repairs that were going on for some time previously. The taxi ran against the truck and was injured. The plaintiff's case is that there were no warning lights on or near the truck; and the case for the defendants is that there were three lighted lamps, one of them a red one, on the road, and that the plaintiff should have seen them, and that if he did not he was guilty of contributory negligence.

Mr. Joyce is bringing an action against Mr. Somerville for damages for personal injuries which he alleges he sustained through the negligence of the taxi-driver.

The Judge reserved judgment until he has heard the case of Joyce v. Somerville to-day.

Mr. Dockrell, K.C., and Mr. McLaughlin (instructed by Mr. James H. McLaughlin) appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. Joseph Mooney and Mr. Casey (instructed by Mr. Gerald Byrne) appeared for the company.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN IRREGULAR.

COURTAULDS FLAT.

Government National 5 p.c. Loan and British War Loans 4½ and 5 p.c. were marked yesterday ex the half-year's dividends, all payable 1st December next. In these cases, of course, there is no deduction of income tax at source. Quotations generally were pretty well maintained, making allowance for these deductions.

There was a good deal of quiet give-and-take on 'Change yesterday, judging by the list of irregular price movements. British Funds were harder. Banks were again firm, with some further changes in favour of holders. Realisations were current in Guinness Ord. Shares, and the price was not well held. Distillery Shares were very quiet and featureless, beyond a fresh fall in Dublin Distillers Debs. and Ord. Shares. Marconi issues all eased somewhat. Radio issues and Canadians turned sellers. There was still no particular return of confidence in Home Rails, and prices generally continue to drag on limited selling in the absence of support. Dublin United Tram Ord. were harder, but the other issues remain quiet in tendency, with a little inquiry for the Pref. Shares. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were again active at a slight rally. Parent Trusts were bid for, but were all held for higher levels. Alliance Gas again touched 7. There was quite a lot of profit-taking in most of the Textile group, with Courtaulds flat at the close. Tobaccos also fetched lower prices for the same reason. Goulding Ord. show a fresh sharp advance, though closing just under the initial price. Vickers were lower. Burke Ord. were better again.

LONDON IDLE.

DECLINE IN RUBBERS.

The volume of business transacted in the London Stock markets yesterday was on a distinctly quieter scale than has been the rule recently, while in a number of directions a dull tendency developed. The Rubber Share market was an exceptionally dull spot, and many substantial depreciations occurred, while some of the recently favoured Industrial issues were also a shade easier. Investment stocks, as a whole, however, remained steady, though business was small. Gilt-edged securities were quiet and steady. A distinctly firmer tendency was noticeable in Foreign Government Stocks, but at the close of business price changes were few and far between. Where they occurred, however, they were generally in favour of holders. French Loans made a good start, and despite the fact that they reacted later, they still finished at an advance, the Fives being ¼ better, while the Fours gained ⅛. A quiet tone ruled in the Home Railway market, and lower prices were returned at the finish. Colonial and Foreign Rails, on the other hand, displayed a firmer tendency.

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

The Stock Exchange will be closed on Monday next, November 2.

TRADE REVIVAL IN SCOTLAND.

Trade prospects in the East of Scotland are brighter in many respects. In the Fife linen business there are hopes of revival, although the position is somewhat indefinite in regard to the future cost of flax. However, at least one large factory which has been on short time now finds it necessary to extend the working hours. A considerable volume of inquiry continues to be received from America. South of Scotland woollens are also more in favour, and the improvement is being maintained, prospects being better now than they were a year ago. Some factories report that they are handicapped by the lack of skilled workers. At Leith the coal export trade last week was a record one for the year, the aggregate quantities shipped being 53,073 tons, the increases being in all sections, but particularly in the foreign, which reached a total of 14,402 tons.

BRAZILIAN TRADE.

Writing under date October 16, Messrs. Nortz and Co., produce dealers in New York, state:—"The recent rise in Brazilian exchange seems to have been the more surprising as trade statistics for the first five months of the season indicate a rather striking decrease of exports and increase of imports. However, the continued advance has practically caused import business to come to a standstill. Bankers here seem to feel that exchange, for the present, is high enough. As far as we understand, the Committee has now made arrangements to work in conjunction with the Banco Commercio and Industria in Sao Paulo, and has been trying to raise a local loan lately for the further carrying out of their policies."

GILT-EDGED INVESTMENTS.

Although at the moment the gilt-edged market is adopting a more or less waiting attitude, it is expected there will be a revival of interest in that department before long. It is hoped that this week the end of the gold movement to America will be seen, and with that factor, which has been holding the market in check, removed, investors are more likely to come in. The War Loan was quoted x.d. yesterday, and, with the price only a little over par, this may prove an attraction. Already there seems to be more inclination to buy Colonial Government Stocks, and such issues as Australian Commonwealth 5 p.c. 1945-75, New 1945-65, and Queensland 5 p.c. 1940-60, all of which yield over 5 p.c., after allowing for accrued interest in the price, are by no means dear. The available Stock in the market is not likely to be increased from the new Victorian and South Australian Conversion Loans, as, apart from applications to convert the old Stocks, the cash applications are believed to have been on a good scale, if for no other reason than the fact that the issues offered attraction to stags, because no further payment beyond the application money is required until January 1 next.

To-morrow (Thursday, October 29) the prospectus of Allied Sumatra Plantations, Ltd., will be advertised, offering for subscription 1,400,000 shares of £1 each at 21s. per share, out of an authorised capital of £1,500,000. The company is acquiring twelve estates on the East Coast of Sumatra, the total area being 47,973 acres, of which 20,196 acres are planted. Of these, 10,970 acres are under rubber—of which 9,956 acres were planted between 1906 and 1920—and 5,088 acres are under rubber, interplanted with coconuts, coffee, and tea. When the interplanted areas are under rubber alone the total rubber acreage should be 16,058. The estimated crop for 1926 of rubber alone is 3,000,000 lbs., which increases in 1932 to 4,623,000 lbs. Forward sales of rubber have been made for about half of the 1926 output, and the profit from rubber alone is estimated at £167,500 for 1926.

LONDON MOVEMENTS.

A quiet and steady tone prevailed in the gilt-edged market yesterday, and overnight prices were, for the most part, repeated. Consols remained at 55½, while Conversion Loans and Victory Bonds were also without movement. Among War Loans the Fives were quoted x.d. at 100, while the 4½ p.c. were also x.d. at 95. Among Colonial Government Stocks Queensland 6 p.c. 1930-40 at 103 were a point better, but Canada 4 p.c. 1940-60 dropped that amount to 91.

A much firmer tendency prevailed in the Foreign Government Stock market, but actual price movements were not numerous. French Loans displayed a firmer front and went ahead at the commencement of business. Later, however, they eased on the resignation of the French Cabinet, but still closed above the overnight level. The Fives finished showing a gain of ¼ to 14½, while the Fours at 11 were ⅛ to the good. Among Reconstruction Loans Greek Sevens recovered part of their loss of the previous day, the final level being ½ higher at 93½. Chinese 5 p.c. 1912 made further progress, the final figure being a point up at 64. Turkish 4 p.c. Unified, on the other hand, dropped back further to 14½, or ⅛ lower.

RAILS STEADY.

There was little business passing on the Home Railway market, and quotations were inclined to shrink. North-Eastern 5 p.c. Pref.-Ord. lost ½, while the Def.-Ord. closed ¼ down. Metropolitan Consols shed ½ to 70½, and Districts lost a similar amount to 46½. Great Western Ord. eased the turn to 86½, or ½ lower, but the Cons. Pref. at 94 were a full point to the good.

Colonial and Foreign Rails were firmer in tone, and a few good improvements were registered at the close of business. Mexican Rails continued on the up grade, the Ord. being a point higher at 8½, while the 8 p.c. and 6 p.c. Prefs. at 26 and 13 respectively were also a point higher. Grand Trunk Pacific 4 p.c. Debs. rose a point to 44½, but others were unaltered. Argentines were firm, but without material alteration on the day's business. Cordoba Central Ord. went back further to 24½, or a point down, while the 2nd Pref. lost ½ to 45½. Entre Rios Ord. and 6 p.c. Cum. Pref. were both ½ better at 47½ and 85 respectively.

RUBBERS LOWER.

There was a noticeable falling off in the volume of business passing in the Rubber Share market yesterday, and the tendency of quotations was to dwindle. Another long list of price movements was recorded at the close of business, but the vast majority of alterations were in the downward direction, some of the declines being of substantial dimensions. An irregular tendency characterised the commodity market, but on balance the market was steady. Spot rubber sold at 3s. 11¼d., 3s. 11d., and 4s. per lb., while November fetched 3s. 10d. and 3s. 10⅞d. per lb. In the Share market Batu Tiga were a dull spot, the final quotation being 3s. 1½d. lower than the overnight figure at 73s. 1½d. United Sua Betong were another heavy spot, and here a decline of 3s. 7½d. was recorded to 114s. Bukit Rajah shed 1s. 4½d., while Golden Hope finished 1s. 6d. easier. Kuala Muda shed 1s. 7½d. and Kuala Lumpur 10½d., while Ledbury at 60s. were 2s. 6d. down. Manchester N.B. slipped back to 47s. 10½d., or 1s. 10½d. lower, while Linggi shed 1s. and Mooply Valley 2s. 1½d. P.P.K. Ceylon at 37s. 10½d. x.d. showed a loss of 2s., while Serdang Central lost 1s. 10½d. to 49s. 1½d. Sekong dropped 1s. 4½d., Seafield 1s. 1½d., and Sapong 1s., while Rubber Trust were 9d. below the overnight figure. Sungei Krian Pref. at 66s. 3d. were 1s. 3d. lower, while Tologoredjo at 91s. 6d. registered a decline of 1s. 7½d. Abaco shed 1s. 10½d. and Baru 1s. 7½d., while Bukit Kajang eased 1s. 1½d. to 90s. 9d. There were many other declines of smaller denomination, while the only improvements worthy of record were those of 10½d. in Damansara and Kapar Para.

OIL SHARES FAIRLY ACTIVE.

Transactions in the Oil Share market were on a fair scale again yesterday, and indications were not lacking of a broadening of interest in the market, inquiries not only for the recognised leaders, but also for the more speculative issues being more numerous. At the close the price movements were of an irregular character, but improvements outnumbered losses. Considerable interest centred on Anglo-Persians. Anticipations of an increased dividend were borne out, the company announcing a distribution of 12½ p.c. in respect of the year ended March 31 last, as compared with 10 p.c. for the preceding twelve months. In view of the fact that the market had been going for an even larger increase, some disappointment was displayed, the shares coming on offer, and fell ⅛. There was a good turnover in Shells, and the shares left off showing a gain of 1/16. Royal Dutch met with only a moderate amount of attention, and the result of the day's business was a loss of ⅛. As regards Venezuelans, British Consolidated displayed firmness in the early hours, rising to 18s. 9d., the improvement resulting from option buying, it being reported that two transactions of this character, each in 20,000 shares, had been done. At the close, however, the shares were unchanged.

TEA SHARES EASIER.

The volume of business passing in the Tea share market yesterday remained on a small scale, while an easier tendency again prevailed. Price movements were not numerous, but the majority of alterations were in the downward direction. United Planters of Ceylon were a bright spot, and here a gain of 2s. was registered. Anglo-Ceylon, on the other hand, dropped back to 43s., or 1s. lower, while Assam Frontier New shed 1s. 1½d. to 33s. 7½d. Ceylon Plant lost 1/16 and Consolidated Tea and Lands ⅛. East India and Ceylon dropped 1s. 3d. Jokai at 86s. 4½d. were 1s. 1½d. lower. Nedeem shed 1s. 6d. to 65s. 4½d.

INDUSTRIALS DULL.

Interest in Miscellaneous and Industrial markets was not so great yesterday, and a dull tone developed in many directions. The resignation of the French Cabinet was partly responsible for the latter, while in some sections where the rise had been persistent for days together profit-taking was in progress, and where changed prices mostly finished lower. This was particularly the case in the Iron and Coal share market. Cables were well maintained. Shipping and Gas Stocks proved featureless, prices closing without quotable alteration. Motor Shares presented a firm appearance. Tobaccos were off colour, particularly the leaders, which were subjected to realisations by speculators anxious to secure profits. Dunlops came on offer and receded to 22s. 7½d., a loss of 3d. News Shares remained steady at previous levels. Nitrates displayed no decided tendency. After opening firm, Courtaulds came on offer and dropped to 7⅛ at one time, but with renewed support forthcoming they rallied to 7⅜, a loss of 1/16 on balance. Otherwise Silk Shares were well maintained. Grouts continued in demand and further rose to 3½, or 1/16 higher on balance. Elsewhere Textiles exhibited dulness. Caterers displayed steadiness, with A.B.C.'s up at 27s. 9d.; and in Foodstuffs Home and Colonials strengthened to 3⅜. Bovril Deferred, however, eased to 46s. 9d. and Maypole Deferred to 6s. 9d. Apart from Guinness and Ind Coopes, which fell 5 and 1/16 respectively to 730 and 3½, Breweries ruled firm. Ashbys and Benskins were wanted and finished 1/16 better at 2⅞ and 2 1/16 respectively, while Hoare Ord. improved to 2, also 1/16 to the good. Eastern descriptions were in better form, Hong Kongs recovering 1½ to 130 and National of Indias ⅛ to 19⅜. National of South Africas moved up to 8⅛, ⅛ better, but New South Wales lost ¼ at 39⅛. Insurances kept very firm, Prudential "B" coming into favour and rising 1s. to 41s. Electrical Equipment issues became dull. The Wireless group was fairly steady, though Marconis Canadas closed 3d. lower at 6s. 9d.

Bleachers fell 9d. to 79s., Bradford Dyers 9d. to 63s. 6d., Calicos 6d. to 36s. 9d., Coats 4½d. to 66s., 65s. 10½d., Cottons 3d. to 59s. 6d., and Spinners 4½d. to 55s. 3d., after opening at 54s. 9d. British-American Tobacco fell 9d. to 107s., 107s. 3d., 107s., and Imperials 3d. to 105s. 6d. Vickers eased 3d. to 8s. 7½d. Goulding Ord. opened another 5s. higher at 65s., but later business was at 64s., 63s. 9d., 64s., and the Debs. repeated 68s. 9d. Helys Pref., for a small lot, fell 9d. to 17s. Listers' realised 34s.

In Trading, etc., Burke Ord. rose 2s. 6d. to 70s., but McKenzie fell 6d. to 13s. 6d., while Chartered were called 27s.-27s. 3d. Irish-American Oil Pref. 20s. 3d., and Dublin Artisans' Dwellings 6⅛. Shell Transports fell 1s. 3d. to 87s. 3d., and Radio Pref. ⅛ to 9⅛.

LONDON MINING MARKET STEADIER.

RALLY IN KAFFIRS.

A steadier tone was noticeable in the Stock Exchange yesterday, and it would seem that the political unrest in France, which culminated in the resignation of the Cabinet, had already been discounted. At any rate, the Mining market made a successful effort to throw off the influence of Paris agitation, and in many directions substantial recoveries were shown. In the Kaffir section Central Mining rallied sharply, and City Deep, Crown Mines, Goldfields and Modderfonteins were all better. The situation was improved by the receipt of more favourable advices from Johannesburg, which centre sent buying orders for Geduld and Nigel. The latter were something of a feature, a sharp rise in the price being accompanied by revived rumours of fusion with the Sub Nigel. In the Rhodesian department Chartered were no longer offered from Paris, and a modest recovery took place, while Rhodesian and General Asbestos resumed their prominent position and, in response to a persistent demand, went ahead sharply. Diamonds were distinctly harder, De Beers, Jagersfontein and Cons. Diamonds moving up. The price of tin rose £3 12s. 6d. to £285 1s. 3d. per ton, but the share market, after a firm opening, became somewhat unsettled. This was due largely to extensive profit-taking, which caused small shrinkages in Ipoh, Idris, Malayan and Siamese. With regard to the last-named, a subsidiary is expected to make its appearance shortly. Among Coppers, Rio Tinto, being no longer sold from Paris, rallied sharply, and Hampden were better on Colonial buying. Santa Gertrudis went ahead at one time, but fell back later. We understand a circular regarding the proposed reorganisations of the capital is being sent out to shareholders. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

STRINGENCY IN LOANS.

FRENCH EXCHANGE.

With the approach of the end of the month there was a good demand for money, and supplies were not adequate for all requirements. Consequently a further moderate amount was taken from the Bank of England on the usual terms. In the outside market borrowers paid up to 4½ p.c. for short loans, which, however, were generally obtainable at 3½ to 4 p.c. Old weekly money was continued at 3 p.c., but for fresh advances over the end of the month up to 3½ p.c. was charged. The Discount market remained firm, with bills offering rather more freely. Three months' maturities were mostly 3 13/16 p.c., although some houses quoted a share under that figure. The new Treasuries were 3 13/16 to 3⅞ p.c.

Bank Rate, Discount (changed Oct. 1, 1925.)				4%
60 days (fine)	3⅞%
3 months	3⅞ 3⅞%	Trade	4	4½%
4 months	3⅞%	"	4	4½%
6 months	4 4½%	"	4½	5%
Loans to brokers day-to-day			4½	3½%
for a week			3½	3%
Deposit allowance: Banks at call				2%
Discount houses at call				2%

China selling caused fresh weakness in silver, the spot quotation further declining 1/16d. to 33d. and forward ⅛d. to 32⅞d. per ounce. The market prices of gold remained at 84s. 10½d. per fine ounce. The supplies available in the London market were divided between India and the Continent. The Bank of England announced the purchase of bar gold valued at £200,000.

The previous day's rally in French francs was not held, the rate being last quoted 2⅛f. higher at 115⅛, which was below the highest touched in the afternoon. Belgian francs were slightly cheaper at 108. Italian lire depreciated rather sharply, the quotation advancing to over 122⅛, and the currencies of Holland, Greece, Turkey and Bulgaria were rather worse. Those of Switzerland, Norway and Denmark, especially the two last, were better. Pesetas also showed some recovery. Uruguayan dollars were a little cheaper, but the Argentine peso was better. The sterling dollar rate finished a shade easier at slightly below 4.84 11/16. The Eastern exchanges were steady to firm, the yen hardening to 1s. 8⅛d.

PLAN TO BOOM BELFAST LINEN.

NORTHERN GOVERNMENT'S £10,000 GRANT.

Addressing the Belfast Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon yesterday, the Duchess of Abercorn dealt at length with the work of "The Girl Guides."

Guiding, she said, built character, and helped girls to perfect themselves in various handicrafts, and it was extremely good for their health. There was no sense in the argument that it alienated girls from their homes and domestic interests.

Speaking on the work of Rotary, the Duke of Abercorn expressed pleasure in meeting the Belfast Rotary Club, which he had long wished to do. They not only represented a world-wide organisation but represented a great part of the commerce of Belfast. He knew that there was great commercial depression and much unemployment at present, but hoped that the cloud would soon lift. He thought that the big industries of Belfast should advertise more. He would like to have placarded all over the United States: "Buy Belfast Linen."

ADVERTISING ULSTER PRODUCTS.

The health of Sir James Craig, who was present, [illegible] and heartily honoured, and, in reply, Sir James observed that it was easy to propose the toast, but difficult to reply, because the response carried with it, to a certain extent, contact with political affairs, to touch upon which would be boring to the Governor, very bad for their new Lord Chief Justice—(laughter)—it would cut right across the rules of Rotary, and have nothing to do with Girl Guides. (Laughter.) Therefore, proceeded Sir James, he must divest himself of the rôle of Prime Minister and take on the more humble one of a Boy Scout, for he recalled that in that very room he had been invested with the Silver Wolf.

He assured her Grace that, notwithstanding the many appeals to them, she would find encouraging support in her work for the Girl Guides. He endorsed the advice of the Governor regarding advertising Ulster products, and mentioned that the Government were passing an estimate for £10,000 in order to supplement the large sum which the linen industry was raising to advertise its wares in America.

He discounted pessimism in regard to the future of their industries, and advised his hearers to turn a deaf ear to dismal forebodings. There were those who said that Britain was now beaten in the business world, but, added Sir James, with emphasis, "I do not believe a word of it." Ulster people would be second to none when the turn in industrial affairs came.

EXTENSION OF COAL TRADE DISPUTE.

NEUTRAL COMPANY INVOLVED.

There was a further extension of the labour trouble in the coal trade in Dublin yesterday, when a number of men of the Workers' Union, employed by Messrs. Michael Murphy, Ltd., in unloading a general cargo vessel at the Dublin docks were suddenly called out on strike.

The reason given for this action was that, though the firm involved were not coal merchants, they had a trade connection with the Dublin General Steamship Company, who have had trouble with the Workers' Union. Members of the Transport Workers' Union immediately undertook the work of unloading the vessel.

Abortive attempts were made at various times during the day to prevent removal of the cargo.

FISHERY BOARD'S POWERS.

THE STRIKING OF A RATE.

At a meeting of the Limerick Board of Fishery Conservators yesterday, Mr. H. O'Brien Moran, solicitor, presiding, a letter was received from the Department of Fisheries, stating that under the Act of 1925 Fishery Boards were empowered to strike a rate in their district for the maintenance of fisheries, and that it should not be assumed that financial aid would be forthcoming from the State when Boards were forwarding their statement of expenditure and revenue.

Relative to the question of representation on the Board by the Limerick County Council, Mr. M. C. Burke, solicitor, contended that, the County Council having struck a rate for the protection of fisheries in Limerick, they were entitled to representation.

The Chairman took the contrary view, and cited the Fisheries Act of 1925, which, he said, annulled any such claim to representation of the County Council, two members of which were present at that meeting, but withdrew when the Chairman announced his ruling.

NO WIRELESS FOR STRABANE HOSPITAL.

LONDON'S £300,000 FOR SICK LISTENERS-IN.

It was suggested by Mr. John W. Buchanan, at a meeting of the Strabane Board of Guardians yesterday that the Board should instal a wireless set for the use of the patients in the hospital. Approval of the proposal was expressed by members, but it was pointed out that the cost could not be legally borne by the rates.

Over £300,000 has been collected in London for the installation of wireless sets in London hospitals.

LOCAL AUTHORITY APPOINTMENTS.

QUESTION OF QUALIFICATION.

The agenda at the annual conference of the Local Government Officials' Union, to be held on Saturday next in the Mansion House, Dublin, will include a motion requesting the Minister for Local Government and Public Health to introduce a bill into the Oireachtas under which appointments in the service of local authorities should be filled by persons properly qualified as regards health, age and ability, and under conditions similar to those applicable to established officers of the civil service.

The existing law does not oblige local authorities to appoint the best qualified persons to vacant positions.

A second notice of motion suggests that greater educative facilities should be provided for existing officials and others desirous of entering the Local Government service; that capable instructors in modern local government procedure should be appointed to technical schools, and that up-to-date literature should be provided in each public library.

FARM LABOURERS' WAGES.

NORTHERN MEASURE REJECTED.

THE SALE OF EGGS BY WEIGHT.

The second reading of the Agricultural Wages Bill, introduced in the Northern House of Commons by the Labour members, was taken yesterday, and after a debate the measure was rejected. The object of the bill was to set up machinery to fix minimum wages for agricultural workers by District or County Committees.

A discussion took place on the sale of eggs by weight, and the Minister of Agriculture stated that the Ministry was satisfied that the time was approaching when a compulsory measure dealing with the subject would be in the interests of the poultry industry as a whole.

ULSTER RATES FOR LABOURERS.

MINISTER AND WAGES BOARDS.

Mr. Kyle, in explaining the Agricultural Bill, pointed out that the wages of agricultural labourers in Tyrone, Fermanagh, Armagh and Derry was twenty-two shillings and sixpence per week, and for Down and Antrim twenty-five shillings. A similar bill was in operation in Great Britain.

The Minister of Agriculture said that Mr. Kyle forgot to mention that the original Wages Board was established in 1917, when there was also established guaranteed prices for farmers. This was done during the war-time, when good prices had been obtained. He had experience for three years of Wages Boards in Dublin, and would be sorry to have further experience of them, and he did not believe that they did any good to the agricultural labourer. Conciliation Boards could be established without legislation by farmers and labourers, if they were desired. To his mind, Wages Boards in the present depressed condition of agriculture would be a calamity for the labourers. Wages in Fermanagh were about six shillings higher than Mr. Kyle had declared and, in addition, labourers got a house and sometimes fuel and ground for growing potatoes. He moved the rejection of the bill.

Mr. Rowley Elliott, who opposed the bill, said that he did so as much in the interest of the labourers as of the farmers. He declared that farmers in the County Down were only getting 1s. 9d. per cwt. for their potatoes, and farmers were threatening to give up tillage.

Mr. McMullan (Labour) supported the bill and contrasted the prosperity of the agricultural industry in Germany compared with this country.

Dr. Morrison attributed the success of the agricultural industry in Germany to the fact that it was a protected industry. The action of Trades Boards was killing rural industries in Ulster and driving the people into the cities.

The bill was rejected by 18 votes to 8.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS.

On the report stage of the Widows, Orphans and Old Age Contributory Pensions Bill, Mr. Kyle (Labour) contended that 10s. for a widow was not sufficient, nor was 5s. for the first child, or 3s. for subsequent children.

The Minister of Labour, Mr. Andrews, said that the Government never took up the position that these sums were in themselves sufficient, but it was a great deal better than the existing position. There were various charitable organisations for assisting widows and orphans, and he believed that they would continue to discharge their important duties. The cost of the pensions to the State would be £145,000 per annum, and that was the most that the Government could at present undertake.

In moving an amendment that the amount for children be increased from 3s. to 5s., Mr. Devlin said that he had been asked a dozen times where the money would come from. If it were within the rules of debate, he could give dozens of cases in which the money could be got. He proposed, however, at a later stage to say where the money might come from. When he heard all the wonderful statements from the Government side he thought that some tremendous sacrifice was being made. He referred to the fact that members on his side of the House might differ, but they had the courage to express their views.

"So do we," interjected Mr. Grant.

Mr. Devlin—Well, the hon. gentleman does sometimes, but he is the only one among the disciplined array of dumb and inarticulate members. (Laughter.)

Mr. Kyle (Labour), in seconding the amendment, said that, on the Government's own showing, five shillings was necessary for the upkeep of a child, and yet they were giving only three shillings for the second and subsequent children

SAVING ULSTER.

Sir James Craig said that Mr. Kyle desired to impose a heavier burden on the Exchequer, or, in other words, the taxpayer. Gold help Ulster, he declared, if hon. members opposite are ever in the position of having charge of the province.

Mr. Devlin—We will save Ulster.

Mr. Kyle—We will save the people of Ulster, anyway.

Proceeding, Sir James Craig said that he quite understood the feelings of those in opposition; he had been in opposition himself. If the Government had brought in a widows' pension of fifteen shillings the Opposition would want a pound, and the children's allowances also higher. The Government wished in all this social legislation to keep on parallel lines with Great Britain. If they could not have the same social legislation as Great Britain they would not have accepted self-government. The reason why the bill was not put in the King's Speech was that it would delay the bill if they held it over until the King's Speech.

Mr. Devlin—That is absurd.

Sir James Craig said that the Government did not want to make any capital out of this measure. It was the right of the Ulster people to get this legislation, for when they accepted the sacrifice of self-government in the interests of the Empire they should get the social legislation which they would automatically have got if they remained in association with Great Britain.

Mr. McAllister (Nationalist) pointed out that this measure was mentioned in the King's Speech in the Imperial Parliament, and he was convinced that if it were not for the Opposition it would not have fructified in the Northern Parliament.

The amendment was supported by Mr. Beatty (Labour), who said that the amendment that the Government were granting was one penny three farthings per meal.

Mr. Grant (Independent Unionist) also supported, but said that the Opposition were making propaganda out of the bill.

Mr. T. Henderson said that he wished to know if those responsible for giving the figure had compared the amount with that which they paid for Havana cigars. Ulster, he declared, would blossom, but it would be the Opposition that would make it blossom.

Mr. McMullan (Labour) taunted Mr. Grant with inconsistency, and declared: "We do not want his assistance in this amendment owing to his inconsistency. He should vote with the Government, instead of the Opposition."

The amendment was defeated by 23 votes to 7, and the debate was adjourned.

EGGS BY WEIGHT.

The Minister of Agriculture, replying to Mr. Rowley Elliott, said that the question of the purchase of eggs by weight was seriously considered by the Ministry when the Marketing of Eggs Act was being framed. It was felt, however, that despite the advantages of the system the time was not quite ripe for such a change in commercial practice. Since then the Ministry had lost no opportunity of impressing on licensees the advantages of this method. It was based on equity and encouraged the production and marketing of larger eggs. Wholesale dealers who aimed at the maximum benefit from grading, as specified in the rules under the Act, found that the adoption of purchase by weight very materially assisted their grading operations.

Actual experience of the system in some-districts had largely dissapated misapprehensions which were entertained regarding it, and the Ministry had kept in touch with developments. The advantages have been demonstrated by means of a special leaflet issued by the Ministry, and one association of egg merchants had agreed to conduct their purchases on a weight basis. Many other individual members of the trade have also fallen into line, and the Ministry was now satisfied that the time was approaching when a measure making it compulsory for any persons who purchase eggs for re-sale to make those purchases on a weight basis, would be well received, and would be in the interests of the poultry industry as a whole.

Mr. Rowley Elliott further inquired if the Government would give an assurance that they would make the purchase of eggs by weight mandatory.

The Minister of Agriculture replied that he proposed to enter the subject on the agenda for the next meeting of the Advisory Committee of the Egg Industry.

FOOD AND CLOTHING PRICES.

Mr. Kyle (Labour) asked if, in view of the opinion that was widely held in Belfast, that the cost of food and clothing in Northern Ireland was higher than in Great Britain, he was prepared to create machinery by which publicity and attention to the matter might be given.

The Minister of Finance said that the evidence at present available as to relative conditions was not such as to justify the Government in taking steps of the nature indicated. The Government was keeping in close touch with the deliberations of the Imperial Food Council.

EXPIRING LAWS.

When the Expiring Laws Continuance Bill came on for second reading, Mr. Devlin protested against the bill in its entirety, stating that there was no argument for it. He protested against this method of dealing with these matters, because of the spirit of resentment and contempt with which the Government treated the Opposition.

The second reading was carried by twenty votes to five.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

On the third reading of the Unemployment Insurance Bill, the object of which is to make the law in regard to unemployment insurance the same as that in Great Britain,

Mr. Devlin said that he wished the unemployed to know that the law would not be the same, for in England the unemployment benefit was supplemented by outdoor relief, paid by the Poor Law Guardians.

The bill was read a third time.

"PARTY-LINE" TELEPHONES.

FURTHER EXTENSION PROPOSED.

Further particulars of the "party-line" system of telephones for rural districts are given by the Irish Free State Department of Posts and Telegraphs.

The following statement on the subject was issued yesterday:—

"The farmer, or other country resident, who instals a 'phone quickly realises that it is a time-saving, labour-saving and money-saving convenience. By means of it he can get into quick communication with other local residents, neighbouring towns and the general telegraph and telephone systems, thereby saving his own time and the time of his employés, and obviating inconvenient and expensive journeys. His 'phone renders him accessible to other subscribers and thus tends to reduce the isolation of country life. It enables him to get the latest information as to market prices, and to arrange to the best advantage for the sale or purchase of stock and produce. If a machine is broken he can order a new part without the trouble of a journey to town, or the delay which is involved in sending an order by post. The 'phone is invaluable in cases of emergency, as it enables the doctor, the veterinary surgeon, or the Civic Guard to be summoned with a minimum of delay.

"But even where the advantages of the telephone are fully recognised, people are apt to think that it is a luxury which cannot be enjoyed in the country except at a prohibitive cost. So it might, and generally would, be if each person required for his own exclusive use a separate line to the Exchange. Obviously the cost of affording individual facilities in country districts must necessarily be much greater than in towns by reason of the greater distances to be covered. An exclusive line is not, however, necessary, and country subscribers have the option (which is not available to town residents) of adopting what is known as the 'party-line' system—i.e., the system under which a number of subscribers living on or near a road leading to a town or village where there is a telephone exchange, agree to share one line between them, thereby reducing the cost to the individual.

BENEFITS TO BE DERIVED.

"Under the party-line arrangement overhearing by one subscriber of another's conversations is possible, but as each subscriber has his distinctive code of rings this would only occur where undue curiosity was evinced. In any case the disadvantage is a small one when compared with the cheapness of the service and the general benefits to be derived from it. The rental per subscriber is only £4 or £4 10s. a year, and all calls to subscribers connected to the local Exchange are free. Trunk calls can be obtained at the standard rates. The ordinary subscribers in towns, in addition to their annual rental of £5 or £6 10s. a year, have to pay a minimum of 1½d. for each local call which they make.

"A farmer or a creamery receiving two or three telegrams a week would cover the party-line rental by the saving in porterage alone.

"Before a party-line scheme can be considered, at least three subscribers must be forthcoming. Their residences must be more than a half-mile from the Exchange and must lie on the same route. If there are three subscribers per mile of route the rental for each subscriber will be £4 a year; if there are only two subscribers to the mile the rental will be £4 10s. The Post Office will, however, be prepared to quote special terms where these conditions are not complied with.

"The party-line system is the solution of the farmers' and creameries' difficulties in the matter of speedy communication. It is already in operation in several localities in the Saorstat with the most satisfactory results. It only remains for others to realise its great possibilities as an aid to agricultural development for a general and rapid extension to take place. The Post Office is prepared to do its part in the matter: it only awaits the demand."

DUNDALK DISTILLERY.

EFFORTS TO PREVENT CLOSING.

Every effort is being made in Dundalk to prevent the closing of the local distillery, which is owned by a "combine" who have intimated that the building is to be closed as from the end of next week.

Yesterday a conference, consisting of representatives of the Urban Council, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Harbour Commissioners, called by Mr. P. Deery, Chairman of the Urban Council, held a sitting, at which the matter was discussed, and a deputation was appointed to go to Edinburgh to interview the managing director (Mr. Ross) to ask that the closing order should not be put into force. The conference also decided to approach the Government and to interview the workers to see what offer they were prepared to make in the shape of a reduction in wages or the working of short time if the delegation was successful in having the closing order countermanded. The local Trades Council have also appointed a delegation and they have put their case before the management.

The proprietors state that the closing down is due solely to the slackness of trade for their products—crude spirit and yeast—manufactured at Dundalk. Most of these products are exported to England and Scotland.

Considerably over 100 men are at present employed in the distillery, which was purchased from the late owner, Mr. Malcolm Murray, by the present proprietors. The closing is a very serious matter for Dundalk, in which there is considerable unemployment already.

ARMY OFFICER'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

It is officially announced that the resignation from the National Army of Captain Edward Holland has been accepted as from October 8th, 1925.

THE DECLINE OF IRISH.

STRONG COMPLAINT BY GAELIC LEAGUE.

"ENGLISH THE LANGUAGE OF COMMERCE."

The English language as a means of expression and intellectual intercourse met with severe criticism at a meeting of the Gaelic League, held at the Gaelic League Hall, Parnell square, last night. The object of the meeting was to further the "supremacy of the Gaelic language, education and ideals."

As there was a number of people present who did not know Irish it was decided to use a certain amount of English, "though it almost chokes me to use it," as the Chairman, the Rev. Father Saul, S.J., put it.

That the English language had grown old in the service of commerce and industry was the view expressed by Mr. George Nicholls; but he found all the grease and slime of the workshop and factory around it. English was a tired language, which made him tired.

Another speaker (Mr. Hanley) complained that there were people who "mouthed" about an Irish revival, but still brought up their children as English speakers. Such people, no matter who they might be, were humbugs.

COUNTER-ATTRACTION TO PUBLIC-HOUSE.

IRISH IN THE SCHOOLS.

Pleading for the establishment of Gaelic branches, Father Saul said that there was a need for them if they only served the purpose of keeping people out of the public-houses, by providing counter-attractions in the shape of Irish dances and plays. There was no reason why there should not be a branch of the League in every parish in the city. They called on all those who loved Ireland and who desired to see the country becoming as of old—a nation of saints and scholars— to come in and give active help to the branches.

The Gaelic League was not a fighting body and had no quarrel with anybody; it wished to be friendly with all. If the League succeeded in establishing further branches Irish ideas would begin to flourish, and they would not have the suggestive songs, immoral dances and filthy literature which is being poured into the country, because there would be no appetite for them.

Mr. George Nicholls, having first spoken in Irish and subsequently in English, said that the English language had grown old in the service of commerce and industry. He found all the grease and slime of the workshop and factory around it. It was a tired language, which made him tired. The English language had shut out Ireland from Europe, and was the greatest barrier between this country and the moving life and thought of Europe. They in Ireland had the most glorious and brilliant opportunity that any of the nations of Europe ever had of placing themselves in the very forefront of European culture, life and activity; but so long as they went on with English, so long would they go on with their tiredness growing more and more. There was no use in having sympathy for Irish if they did not speak it. What they wanted was not sympathy, but work. The Irish speaker was more to them than the King and Queen who were English speakers.

AN ALL-IRISH SCHOOL.

Mr. Hanley spoke of the lack of attention paid to the teaching of Irish to children in the home. There were people who "mouthed" about an Irish revival, but still brought up their children as English speakers. These people, no matter who they might be, were humbugs. He urged the setting up in Dublin of an all-Irish school, where parents could have their children educated entirely in the Irish language.

Mr. Cormac Walsh said that the bishops were not giving, and had never given, the help expected to the movement. It had become the fashion to denounce the National Board for the evils that had overtaken the Irish language during the past 150 years; but they should not forget that it was not the National Board which drafted the programmes of Maynooth College and other Seminary Colleges, and could not be held responsible for the absence or low place of Irish in these institutions. They did not forget the attitude of the Irish bishops on the question of compulsory Irish in the National University. He urged that the Hierarchy should be approached and their active support enlisted in the movement. The opposition, or even indifference, of the bishops would greatly hamper them in their effort to re-establish a virile Irish civilisation. He thought it only right to exempt from his remarks the Most Rev. Dr. O'Donnell, who had again and again exhorted his flock to practice and preserve their native language.

NOT SUFFICIENT IRISH SERMONS.

With regard to the Ministry of Education, he thought that Ministry was doing as much as was humanly possible to restore Irish to its right place in the life of the country.

Mr. Sugrue, speaking in Irish, said that the people of Dublin did not realise the power for good or evil they held in regard to the cause of Irish all over the country. He suggested that school children should not be sent to schools where they would mix with English-speaking children, and thus lose their Irish.

Mr. R. O Foghludha said that much of the spirit evident in the Gaelic League in its early years was now missing. In the parish of Ring there was not even one sermon in Irish delivered from one end of the year to another—not even on St. Patrick's Day. In the whole diocese of Waterford only four priests thought of preaching a sermon in Irish. Such a state of affairs was a scandal of the first magnitude. Referring to the decision of the Benchers of the King's Inns, in refusing to make Irish a compulsory subject for examinations for lawyers, the speaker said it was something to find even eleven lawyers to champion the cause of Irish in that "West British centre."

FIRST OF THE SERIES OF ST. PHILIP'S LECTURES.

The first of the series of St. Philip's lectures were delivered at the Lecture Hall, Temple road, Rathmines, last night, when Major W. T. Blake, F.R.G.S., London, described the story of his flight around the world, the various places where he landed being shown by lantern slides.

Lord Glenavy, who presided, said that he was very glad that they had resumed for the winter their interesting course of lectures. He regarded them as a source of life in the parish. It was an opportunity for them to meet together for instruction and entertainment. Their lectures also served to provide on dark winter evenings matters of interest on subjects of education and advantage. They started appropriately in a trip in an airship round the world.

Having recalled his first experience of seeing an aeroplane in flight 25 years ago at Leopardstown, Lord Glenavy said that it was not unlikely that some of those present would see men and women flying about with the same facility as birds.

Canon Fortune, P.P., V.F., were laid to rest yesterday beside the Parish Church in Taghmon. The Most Rev. Dr. Codd, Bishop of Ferns, presided at the obsequies. The Rev. W. Fortune, C.C., Kilanerin, nephew of the deceased, was the celebrant of the High Mass; Rev. P. Browne, C.C., Taghmon, deacon; Rev. J. Quigley, C.C., sub-deacon; Rev. W. Harpur, C.C., Carrowreigh, master of ceremonies. Over 50 priests were in the choir.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

RESTAURANT CASE.

EVIDENCE FOR THE DEFENCE.

(BEFORE MR. CUSSEN.)

Evidence on behalf of the defence was heard yesterday in the case concerning the assault alleged to have been committed by two directors, and the first chef of the Metropole Restaurant, Dublin, on Percy Fairfax, 91 Harcourt street, who was employed in the establishment as second chef. The defendants are Francis L. O'Rourke and Patrick J. Wall (directors) and James Cranny (chef).

The complainant's case was that he was assaulted in the secretary's office on the night of Tuesday, the 6th inst., following a report which he made to the Corporation about bad meat being supplied in the establishment.

Mr. E. H. Burne appeared for the complainant, and Mr. Lavery (instructed by Messrs. Corrigan and Corrigan) defended.

TOLD TO LEAVE.

Mr. Lavery said that Fairfax entered the employment of the Metropole Company on the 21st September last. He said that he had been employed at the Grand Hotel, Llandudno and that on the termination of the season there, he had come to Dublin for work. He deliberately and carefully concealed from the management of the Metropole the fact that he had been employed in the City of Dublin for the two weeks preceding, and had thrown up his engagement. That, of course, was "by the way," but it was of importance when they came to test the credibility of the complainant's evidence.

Fairfax was consistently unsatisfactory in the discharge of his duties, and, although he had no permission to do so, he absented himself from his work from three to five o'clock each day.

On October 5 the position had come to this: That he had to be got rid of. The directors had actually been looking for a person to take his position something like eight days after he entered their employment. He was told that he would have to go, and agreed to leave on Monday evening, October 5. It was understood that he should see the secretary on the following morning to get his pay.

Regarding the incident in the hall of the restaurant, Campbell, the hall porter, would tell the Court that on Tuesday, October 6, at about 8 p.m., he saw Fairfax coming down into the hall in his kitchen clothes; that he spoke to him, and told him that he had no right to come there in that "get up," and that he would have to go back to the kitchen. Fairfax started to go upstairs, but Campbell brought him up in the lift, and left him on the kitchen floor.

"EXCITED AND VIOLENT."

Mr. O'Rourke and Sergeant Byrne were conversing together when they were joined by Mr. Wall, who had been in the hall, and had seen the chef there, but had not spoken to him, nor gone up in the lift with him. Sergeant Byrne told Fairfax who he was, and said that he wished to ask him some questions.

The evidence would show that Fairfax got very excited, and that from the beginning of the incident to the end no violence was offered save in restraining Fairfax from violent conduct, in which he was indulging, and from doing himself an injury. When the police were called in there was a discussion as to whether or not Fairfax should be charged with attempted suicide. The directors present said they were anxious not to press the matter.

No charge was made by any person, and there was no question of a charge by Fairfax. His wages were paid, and he went away without any allegation that he had been offered any violence whatever.

MESSAGE TO CHEF.

Speaking of the message which was brought by the witness, Creamer, to the Metropole for delivery to Fairfax, Mr. Lavery said that Creamer identified O'Rourke as the person whom he saw in the hall, and who directed that he should be given paper on which to write a note to Fairfax. As a matter of fact, Mr. O'Rourke was then in the secretary's office, and the person whom Creamer interviewed was Senator Nesbitt, a director of the restaurant, who happened to be in the hall.

The management had given instructions to the hall porter that no person should be allowed to interview any of the employés. Campbell told Creamer that he could not go up to see Fairfax, and the note to Fairfax was brought up by Campbell. Mr. O'Rourke had opened it when Campbell said that it was for Fairfax.

In regard to the meat which was alleged to be bad, Mrs. Delasure would tell them that she never had had any complaint from Fairfax about it. Counsel submitted that there was no evidence that the meat was bad, and that the Metropole was most careful about the meat which it supplied.

SECRETARY'S EVIDENCE.

John Crowley, secretary to the restaurant, examined by Mr. Lavery, said that on October 6 he saw two Corporation inspectors in the kitchen with Fairfax. The witness asked him why he was going out of his way to prove to the inspectors that the meat was bad, and Fairfax replied that he did not know that the men were inspectors, but thought that they were two directors of the restaurant.

When the question of wages was being discussed by the witness and Fairfax, the latter said that he had been told that he was entitled to claim a month's pay. He said that if he got two weeks' money he would be satisfied; otherwise he would remain in Dublin and give evidence in a possible meat prosecution. The witness replied that he could not give him two weeks' pay without consulting some of the directors, and asked him to wait in the dressing-room.

Subsequently, in the witness's office, the complainant was asked questions by Sergeant Byrne, but was very disinclined to answer. He was very excited, and advanced towards Byrne in a threatening manner. He was talking in a disjointed way. He said that he did not know why he should have been brought there to be questioned; that he was sorry he had ever come to this country; that the Irish people were "a dirty, treacherous lot," and that he was not allowed to carry out his duties in the restaurant, being hampered by the chef.

Getting close to the window, Fairfax opened it and put his head out. Mr. Byrne and Mr. Wall pulled him back, whereupon he appeared to become calm. In a few moments, however, he made a rush towards another window, put his head and shoulders out, and was again pulled back. He broke the glass with his hand, and, putting his head through the hole, shouted for the police

The chef, Cranny, who had come to the room at the summons of Mr. O'Rourke, was sent down for water to wash the wound. Fairfax, who by this time was extremely excited, said, "The more marked I am, the better." He refused to allow his hand to be bandaged, and the witness then summoned some police officers.

Fairfax's wound was subsequently dressed by some ambulance men. He was paid his wages, and signed a receipt. No violence was used towards him at any time, except to restrain him in his movements.

Cross-examined by Mr. Burne, the witness said that he believed that the complainant brought the case as an ally of the Transport Union, in order to injure the restaurant. He had since heard it sworn that Fairfax was not a member of the Transport Union.

MEAT SEIZED.

The inspectors who called from the Corporation did not make any statement to the witness, but, as far as he was aware, they found everything all right. The meat was seized by the inspectors.

Mr. Burne—Why do you think they seized it?

Witness—They probably suspected that there was something wrong with it.

Are you aware that a veterinary inspector was brought to see it?

I am not.

Are you aware that it was condemned by him and afterwards destroyed at O'Keeffe's?

Mr. Lavery objected at this stage, and Mr. Cussen said that he presumed that Mr. Burne would offer evidence in support of his allegations.

Mr. Burne said that there were present in Court officials of the Corporation, who could be called to give evidence.

The further hearing of the case was adjourned until Friday.

NEW CIVIC GUARD OFFICERS.

Last night's Official Gazette announces that the following have been appointed officers of the Civic Guard, with the rank of Superintendent — Patrick Doyle, Patrick Pender, John Bradley, James Heaphey, and Michael McKenna.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

ILLEGAL MILITARY FORCE.

CAPTURED DOCUMENTS.

PRISONER'S ATTACK ON MR. O'HIGGINS.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE O'SHAUGHNESSY.)

Considerable interest was taken in the trial of Michael Carolan, who was charged with having, on the 30th July last, taken part in and assisted the formation and organisation of a military force not established and maintained as such by law. When asked to plead he made no reply.

Detective Sergeant Mooney told the Court that Carolan spoke intelligently when he was arrested.

The prisoner was regarded as "mute of malice," and a plea of "not guilty" was recorded.

THROUGH TRAP DOOR.

Sergeant Mooney told how, accompanied by Detective O'Keefe, he went to the house at 68 Adelaide road on the 30th July, and, on looking through a trap door in a bedroom, saw Carolan and an assistant, Margaret Clancy, in a room underneath. This room appeared to be fitted up as an office, and at a table Carolan was writing. "You came a bit too late," he said to the detectives. "You should have come a week sooner." A bundle of documents was seized.

Some of the documents were produced and read in court. They were headed, "H.Q., I.R.A.," and were letters addressed to various parts of the Free State, giving instructions with regard to the organisation of battalions, intelligence work, etc. Instructions were also given for the preparation of information as to the movements of detective forces and Civic Guards, their home addresses, and "present attitude and general behaviour."

Both sexes were to train in intelligence work, and, in the event of a Republican Government taking over the reins of government, a list of Free State officials was to be made out, including Commissioners, State solicitors and Revenue officers. Plans and sketches of barracks and important bridges were also to be made.

Presenting the case to the jury, Mr. Carrigan, K.C., Senior State Counsel, said that one would have imagined that every section would have devoted itself by this time to the peace and prosperity of the country.

PRISONER SPEAKS IN IRISH.

When the case for the prosecution had closed, the accused man was asked whether he had anything to say. He proceeded to address the jury in Irish, and was speaking for some time, when the Judge intervened and said that he understood that the accused man spoke English perfectly.

Detective Sergeant Mooney—He does, my lord.

His Lordship—I do not understand what he is saying now. (To the prisoner)—If it is Irish you are speaking—I am sure I do not know—I do not understand you; but if you wish to address the jury in a tongue that the jury or the Judge do not understand, go on."

NOTE-TAKER'S RETORT.

Carolan continued to address the jury in Irish. While he was doing so the Judge called attention to a man near the Press box who was taking shorthand notes. The Registrar asked him what paper he represented, and the man replied, "An Poblacht."

His Lordship—Perhaps, you would tell us what he is saying?

"I understood this was an Irish Court," answered the notetaker, "and I am under no obligation to do the business of the Court."

The prisoner then resumed his statement in Irish.

Speaking in English, he said that when he was brought there that morning he did not intend to say anything. Certain things had been said by counsel, however, which made it necessary for him to reply "in the language of the foreigner." He did not know whether the members of the jury were Irishmen or not, but if they were Irishmen they would be in favour of the ideal of "the sacred Irish nation," or they would be against it.

"COMMANDANT-GENERAL."

He was a Republican; he belonged to the volunteer army of the Republic; he was an officer, with the rank of Commandant-General and Director of Intelligence attached to Headquarters Staff." He was told that that was a crime; that it was a violation of the law of the land, but he challenged any man to say that he was a criminal, or showed any predilections towards crime in his life. The majority of the deputies attending Merrion street were against the Treason Act, and the jury could express no opinion with regard to it. They were brought there merely to administer it. They were there to propagate the idea that a man who devoted his life to the "Republic" was a criminal.

His Lordship intervened, and said that he would direct the jury that they were simply considering the case under a Statute of Saorstat Eireann.

The accused man went on to say that he belonged to the I.R.A., and did not deny it. Why should the country, he asked, be put to the expense of proving what was admitted? The whole idea was to get the citizens to fall in with the ideas of "that brilliant contraband barrister with the tongue of a trick of the loop merchant," who was working for his Imperial masters.

The documents which the police got were of no importance, as he told them that they had come a week late. He had no desire to go to jail; he had a wife and a child to look after. But he was not whining for mercy. He was not a criminal. "Kevin O'Higgins and the others in Molesworth street were trying to suppress the national ideal, but they would never succeed."

"NOT A CRIMINAL."

The jury found the accused guilty, and added: "We do not consider him a criminal."

His Lordship said that all the jury had to decide was whether there was a violation of the Statute. The accused man was a criminal in the sense that he had violated the law.

The foreman of the jury remarked that there were no firearms in the case.

His Lordship—That is not the question; it is far more mischievous. We have had a terrible experience of an armed force being opposed to the Government.

The prisoner was put back for sentence.

PRISONER PUT BACK.

David Reck, a young labourer, was found guilty of having, at Pallas East railway station, while armed, rescued a prisoner named Patrick Ryan from the custody of two Civic Guards and assaulted the Guards.

The evidence for the prosecution was that Ryan was being conveyed from Enniscorthy to Waterford Jail on a charge of intimidation and threatening a man with death. As the train entered Pallas East station Reck and another man, not in custody, entered the compartment occupied by the Guards and their prisoner, produced revolvers, and took away the prisoner, despite the resistance of the Guards. Guards who were on the platform were locked in a waiting-room.

COMPENSATION CLAIMS.

CASE FOR NON-MANUAL WORKER.

The desirability of bringing under the Workmen's Compensation Act non-manual workers whose salary was under £400 a year, with the exception of civil servants, the army and police forces, whose interests were looked after by the State, was stressed at the meeting yesterday of the Departmental Committee set up by the Ministry of Industry and Commerce at Lord Edward street, Dublin, by Mr. R. S. Anthony, President of the Cork and District Workers' Council.

Mr. Anthony said that in his own experience he knew of a great many cases of non-manual workers not under the Workmen's Compensation Act, who suffered a great deal of poverty. For instance, there was one case of a man engaged in the grocery trade at a salary of £250 a year, who met with an accident. He was not provided for by the Act, and the result was that he had to put up with an amount of poverty.

In reply to the Chairman (Mr. A. A. Dickie), the witness said that there were a good many workers in distributive trades—grocery, drapery, town and commercial travellers—who were earning from £250 to £400 a year, but who could not afford to pay insurance.

In reply to Mr. Eason, the witness could give no definite idea what it would cost such a man to pay his own insurance. He thought that it might be about £12 or £14 a year.

Mr. R. J. P. Mortished—Your experience is that people with incomes of less than £400 a year do not generally insure against accident, and you presume that they cannot afford it? Yes, under present conditions.

LACK OF INSPECTION.

The witness suggested that any workman meeting with an accident in the course of his employment, whether due to his own negligence or any other cause, should be compensated, provided that he was engaged in carrying out his employer's business. The practice of having guards upon fly-wheels in factories was frequently disregarded when the work was being speeded up, and he attributed that to the lack of adequate inspection. There was, he contended, a shortage of inspectors. His Council had drawn attention to that, and he understood that three extra inspectors for Munster had recently been appointed.

The Chairman pointed out that if the guard of a wheel was kept off with the knowledge of the employer he would be held liable in the event of an accident.

The witness replied that if it was winked at by everybody compensation should be paid.

The Chairman said that that was going very far in connection with the Factory Act.

Questioned by Mr. George Perry, the witness stated that he did not suggest that the employers took off the guards from the wheels. That was done by the operative to expedite the job, having the shadow of dismissal hanging over him.

Did you make representation to the Department of Industry and Commerce? I think there was representation made, but if an operative made a complaint to the Factory Inspector he would get dismissed. A case of that kind, however, was difficult to be proved.

The Chairman expressed the opinion that the inspector ought to take steps to stop that practice if it was customary.

Mr. W. A. R. Cruise said that there were employés who did not conform to certain regulations and obligations that were imposed upon them, and as a consequence some heavy claims had to be paid by way of compensation.

OCCUPATIONAL DISEASES.

Witness drew attention to occupational diseases, and said that in the case of printers and painters who contracted lead poisoning as a result of following their occupation, they should receive full wages while incapacitated from following their employment, and in the event of death as a result of lead poisoning or other industrial or occupational disease, the compensation payable to the widow should be equal to at least four years' wages, and the amount payable to children be increased at least 20 per cent. on the present rates.

Chairman—You would have a man paid full wages while he is incapacitated?—A man needs full wages when he is ill.

Under the Workmen's Compensation Act you put the full burden of wages on the employer?—The employer is insured.

But if he gives full wages he has to pay another man to do the work?—I would like to have the wages secured to the man all right, but I am prepared to sit down and discuss with the employer how that is to be done.

In further reply to the Chairman, witness expressed the opinion that his trades union would be quite willing to take a share in providing full wages for such workmen.

To Mr. Irwin, witness said that he would apply the principle of payment of full wages to all workers incapacitated through following their occupations.

SERIOUS PORTRUSH FIRE.

£1,000 DAMAGE TO ELECTRICITY STATION.

Damage estimted at nearly £1,000 was caused by a fire which occurred in the municipal electricity supply works station at Portrush yesterday morning.

The outbreak originated in a store where oils, cable, bitumen, and other inflammable materials were kept, and this part of the building was enveloped in flames, and eventually gutted. The fire spread to the roof of the main building of the electricity station, and also to the roof of the fire brigade station adjoining, both suffering considerable damage. After about two hours' strenuous effort, the outbreak was got under control.

The buildings at the station were erected only a few years ago, and formed part of the municipal electricity scheme which the Council carried out at a cost of about £20,000.

The barking of a dog early yesterday morning indicated the outbreak of a fire in the grocery and spirit premises of Mr. John McConville, High street, Newry. The grocery department was completely destroyed.

The inmates of the house had a lucky escape, particularly the assistant, who slept in a room off the burnt out part of the premises.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—The main depression is now centred north of Scotland, and is beginning to fill up quickly. A large and deep depression far out on the Atlantic will probably affect the Western parts of the British Isles in the course of to-morrow, but over the Eastern districts fine, quiet weather will probably last all day.

Ireland.—Wind west, backing to south, moderate at first, becoming strong again later; fine early, becoming dull, with some rain later; visibility moderate to good; temperature rising.

S.W. Seaboard, Mouth of Channel to South-West Ireland.—Wind west, backing to south, and freshening later; fine at first, becoming dull, with some rain later; sea becoming rather rough in the evening.

Irish Sea and St. George's Channel.—Wind west, moderate, backing to south and freshening later; fine at first, becoming dull, with some rain later; visibility moderate to good; sea rather rough, moderating.

N.W. Seaboard.—Wind west, backing to south-east later, moderate; mainly fair; visibility moderate to good; sea moderate.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1925.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

The present position of the Irish language was discussed at a Gaelic League meeting in Dublin last night.—(Page 5.)

The inclusion, under the Workmen's Compensation Act, of non-manual workers with salaries under £400, with the exception of those provided for by the State, was urged at the Departmental inquiry in Dublin yesterday.—(Page 5.)

ABROAD.

Further details of the shelling of Damascus, in which over 2,000 inhabitants were killed, are reported in telegrams received yesterday.—(Page 7.)

The French Cabinet has resigned.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING.

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were quiet. Investment securities were firm, but Rubbers and some Industrials were weak.—(Page 4.)

Lombard street was bare of loanable funds, and there was further borrowing from the Bank. Overnight loans commanded up to 4½ per cent., the general rate being 3½ to 4 per cent. Discounts were firm.—(Page 4.)

In Dublin Guinness Shares were easier at 73, and Courtaulds dropped to 146s. 3d. Goulding Ord were strong and Burke Ord. further improved. Dublin Distillers Debs. fell 4 points to 53½.—(Page 4.)

The Troubles of France.

The French Cabinet has resigned, and it is unlikely that a new Government can be scrambled together before to-morrow, which is the day appointed for the meeting of Parliament. So ends the story—or, at any rate, its first chapter—of M. Caillaux's dramatic attempt to reorganise French finance. Six months ago he was brought into the labouring ship of State on account of his reputation as "a daring pilot in extremity." To-day he is dismissed as a Jonah, but not as a solitary Jonah; for he has taken the whole crew overboard with him. During the last four days the Cabinet made a great effort to compel M. Caillaux to go alone; but he is not of the self-sacrificing sort, and, indeed, his position was severely logical. His financial policy is the same to-day that it was six months ago. His colleagues endorsed it then; why should they repudiate it now? M. Caillaux found French finance in the gravest plight. The total of the internal debt is about three hundred milliards of francs; there is a huge foreign debt, and the Budget deficit for the year is estimated at three milliards. M. Caillaux refused in theory to support the Socialist plan of a capital levy; but he proposed to meet his deficit by the hardly less unpopular method of new and heavily increased taxation, and even then he was driven to resort, as a temporary expedient, to a further enlargement of the note issue. The Cabinet, it appears, preferred resignation to what it regarded as the certainty of defeat in the Chamber on M. Caillaux's financial plans.

There will be a redistribution of portfolios and probably a great washing of dirty linen in public; for M. Caillaux will not sit silent under injury. It is quite possible that his restless genius may drive him to seek fresh alliances and to abandon his last scruples on the subject of a capital levy; and that the outcome of the present crisis may be an early general election. Whatever may happen, the really important result of the Cabinet crisis is the new urgency which it gives to the financial issue. By a series of parliamentary débacles and alarms, as well as by the steeply declining fortunes of the franc, the French people are being forced to realise that, if France is to thrive, they must set their financial house in order. Thrift, which is a domestic virtue, has been France's bane in external affairs. Her Governments have raised tremendous sums by way of loan; and the people have ignored the accumulation of these loans with a complacency which their Governments were too timid to disturb. "Now comes the reckoning and men smile no more." M. Caillaux's defeat merely has postponed for a little while in France the unpleasant task to which England braced herself immediately after the war. The English people restored their shaken credit by heroic economies and by a heroic endurance of high taxation, and Mr. Churchill has hinted that even now further sacrifices may be required of them. France must restore her national credit at the same inevitable cost. Throughout all her cosy provinces there must be such a surrender of peasant and bourgeois savings as has not been known since the end of the Franco-Prussian War.

All friends of France will grieve at the untimely coincidence which complicates her domestic problems with foreign anxieties. It seems that, unless wisdom prevails on both sides, her costly campaign in Morocco must drag through the winter months, and the news from Syria is wholly disquieting. There, if the substantial reports from friendly British sources are true, French interests and the French prestige are faring ill. When General Sarrail went to Syria at the beginning of this year the country was quite peaceful under the French mandate. To-day it is ablaze with rebellion, and there is some cause for fear that General Sarrail's high-handed and impolitic methods have been in part to blame. Ten days ago tribesmen raided Damascus and, as a reprisal, the French military command caused the bodies of a dozen dead bandits, mounted on camels, to be driven through the streets of the city. The ghastly parade infuriated the populace; riots followed in which many Frenchmen were killed, and then French troops bombarded the ancient quarter of the city with artillery and aeroplanes for the space of twenty-four hours. It is said that two thousand bodies lie beneath the ruins, and historic buildings, including the Azm Palace and "the Street called Straight," have been destroyed. The Christian population and the European colony owed their lives, not to French forewarning, but to the protection of the Arab aristocracy. No doubt, the new French Government will make a careful investigation of the facts, which, however they may be explained, must have very unfortunate reactions on the whole world of Islam.

Chelsea and Dublin.

England is lucky in having Mr. Neville Chamberlain at the Ministry of Health. He brings to his work enlightenment and enthusiasm. He has checked the demolition of old bridges and landmarks, and has obliged all local authorities to combine modern development with due reverence for the past. Now he announces his intention to introduce a Smoke Abatement Bill whereby the sullying of the skies in all industrial areas will be checked, and he promises that manufacturers, while making less smoke, will be enabled to make more money. Indeed, the rebuilding of Britain is the foremost matter in the Englishman's range of interests to-day. Newspapers and reviews abound in criticism and discussion of new housing projects and architectural achievements, while the Architecture Club's newly-opened exhibition in London attracts large numbers to study new plans and new suggestions. Bermondsey—that dingy suburb of mean streets—has announced its desire to reduce its population by at least 50 per cent. In at least one of the London boroughs the housing problem has been made the centre of contest in the municipal elections. The Chelsea Housing Association accuses the outgoing members of one party of neglect of the borough's acute need for housing reform. The chairman of the accused party retorts, pointing out that Chelsea has 578 municipal flats and opened fifty-six this summer. Returning to the issue, the Association contends that only the fringe of congestion has been alleviated. Figures which are adduced to demonstrate the acuteness of suffering in Chelsea are interesting to Irish readers. The density of population in the borough is stated to be ninety-seven persons to the acre, as against the London average of sixty. Now, in Dublin, the population per acre is nearly 140 in Wood Quay Ward and averages about 115 in the Mountjoy and Rotunda Wards. In Chelsea it is regarded as scandalous that one in four of the population should dwell in overcrowded dwellings. In Dublin three out of four live in overcrowded tenements, apartments or flats. One in fifteen of the homes in Chelsea is a one-room dwelling, but in many a case of this sort the occupant may be a bachelor lodger. In Dublin the proportion comes nearer to one in three. The Chelsea conditions excite so much dissatisfaction that the Housing Association demands the wholesale clearance of congested areas and the re-housing of displaced families, together with the provision of dwellings at economic rents to shelter the entire population which suffers from overcrowding. It is significant, however, that the Association regards these drastic measures as being beyond the powers of the unaided municipality. The Government is asked to lend its aid, handling the local problem as part of the larger problem of re-distribution. More drastic action is needed in Dublin than in Chelsea, and it must be taken by the national Government, viewing the troubles of the area "within the bridges" as capable of solution only in the remoulding of a much larger area.

Diplomatic English.

Some concern has been aroused by the statement of the Geneva Correspondent of the Daily Telegraph that a movement is afoot to drop the English language as one of the two official languages used by the League of Nations. The grounds given for the proposal are those of economy, and it is suggested that French alone would serve the purposes of the League sufficiently well. The proposal is extremely unlikely to obtain support. At the Paris Peace Conference it was laid down definitely that henceforward English should rank side by side with French as a diplomatic language, and at every great international gathering, from Versailles to Locarno, English has maintained its new place. During our lifetime England has lost her ancient insularity. To-day she holds a place in the world's affairs never conceived possible by former generations. She is a guarantor of the frontiers of Europe, and her arms and her honour are involved in the maintenance of the world's peace. Outside her shores there are a hundred million people speaking her language, and these are not concentrated, like overseas speakers of Spanish, in one continental area, but are distributed throughout the globe, and particularly along the great sea routes and at all centres of international exchange. The United States and the nations of the British Commonwealth which are independent in all but name, use the English tongue as their mother tongue, so that it would survive as the language of many Powers if the British Islands were obliterated. No other language is adopted so commonly as a secondary language for school study, and Teutons, Latins, Magyars, Slavs and Asiatics resort to English as their medium for contact with the world beyond their borders. In China and India natives from different provinces who cannot understand one another's dialects converse in English, pure or debased. When French became the diplomatic language of the world, France was so disproportionately powerful and numerous of population that she "overcrowed" all Europe. French, however, never attained to anything like the present widespread popularity of English. Latin is the only language which ever could make such universal claims as can the English tongue.

The New Islam.

Kemal Pasha's substitution of the Homburg and the bowler hat throughout his domains for the scarlet fez of old is a step of doubtful progress, robbing Turkey of one touch of the picturesque. The zeal for European standards, however, has its happier aspect. The Constantinople Correspondent of the Manchester Guardian reports a growing demand for the reform and simplification of Islamic religious rites. In the great Mosque, which once was the Church of the Holy Wisdom, the services are described as a sort of pandemonium. After the prayers chanters begin a discordant chatter like a crazy, old-time catch. Here a preacher holds forth in Arabic on some obscure topic; there another preacher has a little knot of listeners whom he addresses in Turkish. It is proposed to insist that none save clerics registered by the State shall be allowed to speak within mosques, and then only one at a time. Subjects of discourses will have to be announced, and will require "to be modernised and to deal with modern practical problems." Many rites are recommended for abolition, as offending against modern notions of hygiene. The ablutions before entering mosques, the baring of feet, the prostrations on dirty mats, and the black fasts from dawn to sunset in the season of Ramadan, all are regarded as practices unfit for modern observance. It is urged that, as rigorous fasting is impossible for the busy worker of to-day, the ordinary Moslem now dispenses with fasting altogether. "Let us adapt Islam to the twentieth century," say the reformers, "making its observances congenial to the Europeanised Turk." It remains to be seen, however, whether the religion of Mohamet has in it moral elements that will prove capable of survival after the lopping of its ritual.

A MAYNOOTH PROFESSOR.

REMINISCENCES OF DR. WALTER McDONALD.

(SPECIALLY REVIEWED.)

The late Dr. Walter McDonald, Professor of Dogmatic Theology at Maynooth College and Prefect of the Dunboyne Establishment from 1888 until his death in 1920, was a remarkable man. His life was filled with controversy, philosophical and political. From his deathbed he wrote to Mr. Denis Gwynn asking him to edit the memoirs which are now before us. The book was begun in 1913, and Dr. McDonald seems from the first to have intended that it should be published posthumously—an apologia pro vita sua. Mr. Gwynn has excised from the manuscript passages containing the author's views on the Great War, which form merely a résumé of his published book on the subject, some passages calculated to give undue offence, and some letters which are immaterial to the text. Two small passages also were deleted on theological grounds when the work was submitted for the Westminster Imprimatur. The Imprimatur was refused finally "on the ground that no book which criticised the ecclesiastical system of the Irish Church so strongly could receive the appearance of official approval from an English diocese."

Dr. McDonald tells in these pages the story of his life-long conflict with his ecclesiastical superiors. Like the late Canon Sheehan, he loved Maynooth with a deep affection, and yet was sternly critical of its educational methods. His criticisms of the intellectual attitude of the Roman Catholic bishops, however, were not—directly, at any rate—the source of his troubles. He wrote one considerable philosophical work, "On Motion," which was delated to Rome and put upon the Index as contrary to faith, and five subsequent essays from his pen on "The Theological Virtues," "Religion and the Church," the Sacraments and similar topics were refused the Nihil Obstat of the Dublin Diocese on the grounds that, if they were published, they would be delated to Rome and condemned.

It is the life story of a disappointed man that we read in these pages. Dr. McDonald affirms his belief that his suppressed writings contain true and valuable teaching. He declares that he holds what he wrote, and what was condemned, to be true in the censors' despite, and he says that his writings never had a fair chance of examination in Rome. He alleges that the hostility of high authorities branded his delated book in advance and prevented it from ever receiving the careful examination by men of learning necessary to a fair pronouncement on original philosophical work.

In his first chapter Dr. McDonald talks sadly of his five banned volumes—works to which he gave the best years of his life, "dedicated honestly to the service of Theology and the Church." Other men, he says, have worshipped a mistress as long for the mere reward of a smile, but his mistress regarded his best service as disservice, and so—"I stand in the market place all day idle. And yet the pen which I am not allowed to use in the service of my mistress would, perhaps, be welcomed heartily and rewarded handsomely by her enemies."

* * *

Born in the parish of Mooncoin, County Kilkenny, in 1854, Dr. McDonald was son of a tenant farmer. His parents were Gaelic speakers, and he describes the Gaelic story-telling by labourers around the kitchen fire, which was all lost on the children. At school he learnt the ordinary subjects, but had no access to good books; accordingly he praises the Montessori system of to-day, saying, "like other heresies, may it not have an element of truth in it?" In 1870 the young McDonald went to Maynooth, where he matriculated for Humanity. Perhaps, the most interesting part of the whole book is Dr. McDonald's examination of the system of education in his young days at Maynooth. He describes the old generation of lecturers, and he finds grave fault with the controversial bent of the theological studies. "The only adversaries we recognised were the Protestants of these countries," he says, ... "and we did not notice how our position was being turned by the Rationalists. We were behind our time." The system equipped students to deal with problems of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, but left them uninstructed regarding the problems of their own age.

To defects in the educational system at Maynooth Dr. McDonald ascribes fears regarding "the foundations of faith, and also with regard to errors and contradictions in the Bible," which "haunted and troubled" him all his life. He declares that "the traditional defence of the Catholic position" was not suited to the new difficulties, and of his teachers he says that they "knew, or seemed to know, but one side of these questions, which strikes one very differently when one realises the other side. I say now, very solemnly," he adds, "that the conservatism in which I was trained very nearly drove me out of the Church, or into a madhouse, and that the good, easy men who . . . insist on these traditional views—making dogmas of what are but school traditions—are tormenting souls and driving them out of the Church." Dr. McDonald declares that he escaped renouncing his faith only by basing it on "more liberal principles than those in which I was brought up. If," he says, "these new principles were published, perhaps, I should suffer more for them than I have had to suffer for my rejection of some of the conclusions of theological science."

* * *

In politics Dr. McDonald declares himself to have been a Tory, although he was enthusiastic for the cause of the Land League. His sympathies brought him into conflict with the bishops. When the Vatican circular, Quidquid de Parnellio, was issued, Dr. McDonald and five others of the College staff at Maynooth, forwarded a joint contribution, over their names, to the Parnell fund. "In this," he says, "there was no formal disobedience to the Holy See; as, though the circular was issued with a view to preventing contributions, it did not forbid them." The Trustees of the College then "passed a resolution to the effect that members of the College staff were to abstain from taking a side on public questions as to which the bishops of Ireland were divided." The resolution was not entered in the minute book, but communicated verbally to those concerned. One of the signatories to the Parnell subscription refused to recognise an unwritten resolution.

In like fashion Dr. McDonald clashed with the bishops on the question of essential Irish for the National University. He devotes several chapters to the "O'Hickey Case," telling how the late Dr. O'Hickey spent a sad life in Rome, appealing in vain against the punishment of dismissal from Maynooth meted out to him for his part in the campaign for essential Irish. Dr. McDonald chides the Gaelic League for its neglect of one who was its champion at the cost of great sacrifice.

* * *

In 1894 Dr. McDonald was challenged regarding the truth of doctrines enunciated in his book on Motion. The Senior Professor of Dogmatic Theology, Dr. Coghlan (now Most Rev. Dr. Cohalan, Bishop of Cork), objected to a chapter, De modo agendi Gratiae in Naturo, which Dr. McDonald quotes in full. The chief sentence, containing the pith of the disputed matter, was this: "Every action of a creature . . . is a motion; which does not proceed from the power (of the creature), but from God, by Whose action it is infused into the power." In essence, the old problem of reconciling the free will of the creature with the omnipotence of God was the cause of the dispute between Dr. McDonald and his censors. Obviously, he did not desire to upset orthodox teaching, but rather to present it in a new light. To the ordinary reader, the dispute appears to have been but a fine duel of words, and it seems a pity that a life should be saddened merely through the imperfections of language. Dr. McDonald complains bitterly of the tactics used by his opponents, and hints that he was being represented as unorthodox by men who resented, first, his criticisms of hierarchical despotism, and, second, his mental virility. The candid reader, however, cannot but feel some sympathy with those assailed by so pugnacious and insuppressable a controversialist. Dr. McDonald's chapter on the reform of Canon Law is especially pungent.

LONDON LETTER.

DAMASCUS BOMBARDED.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

The news published this morning concerning the French bombardment of Damascus was received with considerable astonishment in official circles. The report says that no British subjects were killed or injured, but it is virtually certain that considerable damage has been done to British property. The French are undergoing a very serious and trying time in Syria, and it may be well to wait for further details before forming a judgment on a situation which, as yet, is insufficiently known. The Government are in communication with the British Consul in Damascus, and, no doubt, will soon receive full details of what is described as a twenty-four hours' bombardment.

From whatever point of view the British mandates in the Middle East may be regarded, the rising in Syria is as much to be deplored as was the Iraq rebellion of 1920. The swiftness with which the Druse revolt has been followed by spasmodic risings all over Syria seems to have been unexpected by many people; but nobody who has been aware of the rumour current for many months throughout the Middle East, that France intended to renounce her Syrian mandate in favour of Britain, and knew how it was working on the minds of the Arabs, can be surprised that the impetuous Syrians have again sought to rise against the handful of French troops in Syria.

The French Crisis.

M. Painlevé has sent in the resignation of his Cabinet to the President of the French Republic, and thus it becomes evident that the political, as well as the financial, crisis in France remain acute. It is said that the main cause of the downfall of the Ministry was the refusal of M. Caillaux, the Minister of Finance, to resign independently, and this is probably correct. In return for his compulsory resignation M. Caillaux threatens to bring the Government to the ground when the Chamber meets at the end of the week, and it is possible that he may do so. It was predicted when M. Caillaux became a Minister again that it would not be long before he became Premier, and, in view of the present situation in Paris, it would not be surprising should he emerge from the crisis as the head of the Government.

National Health.

The Royal Commission set up in July of last year to inquire into and report on alterations or extensions that might be possible in the National Health Insurance scheme has now prepared its report. Should legislation be necessary as a result of the inquiry, it must be introduced quite early next session, since the Parliamentary authority for the payment of the doctors' grant expires on March 31st next. There is an idea in political circles that the report of the Commission may suggest drastic changes; for it is now evident that the State has to pay too great a proportion of the cost of health insurance, particularly when a very substantial and increasing surplus to the credit of the Insurance Fund is taken into consideration.

Roads and Revenue.

It has been suggested for some time that the Chancellor of the Exchequer was casting hungry eyes on the road fund, which this year produces a revenue of seventeen million pounds allocated by Act of Parliament to road repairs and improvements. Pressed by circumstances—more particularly the coal subsidy—Mr. Churchill is said to be anxious to balance his Budget by using part of this large revenue for the relief of general taxation, and it is thought that he will appeal to the Cabinet for authorisation. Should he succeed, he will have to secure the passing of a new Act to legalise the transfer of the money. In justification of his action it is generally admitted that it was never anticipated that the fund would reach such huge proportions.

The Aga Khan's Stables.

The decision of the Aga Khan to give up racing in France is said to be due to the desire of the owner to see more of his horses training in England and in Ireland. His stable in France was one of the finest and most important in the country, and huge sums of money were spent in its establishment. Only last year the Khan increased it by the purchase of a number of yearlings, for which he paid a "record" price. To-day the Khan referred to the kindnesses he had received in France, and said that he would be able now to spend more time in Ireland.

Wembley's Guarantors' Liability.

It now seems to be clear that the guarantors of the Empire Exhibition will have to pay some three-quarters of their guarantee, or fifteen shillings in the pound. This will be a great loss in the case of those people who have guaranteed considerable sums, but they will have the slight consolation of knowing that their loss would have been much heavier had the Exhibition not re-opened. Taken altogether, the Exhibition has been quite a fair success this year, owing in a great measure to the Military Tattoo in the Stadium, a spectacle which has brought millions of visitors.

A Monster "Bargain Sale."

The Exhibition is now a kind of "bargain sale," and sale bills are to be seen on every side. "Great reductions," "no offer refused" and so on are mottoes at many of the stalls. In the Hong Kong Section a general auction sale is to be held to-morrow and on Thursday. During the run of the Exhibition £10,000 worth of goods were sold in this pavilion, and about £8,000 worth remain to be auctioned. Rattan and blackwood furniture and Chinese works of art form the bulk of the stuff remaining.

People with an eye for economy have been busy in the Exhibition in the past few days buying Christmas presents. Ulster linen, for instance, is going very cheaply, while lengths of cloth, table centres, cushions, flower vases, and decorative goods and trinkets of all kinds have been greatly reduced. Dresses and frocks which have been used for mannequin parades and for exhibition on stands also are to be had at bargain prices.

"Lewis Purcell."

It has been generally supposed that Mr. David Parkhill, the author of "Barty Reforms," which is to follow "The Playboy of the Western World" at the Royalty Theatre, is an Australian, while he is, in fact, an Ulsterman who has to live out in Australia on account of his lungs. One of the enthusiastic band of young Belfast people who started the Ulster Literary Theatre, he wrote at the time some short plays under the pen name of "Lewis Purcell."

An Engagement.

The engagement was announced to-day of Mr. Gerald Lloyd Verney and Miss Joyce Vivian Smith. Mr. Verney, who is in the Grenadier Guards, is a son of Mr. Harry Lloyd Verney, Groom-in-Waiting to the King and private secretary to the Queen, and Lady Joan Verney, daughter of the Earl of Desart and Woman of the Bedchamber to the Queen. Miss Joyce Smith is the third daughter of Mr. Vivian and Lady Sybil Smith, of Mitford House, Lennox Gardens.

Lord and Lady Islington are making a short motor tour in France before they start for Kenya, to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Colonel Sir Edward and the Hon. Lady Grigg. Lady Dorothy D'Oyly Carte returned to London yesterday from Devonshire. Viscount Inchcape has arrived from Scotland and is making a short stay in London.

MUSEUM PILLAGED.

The House of Annanias and the famous French Institute, the most marvellous house in the world's oldest city, which was recently turned into a French museum for the housing of priceless relics of the Hittite-Graeco-Roman civilisations, both suffered severely. The museum was pillaged by bandits co-operating with the Mohammedans.

The rebellion proper, started on Sunday, when six hundred Druse rebels, who had changed their turbans, so as not to be distinguished from the Arabs, filtered into the native section to foment the revolt. Two Cherkassian soldiers began quarrelling, and one fired, killing an innocent bystander. The bystander happened to be a Mohammedan, and immediately the cry of "Massacre" arose, and the fanatic Mussulmans began rising everywhere. MR. DARRELL FIGGIS FOUND DEAD.

LONDON BOARDING-HOUSE DISCOVERY.

TRAGIC END OF DUBLIN DAIL MEMBER.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Tuesday.

It was announced in London this morning that Mr. Darrell Figgis had been found dead. Mr. Figgis was fairly well known by name, if not by his personality, on this side. The tragic death of Mrs. Darrell Figgis last November was recalled, and the more recent death of Miss Rita North, with the appearance of Mr. Figgis in the witness box. The inquest into the death of Miss North was postponed until November 5th, when Mr. Figgis would have been required to give evidence again.

WANTED A GAS FIRE.

Mr. Darrell Figgis was found dead in his bedroom at 4 Grenville street, Bloomsbury, a room which he engaged only yesterday afternoon. The landlady this morning said that Mr. Figgis called on her early yesterday afternoon and said that he wanted a quiet apartment with a gas fire, as he had a lot of literary work to do.

He paid a deposit for the room, giving the name of Southe. She did not notice any signs of agitation, and he gave her the impression that he was staying in London for some days on business.

Mr. Figgis, she added, went out in the evening for about an hour, and she assumed that he had gone to get supper. Before going out he called her attention to the gas stove, in which some of the asbestos had been smashed. She promised to replace the broken pieces, and when he returned between 9 and 10 o'clock he expressed himself as being satisfied with what she had done. An hour later he retired, and on being given a hot water bottle said good night.

About eight o'clock this morning a maid took up the hot water to his room, but received no reply to her knocks. The bedroom door was locked on the inside.

Dr. Harold, of 20 Brunswick square, and the police were sent for, and on forcing an entrance to the room they found Mr. Figgis lying dead in bed, with a gas jet fully turned on. They opened the window, and tried artificial respiration, but without success.

FAREWELL LETTERS.

On a dressing table were several letters written by Mr. Figgis, including three to friends in Ireland and one to the newspapers. Another letter was addressed to Dr. Cohen, the North Middlesex Coroner.

Dr. Harold, who belongs to an old Irish Roman Catholic family, recognised the dead man as Darrell Figgis.

An eye-witness stated that the gas fire opening had been blocked up and the gas jet had been turned on, and though the windows were open there was still a strong smell of gas in the room. Among the articles by the side of the bed was a lady's handbag containing a large lock of auburn hair, very beautiful in hue, and a number of visiting cards bearing the name of Mrs. Darrell Figgis.

Near it was an attaché case, on top of which were four letters. There was an open letter in this attaché case, and sealed letters, one to the Press, another addressed to the Coroner, Dr. Cohen and one or two other letters also sealed, and apparently addressed to private friends.

The open letter referred to the recent trouble, and added that "it came to this—that this" (apparently referring to his own death) "was the only way out."

Another note evidently showed Darrell Figgis's desire to recompense the landlady for any trouble she was put to. It read: "Give the old soul a couple of tenners for the trouble I have caused her."

Among other things found in the attaché case was a new black-handled dagger, about twelve inches long. There were also in it £5, a cheque from the Dail for £30, and another cheque for £10. His jewellery included two gold watches—one a wristlet watch—and a gold chain.

A PUBLISHER'S TRIBUTE.

Darrell Figgis was staying at the Royal Automobile Club, and was with friends until as late as 7 o'clock last night, and was in good spirits. Apparently he went straight from the club to Grenville street.

Mr. Figgis was a literary adviser to Messrs. J. M. Dent and Sons, the publishers, for some years. "He left us after the trouble in Ireland in 1916, and though we had a letter or two from him afterwards, he did not come to see us," said one of the principals of the firm yesterday. "He was a remarkable man in many ways, and much cleverer than some of his compatriots thought he was. His literary accomplishments were above the ordinary, and he was sincere and knowledgeable in his views and opinions."

LITERARY AND POLITICAL CAREER.

A PROLIFIC WRITER.

Mr. Figgis was born in Rathmines, Dublin, in the year 1882, and at the age of 16 went into the tea trade in London and Calcutta. He remained in that business for twelve years, but up to the end he was interested in trade and commerce.

His literary ability asserted itself early, and in 1911 his first volume, "A Vision of Life," was published. In that year he became literary adviser to Messrs. J. M. Dent and Sons, of London. He was dramatic critic for The Academy, and a free lance journalist with a huge output. The list of his published works occupies a large space in "Who's Who." His last book, "The Return of the Hero," appeared under the pen name of William Ireland, and his life of William Blake was expected to be on sale next month.

His name first came prominently before the Irish public in 1914, when he became a commander in the Irish Volunteers. For several years before that he lived a secluded life in Achill Island, writing several works, including two novels and a play, "Queen Tara," which was produced at the Queen's Theatre, Dublin. In the summer of 1914 he took an active part in the carrying out of the gun-running at Howth, and on the Sunday when the coup took place he was in charge of the Volunteers who came into conflict with the police at Raheny. From that time he took a prominent part in Irish politics, without interruption of his indefatigable literary activity.

He joined the Sinn Fein Party, and was an assiduous and powerful writer on its side. He took no active part in the 1916 rising, but was arrested afterwards and deported. Released in December, 1916, he was re-arrested in the following February, but escaped from an English prison in May. He stated himself that in all he was the better part of three years in jail. He was Honorary Secretary to Sinn Fein from October, 1917, to May, 1919, and then editor of The Republic until the suppression of the paper in September. As in the case of Arthur Griffith, he was never regarded as an advocate of physical force.

VICTIM OF OUTRAGE.

From September, 1919, to January, 1922, he was Secretary of the Commission of Inquiry into the Resources and Industries of Ireland, which collected a vast amount of information, and issued an exhaustive report in 1922. Mr. Figgis will be remembered most as Acting Chairman of the Committee which drafted the Irish Free State Constitution, many of whose important provisions were evolved by him from his study of foreign laws and customs and his knowledge of Irish conditions.

In 1922 he stood as an independent pro-Treaty candidate for the Dail, and was returned at the head of the poll in Co. Dublin. While the election campaign was in progress he was the victim of an outrage by a party of men, who entered his house and cut off his beard. In August, 1923, he was again returned to the Dail with a reduced poll. His success then was in large measure due to the help of his wife, who shot herself last November. Quite recently he made but a poor show in his candidature for the Senate. As a deputy he frequently criticised the policy and administration of the present Government; but his name did not come prominently before the public, except at the time of the debates on broadcasting, and when he offered opposition to the Shannon scheme. He was associated with one of the projects for the electrification of the Liffey.

Apart from his work for newspapers and magazines his writings include poetry, novels, plays, literary criticism and essays on general matters. His principal publications are:—Novels: "Broken Axes," "Jacob Elthorne," "Children of Earth," "The House of Success," "The Return of the Hero." Poetry—"A Vision of Life," "The Crucibles of Time," "The Mount of Transfiguration." Among his writings on literary and political subjects are:—"Shakespeare: A Study," "Studies and Appreciations," "Queen Tara," "Æ—A Story of a Man and a Nation," "William Carleton," "A Chronicle of Jails," "The Gaelic State, Past and Future," "The Freedom of the Seas," "The Historic Case for Irish Independence," "Byeways of Study," "A Second Chronicle of Jails," "Planning for the Future," "The Irish Constitution Explained," "A Life of William Blake."

In an appeal to the Senate electors, Mr. Figgis wrote of himself:—"Through many troubled years I have had only one ambition. That ambition has been to be known as the friend of the people of Ireland. That title I have held to be better worth winning than office or preferment. The people of Ireland do not need to be told that when, after the Treaty, because of my record of service, and because of the high and honourable position I held as Acting-Chairman of the Committee that drafted the Free State Constitution, I could have looked for such things, I did not do so. I did not put myself in the way of them. I kept my independence. That is a matter of public knowledge."

THE AXE TO THE NAVY.

MANY REDUCTIONS IN THE FLEET.

The Admiralty last night announced a number of intended reductions in the Fleet. The Special Reserve of Engineer Officers is to be abolished and the Special Reserve of Royal Marine Officers reduced. The Second Cruiser Squadron is to be reduced by H.M.S. Calliope, which will be placed in reserve, and one of the destroyer flotillas attached to the Atlantic Fleet is to be reduced to reserve. All the "K" Class submarines except "K" 26 are to be scrapped, and the First Submarine Flotilla reconstituted with "K" 26 and four "L" Class submarines.

The following reductions are to be made in tenders attached to harbour training establishments at home ports:—Portsmouth—Rob Roy and Sable to be withdrawn; the trawlers Derwent and Itchen, submarines "H" 21 and "G" 4 to be withdrawn and placed on the sale list; monitor "M" 33 to be withdrawn and placed in reserve; Southdown to be withdrawn and sold.

Devonport—Wakefield, Sturgeon, Tenacious and Flintshire to be withdrawn and their duties undertaken by other vessels in addition to their present duties. The disposal of the Flintshire is under consideration. The Iridescence is to be withdrawn from the Third Submarine Flotilla and sold. Nore—Tring to be placed in reserve.

The complements of ships have been under consideration and some economies effected therein.

ROSYTH DOCKYARD POSITION.

The following official statement was issued from 10 Downing street last night:—

"The Prime Minister, who was accompanied by the Secretary of State for Scotland and the Civil Lord of the Admiralty, received a deputation to-day from the representatives of the Corporations of the Cities of Edinburgh, Glasgow, Dundee, Dunfermline, the Convention of Burghs of Scotland, several Scottish members of Parliament and others, in connection with the proposed reduction of Rosyth Dockyard.

"The deputation was introduced by Sir William Sleigh, Lord Provost of Edinburgh, and various aspects of the case, both from the national and local standpoint, were placed before the Prime Minister.

"The Prime Minister, in reply, promised that the representations which the deputation had put to him should be most carefully weighted by himself and his colleagues before the final decision was arrived at."

The Times Parliamentary Correspondent writes:—"It is understood that the Cabinet will consider this morning the future of Rosyth and Pembroke Dockyards, though it is not certain that a definite decision will be reached. There is no reason to suppose, however, that the decision of the Admiralty to reduce them to a care-and-maintenance basis, in the interests of national economy, will be overruled by the Cabinet."

FREE STATE REVENUE.

RECEIPTS LOWER AND EXPENDITURE HIGHER.

The Free State Revenue and Expenditure figures to October 24, 1925, and the totals to October 25, 1924, are as follow:—

LAST WEEK'S FIGURES.

Last week the revenue amounted to £385,070, as compared with £739,879 for the previous week and £463,795 for the corresponding week of 1924. The principal difference as compared with last week is in Excise, which is £330,000 lower. Expenditure is £360,503 more than the previous week, and £304,503 above the same week last year. The following are the figures in detail:—

REVENUE.	Week Ending Oct. 24, 1925.	Week Ending Oct. 25, 1924.

Total Expenditure	£460,503	£156,003

EXCHEQUER BALANCE.

The only "other receipt" was £9,000 from Savings Certificates, bringing the week's income up to £394,070. The Expenditure at £460,503—there were no "other issues"—leaves a deficit of £66,433, which reduces the Exchequer balance to £2,964,011, as compared with £5,896,816 on same date last year. SACKVILLE STREET REBUILDING.

WORK BEGINS ON HAMMAM HOTEL SITE.

Since Monday last workmen have been busy on the site of the Hammam Hotel, Upper Sackville street, Dublin, in preparation for the reconstruction of the premises by Messrs. Meagher and Hayes, of Cork. The firm purchased the interests of the former owners a fortnight ago, and no time has been lost in getting to work on the building.

Commenting on this fact, a gentleman interested in the Sackville street ruined area told an Irish Times representative that he was not surprised at Messrs. Meagher and Hayes showing a desire to get the new Hammam Hotel ready for occupation as soon as possible, because the value of property there was already enhanced by the conviction that the Nelson Pillar will be removed altogether from the street.

That removal and the shifting of the tram centre to the Parnell Monument, together with the opening of the new thoroughfare, with a possible tram line to the North Strand, would make Upper Sackville street what it never was—an important shopping centre. He pointed out that it is contemplated that the ground floors of all the new buildings will be constructed for shops, the letting of which would go far to help the builders to meet the heavy costs of reconstruction over and above what they were awarded for compensation.

NO SHANNON SETTLEMENT.

CONTRACTORS' TERMS TO BE CONSIDERED BY LABOUR.

MORE MEN AT WORK.

2,000 ADDITIONAL APPLICATIONS RECEIVED.

Yesterday morning forty members of the Limerick National ex-Service Men's Organisation started work for the contractors for the Shannon scheme at Strand Barracks, Longpavement, and the Limerick docks at a wage of a shilling an hour for a fifty-four hour week.

Twenty-five of the men are engaged at the docks, under the supervision of German engineers, laying down a light railway. The docks and other places are being picketed by members of the Transport Workers' Union, and at dinner hour and again in the evening the men were escorted from their employment to their homes under the protection of the Civic Guard.

A Limerick Labour representative, when seen yesterday evening, stated that the action of these men may affect the negotiations between the Government and the National Executive of the Labour Party. At all events, it would not be a helpful factor.

LABOUR PESSIMISTIC.

RESULTS OF THE CONFERENCES.

FROM OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT

Following a conference between representatives of Messrs. Siemens-Schuckert, the contractors, and representatives of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce at Government Buildings on Monday, a communication was addressed by the Ministry to the Irish Labour Party yesterday. This communication, it is understood, contained certain proposals made by the contractors at the previous day's conference. From inquiries which were made in Labour circles yesterday one was able to gather that they are not in any way calculated to brighten the prospects of an early settlement.

It is now about a week since the Government intervened in the dispute. In a conference with Mr. O'Higgins, the Minister of Justice, and Mr. Ferguson, of the Department of Industry and Commerce, the Labour representatives explained their position, and presumably suggested a basis on which they would be prepared to negotiate with Messrs. Siemens-Schuckert. Having heard Labour's views, the representatives of the Government invited the contractors to state their case. Accordingly, Dr. MacLaughlin, Mr. Joseph McGrath, and one or two members of the contractors' engineering staff attended at Government Buildings on Monday. Mr. Ferguson, of the Department of Commerce, informed those gentlemen of Labour's views on the situation, and put before them the proposed basis for negotiations. Whatever this basis was, the representatives of the contractors apparently found themselves unable to accept it.

CONTRACTORS' ATTITUDE.

It was, I understand, pointed out to Mr. Ferguson that the contractors saw no reason to depart from the attitude outlined by them in their letter to Father Cleary, C.SS.R., of Limerick, about a week ago. In that letter, it will be remembered they suggested that the Limerick City workers, or their leaders, could not claim to speak on behalf of rural labour. "We do not understand," said the contractors in that letter, "what right the representatives of Limerick City labour have to refuse to accept rates in Limerick city, which they admit to be fair rates on the alleged grounds that other rates which do not concern them, offered to rural workers, and which are higher than those workers usually receive, are too low. . . The firm has no objection to discuss rates of wages and conditions of labour with any organised body representing the class of labour to be employed, but it must refuse to discuss the rates of wages for its rural workers with representatives of Limerick city workers."

In their interview with Mr. Ferguson, the representatives of Messrs. Siemens-Schuchert reiterated the view expressed in their letter, but at the same time expressed their readiness to meet accredited spokesmen of the class of workers which they intend shall be employed on the scheme. Apparently the contractors do not recognise the right or the authority of the Transport Union to speak on behalf of rural labour, and obviously while this recognition is withheld there is little likelihood of an early settlement of the dispute.

LETTER TO LABOUR PARTY.

Subsequent to the conference on Monday a letter was addressed to the Labour Party containing the contractors' reply to the proposals of the Labour representatives, and suggesting another and a different basis for negotiation. This communication, as has been stated, was received by the Labour Party yesterday, and a special meeting of the National Executive will be held to-night for the purpose of considering it.

The leaders of the Labour Party are no longer optimistic. Discussing the latest development with me yesterday, one of them commented that the position seemed now to be much the same as it was at the beginning. "Neither the Government nor the contracting firm," he remarked, "has manifested any readiness to understand our position, and if that is the spirit with which we are going to be met I am afraid that there is not very much hope of an early settlement."

GOVERNMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY.

Asked if the Government was in a position to mend matters, my informant replied that the Government had a direct responsibility in the matter. "On their own admission," he declared, "they have supplied the figures on which the contractors based their contract, and actually, indeed, it is they who fixed the wage of 32s. a week. They do not deny that they regard that as a fair wage, so, in the circumstances, we can hardly blame the contractors."

Asked if he thought that 32s. represented the contractors' maximum offer, he responded that he was not in a position to say that. "We have not been able to ascertain whether they could increase the wage and still do the work at the contract price, but, personally, I am inclined to think that 32s. is not their maximum offer. It seems much more probable that they have allowed themselves a margin to meet a situation of this kind. Mind, we are not concerned with the question of responsibility for the present trouble. We have our views and we have stated them, but what I wish to point out is that we do not care whether the contractors' estimate is based on 32s. or whether an increase in that wage will necessitate an increase in the contract price.

"I do not know—personally I do not believe—that an increase in the wage would mean extra expenditure by the Government. We have not been told that a supplementary estimate would be necessary, but if, by any chance, it should be, we certainly will know on whose shoulders to place the responsibility."

WORK PROCEEDING.

Meanwhile work on the scheme is proceeding. From Mr. McGrath I learned last night that in future workers will be employed only through the medium of the Labour Exchanges. Up to a few days ago men secured employment on the scheme merely by presenting themselves to the head ganger at the scene of operations. Every Labour Exchange in the twenty-six counties is now displaying notice of vacancies for unskilled labourers on the scheme, and from this onwards the worker seeking employment will have to report to one or other of these Exchanges.

Already, Mr. McGrath informs me, there have been received by the contractors in this way over 2,000 applications, quite apart from the 3,000 received in response to the advertisement, recently published by the contractors in the daily and weekly newspapers.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH SCOURGE.

ENGLISH FARMERS' HEAVY LOSSES.

DISEASE RAMPANT ON THE CONTINENT.

Addressing the Council of Agriculture in London yesterday, Mr. Wood, Minister for Agriculture, urged upon farmers the imperative necessity of the quick reporting of all suspected cases of foot-and-mouth disease.

While he did not think, so far as his advice went, that the situation was one which called upon them to be alarmists, it was undoubtedly grave. Since September 25th there had been sixty-one cases, and six areas were now under restrictions. The total number of animals slaughtered this year was 2,319 cattle, 1,240 sheep and 1,300 pigs, while the gross compensation paid was £82,000.

He was afraid that, with the proximity of the Continent, where the disease was rife, frequent and, perhaps, damaging fresh invasions were inevitable. This year in Denmark fifty thousand farms had been infected, while in Holland there were seven thousand during July and August.

The organisation of the Ministry was in a very much stronger position than two years ago.

TWO FRESH OUTBREAKS.

The Department of Lands and Agriculture are officially informed by the British Ministry of Agriculture that outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease have been confirmed—one at Little Bowden, near Market Harborough, Leicestershire, and another at Edith Weston, Rutland.

The usual precautions have been taken to prevent the spread of the disease, and the Ministry have issued orders prohibiting the movement of animals over a large area surrounding each of the infected places.

THE CIVIL WAR IN CHINA.

CONFERENCE CALLED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

PEKING, Tuesday.

The advance of General Sun Chuan Jang, the Chekiang leader, towards Hsuchow Fu continues slowly, owing to the lack of rolling stock; while the concentration of the Mukden troops there has been equally slow. For these reasons no serious fighting is expected for another week.

The Government has telegraphed to Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian War Lord; General Feng Yu-Hsiang, the so-called "Christian" General, and Yuch Wu-Chun, who is Feng's henchman, requesting each of them to send two delegates to Peking to discuss the situation.—(Reuter.)

MOVEMENT OF TROOPS.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.

PEKING, Tuesday.

There is a general movement of troops from Manchuria southward into Shantung, where an army of 100,000 strong is being concentrated with its front at Hsuchowfu, composed of Fengtien-Manchurian troops, who have retired from Nanking, 20 miles south of Hsuchowfu, and are retreating slowly up the Tientsin-Pukow Railway, followed at a respectful distance by small numbers of the Chekiang forces. The Honan troops continue to reinforce Kweiteh, about 100 miles west of Hsuchowfu, but they have not attempted to cross their own frontier. Feng Yu Hsiang declares his intention to remain neutral in the present struggle. So far as appearances go, the Yangstze combination is not receiving outside support, and in some quarters the view is that the Chekiang aggressor will not push matters further, but will be content with the large opium revenues to be derived from Shanghai and any other funds he can obtain from the railways, the salt tax, and the host of illegal taxes now fashionable in military circles, including forced levies on rich merchants.

FRENCH POLICE AND FOREIGNERS.

JEWISH HOSTEL RAIDED.

PARIS, Tuesday.

The police to-day raided a Jewish hostel and arrested 26 foreigners out of the 114 inmates. Twelve who had entered France without regular documents were immediately sent back to the frontier. Four others were imprisoned for infringement of a deportation order and for carrying false passports, while proceedings will be taken against ten others for being without identity cards.—(Reuter.)

A MATADOR'S FUNERAL.

REMARKABLE SCENES IN MADRID.

MADRID, Tuesday.

Extraordinary scenes took place to-day at the Church of Santa Cruz. An elaborate funeral Service had been arranged by the Bullfighters' Mutual Aid Society in memory of a matador who died on the 5th inst. at Soria as the result of injuries received in a scuffle at the Plaza de Toros.

The organisers of the function had secured the support of a well-known Spanish tenor, who is being very much talked about at the present moment, and who was going to sing some religious pieces.

No charge for admission was being made, but all would-be entrants were strictly required to show an invitation card. Notwithstanding this, the church and the adjacent streets were invaded by an enormous crowd, who behaved in such a noisy manner that the priest had to go into the pulpit and ask for silence. No heed was paid to his request, and he ultimately announced that the Service was suspended.

Great difficulty was met with in clearing the church, and the tenor was carried off in triumph by a party of enthusiastic admirers.—(Reuter.)

LORD CHANCELLOR AND A GENERAL STRIKE.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE PUBLIC.

Speaking on the subject of a general strike at the dinner of the Incorporated Accountants and Auditors, in London, last night, the Lord Chancellor issued a warning.

While no one, he said, sought to take away the right of the worker to withhold his labour, there was a new thing in these days—the general strike. Speaking as a lawyer to business men, he said that that was a condition of things which ought to be considered by thoughtful men. A strike that extended to essential public services might become something more than a strike—a conspiracy against the public.

In a time of emergency a Statute gave to the Government great powers, and they would have men of all parties at their back if they used them justly and wisely. It was their duty at the present moment to inquire whether those powers were sufficient for the protection of the public as a whole. If they appeared not sufficient, it was their duty either to ask Parliament to strengthen them or to find, if they could, some better way out. There was one sovereign remedy for troubles in which they found themselves to-day—longer and harder work.

Sir Burton Chadwick, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, expressed the opinion that the barometer of trade and industry was rising, and said that there was too much talk about cutting down wages and not enough about increasing earnings. The great obstruction to a wider system of payment by results was trade union administration, counselled by men in many cases not up to their responsibilities.

LATE NEWS.

FRENCH CRISIS.

FINANCIAL PROBLEM STILL REMAINS.

The Times, in a leading article upon the position in France, observes: Once more, after several days of acute excitement in Paris, she has proclaimed to the world, through the resignation of her Government, that her internal crisis is not yet overcome. It must be admitted that the Cabinet which has just resigned inspired at the time of its formation legitimate hopes of a gradual French recovery. It was a strong team. Something like a National Government was formed to confront what was felt by all classes and all parties to be a national crisis. The Cabinet seemed at once to embody the new and more liberal spirit of the country, and its reserves of experience and efficiency. It began to govern in that spirit. It restored the shaken confidence of the country, and secured the provisional support, both of the moderate elements of the Parliamentary majority, and on certain questions, even of the Opposition.

Now the position has changed. On the very eve of the Parliamentary session the old party issues have been revived in an acute form, and they are complicated by personal antagonism. It is difficult, even now, to tell the story in full, since in Paris some forces are at work that the outside world can hardly be expected to appreciate. Meanwhile, the financial problem remains unchanged. The simple, severe and effective means of facing it have been fully explained to the country by M. Caillaux, and cannot be ignored by his successor, whoever he may be. The further development of this prolonged crisis will be watched with intense interest not in this country alone.

THE SCHNEIDER CUP.

DISAPPOINTMENT IN BRITAIN.

There is no need to be dispirited about the result, is the editorial comment of The Times upon the air race for the Schneider Cup. Disappointment is naturally keen, because great faith had been placed by this country in the unlucky monoplane, the supermarine Napier S 4. The pole which fell upon it during the storm of the night of October 10-11 may conceivably, because of the machine's construction, have weakened its fabric. To say this is not, of course, to detract in any way from the performance of the American winner, which had to live through the same stormy weather, and pass its preliminary test in the same unfavourable circumstances. In any case, the super-marine Napier monoplane lived long enough to show that British designers have not sunk into a groove, as has sometimes been alleged, nor are they incapable of producing new and original work.

It is clearly essential that Great Britain should have a flourishing aircraft industry, broad based and capable of expansion in a national emergency. There is abundant justification, therefore, for the policy of the Air Ministry in ordering these high speed racers and lending them to the constructing firms for competition in the Schneider Cup. Without Government assistance the fine British effort would not have been possible at all. Having set her mind to the task, Great Britain should not relax any effort next year to win the Cup for the third time, and preparations should be taken in hand at once.

GENERAL SARRAIL'S POLICY.

The Morning Post, referring to the scenes in Damascus, says:—We have no doubt that General Sarrail will be requested by the French Government to justify the orders under which the corpses of brigands were bound upon camels and led through the streets of Damascus. That revolting spectacle, far from intimidating the bands of marauders and rioters, roused them to make reprisals. When the whole city was in an uproar the French authorities attacked it with tanks and aeroplanes, and finished with a twenty-four hours' bombardment. Some damage was done to British property; the Europeans took refuge where they could, and as many as could find transport fled from Damascus. It is to be feared that the results of the action of the French military authorities will be extremely serious. As to the policy pursued in Syria by General Sarrail, we may be permitted to say that at no time could it by any possibility have achieved the peace and security desired by the French nation.

SCHNEIDER CUP WINNER'S NEW RECORD.

SPEED OF 245 MILES AN HOUR.

BALTIMORE, Tuesday.

In the course of a test flight over a three-kilometre stretch here this afternoon, Lieutenant Doolittle, the Schneider Cup winner, piloting the same Curtiss Army Racer that took him to victory yesterday, attained what is believed to be a record speed for seaplanes—namely, 245 miles per hour. This was accomplished with a diving start.—(Reuter.)

6,000 MILES FLIGHT.

THREE BRITISH MACHINES START.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CAIRO, Tuesday.

A sub-flight of three machines of the Royal Air Force, under Squadron Leader Coningham, left Cairo this morning on a 6,000 mile flight to Kana and return.

The purpose of the expedition is to gain information concerning Equatorial flying conditions.

THE IRISH PILGRIMS

TO ARRIVE HOME ON SATURDAY.

The Irish Pilgrmage to Rome will return to Ireland on Saturday, via Holyhead and Kingstown. The pilgrims will arrive by special steamer at Kingstown at about 7.30 in the morning.

Two special trains will be waiting on the Carlisle Pier. President Cosgrave and his party will be accommodated with a special saloon in the second train.

TRAIN'S FALL INTO A RAVINE.

TEN PERSONS KILLED IN AMERICA.

MEMPHIS, Tuesday.

The train which was derailed at Victoria, Mississippi, to-day, when ten persons were reported killed and twenty injured, was the well-known Sunnyland express, of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway, consisting of three luggage vans, nine ordinary coaches and Pullman cars.

The train was crossing a trestle bridge, while travelling at the rate of fifty miles an hour, when the accident occurred. The engine and one of the luggage vans had crossed the bridge in safety, but the remainder of the train fell into the ravine below.

Most of the casualties occurred in three of the coaches, which had dived headlong into a clay-bank, other coaches rolling over on the top of them and forming a tangled mass of wreckage. The scene of the disaster was a lonely and isolated spot, and according to the latest reports many of the injured died before a relief train could be rushed to their assistance.—(Reuter.)

MISHAP TO THE CELTIC.

BOSTON, Tuesday.

While pulling out from the pier to-day on her way to New York, the liner Celtic dropped a blade of her starboard propeller. The vessel will have to go into dry dock for several days to enable the necessary repairs to be done. Her passengers have been sent to their destinations by special train. The Celtic arrived at Boston 36 hours late, after a rough passage from Liverpool. She appeared, however, not to have sustained any damage.

M. PAINLEVÉ RESIGNS.

FRENCH CRISIS DEVELOPS.

EX-PREMIER MAY BE NEW FINANCE MINISTER.

CAPITAL LEVY ISSUE.

POSSIBILITIES OF AN EARLY GENERAL ELECTION.

AS expected, the French Cabinet resigned yesterday, and the political crisis in France will probably be intensified as the result. One of the immediate effects will probably be the raising of the capital levy issue by the Left majority in the Chamber. It is suggested that M. Painlevé will reassume the Premiership, and that he will take over M. Caillaux's portfolio as Minister of Finance.

The names most mentioned in connection with the new Cabinet (says Reuter) are those of MM. Painlevé, Herriot and Briand. The betting favours M. Painlevé. It is considered certain that the next Government will tend more to the Left than the last, and be able to count on the support of all the Left Parties—in fact, a sort of second edition of the Herriot Government, with or without M. Herriot.

M. PAINLEVE'S STATEMENT.

After handing in the resignation to the President yesterday, M. Painlevé made the following declaration to journalists present:—

"The President of the Republic, in conformity with constitutional usage, will hold the customary consultations. Whatever may be the result, the statesman who may be called upon to form a Government, and who will certainly be actuated by considerations of what is in the best interests of the country in the vital circumstances through which we are passing, can count upon my loyal support to aid him as a good soldier of the Republic and of France."

M. Painlevé observed that in any event he did not believe it possible that the future Cabinet would be formed in time to meet Parliament on Thursday, adding that the resignation of the Cabinet had been practically decided upon since Friday last.

DANGERS AHEAD.

THE QUESTION OF A CAPITAL LEVY.

FROM THE "WESTMINSTER GAZETTE" CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Tuesday.

The Painlevé Ministry resigned to-day. Thus ends the first chapter of a very perilous adventure, which involves not merely the parliamentary future of a handful of near-sighted politicians, but also the finance of the nation, and possibly the whole political structure of France. It is beyond the power of anyone to forecast the consequences which may result from the recent unfortunate development, but in many quarters it is believed that it will be difficult to avoid dissolution.

Actually the announcement of resignation, which was made at two o'clock, came as a surprise in point of time, for after a meeting of Ministers this morning it had been stated that a full meeting of the Cabinet would take place at the Elysée at 3.15, and it was thought that resignation would come only after this.

M. Painlevé, however, went to the Elysée immediately after lunch, to notify President Doumergue of the Cabinet's decision, and on leaving he read the following communiqué to the waiting journalists:—

"The Cabinet at a previous meeting examined with favour the projects prepared by the Minister of Finance. At its meeting this morning it interrupted the discussion which had begun, and which had brought out no fundamental differences of opinion among the members. The purpose was to go over the political and parliamentary situation, as manifested recently by the various parties.

"The Government came to the conclusion that the urgent task of national reconstruction cannot be undertaken without the certainty of a considerable majority in Parliament. It, therefore, decided, unanimously, to hand in its collective resignation to the President of the Republic."

To the surprise caused by the phrases: "Examine with favour" and "No fundamental difficulties." M. Painlevé added another by remarking that resignation had really been decided upon on Friday last, and temporary continuance in office was merely agreed to in order to enable M. Briand to preside over the meeting of the League of Nations, and lead the first move against war after Locarno.

An important new factor, however, had entered into the situation with the return to Paris of M. Herriot, leader of the Radical Socialist Party, whose capital levy resolution at Nice had brought the crisis to a head. The Premier called on M. Herriot the first thing this morning, and asked him if he would accept a portfolio should the Cabinet be reconstructed without M. Caillaux.

M. Herriot showed no willingness, but indicated that any Ministry must take its inspiration from the resolution of the Radical Socialist Congress, and govern only with a majority of the Left.

This left virtually no choice to M. Painlevé, and at the meeting of Ministers, which took place directly afterwards, several Radical Socialists are understood to have said to M. Caillaux: "With what majority can we govern if we accept your project?" adding that they intended to follow the spirit of the Nice resolution.

The usual procedure will now be followed for the next day or so—that of consultation with the Presidents of Chambers and group leaders by President Doumergue, with a general expectation that M. Painlevé will be asked to reconstitute the Cabinet, probably with himself as nominal Finance Minister.

A GREATER CRISIS.

The formation of such a Cabinet would only be the first stage leading to a new, and possibly greater crisis. Projects of financial reform must be reproduced with rapidity, and the only projects in existence are those of M. Caillaux, which may be considered as rejected in advance, and that of the Socialist Party for a capital levy, which has already been defeated in this Chamber by a substantial majority.

At any rate, M. Painlevé, by resigning, has put the Cartel des Gauches under the necessity of making up its mind whether it will be responsible in Parliament to form a capital levy.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Tuesday.

It will be observed that the official communiqué announcing the resignation of the Government makes clear the point, which before all things it is necessary to remember in regard to this crisis—namely, that it is political rather than financial. In fact the painful financial situation has been more than ever forgotten—except perhaps by M. Painlevé, who will presumably be M. Caillaux's successor—in the desire to get rid of M. Caillaux and thereby simplify for the moment the political situation.

THE TWO PLANS.

All parties are agreed that a sinking fund must be established to redeem the floating debt. Two different methods are proposed for finding the necessary fund, but there are obstacles in the way of getting a majority for either of them in Parliament.

The Socialists, and the more socialistic of the Socialist-Radicals, are for some form of capital levy, but they do not muster enough votes to carry the idea in the Chamber, to say nothing of the Senate.

M. Caillaux would raise the fund by increasing and extending the scope of the income tax. There are probably sufficient deputies whose convictions would allow them to support him, but a majority in the Chamber could only be obtained by splitting the cartel in two.

This is exactly what the majority of the Cabinet wish to avoid. It has been the desire to save the cartel at all costs, which has led to the elimination of M. Caillaux.

SUPPORT OF THE SOCIALISTS.

M. Caillaux's opponents have succeeded in their first object. With M. Caillaux away, the Socialists would find no difficulty in supporting the new Cabinet, which will greatly resemble the last, except for the Minister of Finance and probably two or three other members.

It is impossible to foretell what measures M. Painlevé, if he takes the portfolio of Finance, will propose to meet the urgent situation, but it must be supposed that his programme will be an expression of the formula devised at the Nice Congress.

We may naturally expect a scheme for taxing capital sufficiently positive in form to satisfy the Socialists. It will be remembered that in April last M. de Monzie, who was summoned to succeed M. Clementel as Minister of Finance in the last days of the Herriot Government, produced a scheme of this sort overnight.

MAY NOT LAST LONG.

But, whatever its nature, it is difficult to imagine that any bid for taxing capital which satisfies the Socialists will get through the Senate. If, therefore, the new Government has no better inspiration for its policy than the Nice formula, it cannot be expected that it will last long; for, if we set aside all these political considerations, which are really irrelevant, the financial problem remains as urgent and menacing as ever.

MOTOR MENACE TO RAILWAYS.

PROTEST AGAINST NEWRY-FREE STATE 'BUS SERVICE.

When the serious position of the Free State railways, particularly in regard to motor competition, came up for consideration, Dundalk Trades Council unanimously decided to protest against the granting of licences by the Urban Council for motor 'bus services from Newry through the Free State.

Mr. Byrne, a railway worker, who proposed the resolution, said that there had been over 800 men employed on the Great Northern Railway at Dundalk, but that recently, owing to slackness of trade, 200 were left without work. The works of the Great Northern Railway were the backbone of Dundalk, and if 600 more men were left unemployed in the town they could not contemplate the state of the people of Dundalk. The railways contributed very largely to the national exchequer, while the motor companies merely made personal profit and cost the ratepayers huge sums annually in keeping good roads for them.

The President (Mr. Halpin) said that if they were to protect the country from "foreign exploitation" and the spirit of materialism and imperialism they would have to watch moves of the kind mentioned. They could not afford to lose or injure existing institutions in the interests of doubtful undertakings.

Mr. Duff said that they should also insist that motor drivers should undergo thorough examinations as to physical fitness and efficiency before a licence was granted, and the motor owners should be compelled to take out third party insurance policies, so as adequately to cover risks to their passengers.

Mr. Toal said that the Government should be asked to levy such a road tax upon heavy lorries and all other vehicles, other than horse vehicles, carrying merchandise and passengers as would make the railways an economic undertaking.

Resolutions on the lines referred to were passed and ordered to be sent to the local bodies and the Government.

MOTOR TRAFFIC IN TYRONE.

PROPOSAL TO TAX ALL CARS ON THE SAME BASIS.

The Roads Committee of Tyrone County Council met specially to formulate proposals to be submitted to the Government, with the object of having them incorporated in the new regulations which are being framed to deal with motor traffic.

Amongst the recommendations made were—That the maximum weight of any vehicle when loaded should not exceed five tons; that commercial vehicles be graded according to weight; and that a super-tax be charged on all vehicles exceeding three tons.

It was pointed out that hackney motor-cars used the road much more extensively than privately-owned cars, although Ford hackneys were taxed at almost half, and the committee recommended that the hackney tax be abolished, and that all motor-cars be taxed on the same basis.

It was also decided to recommend that the tax on char-a-bancs and heavy lorries be doubled; that the tax on all other forms of commercial vehicles be increased; that traillers be doubled; that traction engines used for haulage purposes be doubled; and that engines used for threshing of oats or for agricultural purposes be exempt. It was further decided to recommend that a uniform time be fixed for lighting-up of motor vehicles at both front and back.

INCITING TO GIVE FALSE EVIDENCE.

WOMAN FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Mrs. Margaret McGrail, St. Michael's road, Longford, pleaded not guilty at Longford Circuit Court on Monday to a charge of inciting Kathleen McGowan to give false evidence in cases of alleged assault and threatening language, which came before the District Court.

Kathleen McGowan, who said that she was nearly sixteen years of age, stated that Mrs. McGrail told her to swear in evidence that, in a row between the McGrails and the Croghans, Tommie Croghan called defendant a bad name; that Mrs. McGrail did not use bad language on the occasion; that Mrs. Croghan pelted the McGrails with stones, and that Jimmy McGrail (her husband) did not kick Tommie Croghan.

Mrs. McGrail gave evidence, and denied that she ever told Kathleen McGowan to swear lies in the cases. She told her only to tell the truth. The house was not filled with stones, and she did not tell McGowan to say that.

After a short absence the jury found a verdict of not guilty, and the defendant was discharged.

12 COMMUNISTS TRIED AT BOW ST.

LETTERS TO "COMRADE LOSOKSKY."

Twelve Communists, charged with conspiracy to publish seditious libels and with breaches of the Incitement to Mutiny Act, appeared on remand at Bow street Police Court, London, yesterday.

Detective Sergeant Charles Renshaw said that among the documents taken from the Communist Party office in King street was a book entitled, "Thesis of the Communist International, complete, as adopted by the Second Congress of Moscow in August, 1920." Another publication, called the "Empire Rebel," was, apparently, said witness, circulated among factory workers.

Sir Travers Humphreys read a copy of a letter addressed to the Secretariat, Third International, Moscow, and signed, "Yours fraternally, General Secretary." The letter referred to arrangements for rendering assistance to Bulgarian comrades.

Another letter read by counsel stated: "There is no objection to members of party joining police force if they are thoroughly reliable members. Half a dozen party members in the police force in bigger towns like Glasgow would certainly be very useful."

WAGES FROM MOSCOW.

Another circular, bearing the date January 17th, 1924, addressed to Comrade Losoksky, Moscow, dealt with the question of money promised, but not sent, to England. Counsel read one passage as follows:—

"As you see from the budget, the total indebtedness of the Bureau is £257 14s. Had we received the full amount promised us for the six months ending December we would not now refer to this debt. You remember we were promised £150 each month for six months ending December—a total of £900. A further sum was promised for wages of the president and secretary."

Detective Sergeant Renshaw was cross-examined by several of the defendants on the subject of the documents found.

Sir Travers Humphreys—What quantity of documents did you take away from King street?

Witness—About a quarter of a million, sir. (Laughter.) It took a little over seven hours to remove them, he added.

The next witness was Mr. William Francis Moss, managing director of the London Caledonian Press, Ltd. He spoke of the printing of the "Workers' Weekly." Witness admitted that he wrote a letter to Mr. Inkpin saying he did not think he ought to publish a particular cartoon, and it was not published.

Answering Mr. Campbell, one of the defendants, who asked what were his fears regarding the printing of it, witness said "that it was against the law. We submitted it to our solicitors, and we did not print it."

Witness was asked a number of questions by Campbell and Pollitt. He was not frequently rejecting cartoons as being seditious, but this was a very exceptional case.

"Was it not," asked Pollitt, "a cartoon in which the cartoonist was endeavouring to depict men who were under the new Insurance Act, but who would be thrown off the unemployment donation on the ground that they were not generally seeking work, and that the Prince of Wales came within the same category?"

Witness—"I cannot tell you; I have not the foggiest idea."

The hearing was adjourned until to-day.

OBITUARY.

MR. FRANCIS BERGIN.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Francis Bergin, which occurred at his residence, Beech Grove, Kildare, yesterday.

Born in Kildare in 1855, Mr. Bergin pursued his early collegiate career at the Jesuit College, Tullabeg, and later at Trinity College, Dublin, where he graduated in Arts to the B.A. Degree, and later as a Bachelor of Engineering. He was also certified by the Civil Service Commissioners and the British Government as being qualified to fill the position of County Surveyor.

A well-known figure in Irish engineering circles, the late Mr. Bergin was a member, and past President, of the Institute of Civil Engineers of Ireland, and a member of the Engineering Association of New South Wales, Australia. He was the author of papers on graphic statics, the metallic arch, the drainage of the River Barrow, and on the Kildare and other sewerage works; and was engaged for seven years on the Government railways of New South Wales. He acted as Resident Engineer for the Barrow Drainage Survey, made for the purpose of bills introduced by Mr. Balfour when he was Chief Secretary for Ireland; and was subsequently employed as engineer to the Grand Canal Company. He was, for the past 31 years, engineer to the Naas Rural District Council. Later he acted as assessor to the North Dublin Rural District Council in connection with schemes for the water supply and sewage of the Howth and Sutton areas.

Among other schemes carried out by the late Mr. Bergin were sewage works for Naas, Sallins, Newbridge, Castleblayney, Ballybay, Birr, and Kildare; sewage schemes at present under consideration for Monaghan, Dungarvan, New Ross, Carlow, Carrickmacross, Athenry, Tuam, and Loughrea; and waterworks for the majority of these districts.

He was consulting engineer for the new Roundwood reservoir, and other waterworks improvements schemes all over the country.

SIR THOMAS BRODRICK.

The death occurred at Eccles yesterday of Sir Thomas Brodrick, General Secretary of the Co-operative Wholesale Society from 1899 to 1923. He had been associated with the movement for over 50 years, and was knighted in 1922.

LORD METHUEN ON TEMPERANCE.

Field Marshal Lord Methuen, opening a bazaar at Bristol yesterday in aid of the Police Court Mission, said that he and Lady Methuen, who was absent through illness, had always supported the Mission. He was keen on temperance, but they must not bore people with it. Temperance was making its way. Fanatics started many big movements, but they became a nuisance. When he joined the Army in 1864 there was much drunkenness, but he had only seen two drunken soldiers in the last four years.

MR. WILL THORNE, M.P., MARRIED.

When the West Ham Town Council met last night the Town Clerk read a letter from Alderman Will Thorne, M.P., in which he said that he could not attend the meeting, as he was married that morning.

The Council agreed to send its congratulations to the alderman. Mr. Thorne sent several members of the Council a wedding card, which in silver lettering conveyed 'Mr. and Mrs. Will Thorne's kind regards," and gave an address at Hammersmith, West London.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING SCHEME FOR EDENDERRY.

It is proposed to provide electric light for Edenderry. Tenders for the supply of current were considered at King's County Board of Health meeting yesterday, but no tender was accepted. It was decided to re-advertise, giving more details as to what the period of lighting would be, etc.

The Bank of Ireland, Tullamore, offered a loan, subject to sanction, of £700 in connection with the work at ½ per cent. under the Irish bank rate, repayable in 10 years.

It was stated that the Edenderry banks refused to tender.

The cost of lighting, it was calculated, would be 1s. 1½d. in the £, on the people of Edenderry.

The Commissioner requested the L.G.D. to sanction the loan of £700.

BALKAN CRISIS.

GREEK TROOPS ORDERED TO WITHDRAW.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENTS.
ATHENS, Tuesday.

The Greek Government has ordered the prompt evacuation of Bulgarian territory immediately after the Greek frontier guards have returned to their posts.

THE DEMAND FOR REPARATIONS.
PARIS, Tuesday.

The sole points in common between the Greek and Bulgarian arguments presented at the League Council meeting this morning were that both demanded reparations and sanctions.

M. Morfoff, the Bulgarian Minister in Paris, stressed the defencelessness of Bulgaria owing to her disarmament under the Treaty of Neuilly, while M. Carapanos, the Greek Minister in Paris, asserted that the Greek military movements were purely of a defensive nature.

M. Morfoff declared that the Bulgarian casualties up to yesterday totalled 48 killed and wounded.

M. Briand pointed out that the Græco-Rumanian agreement for the withdrawal of the troops in no way affected yesterday's decision of the Council, although the latter welcomed any agreement between the two parties. He added that, according to information received that morning, rifle fire was still continuing in the frontier district, but he hoped that better news would be received in the course of the day.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain asked the Greek representative how deep was the Greek penetration into Bulgarian territory, and how deep, according to Greek assertions, was the Bulgarian penetration into Greece.

He explained that he asked this question because, according to information he had received, the Bulgarian penetration into Greece was to a depth of from five to fifteen metres.

The Greek representative replied that the Bulgarian penetration was to a depth of from four to five hundred metres, namely—to the line of the Greek frontier post, which, he alleged, the Bulgarians had occupied. He said that the depth of the Greek penetration was hard to estimate. The Greek advance was undertaken as a turning movement, but he admitted that the Greek forces had advanced eight kilometres, and had occupied a strategic position in Bulgarian territory.

The Council meets again to-morrow.

REPORTED FIRING ON BULGARIAN TOWNS.

SOFIA, Tuesday.

Greek rifle and machine-gun fire was reported to-day between noon and 3 p.m. in the direction of Petritch. At the same time the Greek artillery is said to have bombarded the village of Petrova.—(Reuter.)

MOSUL AT THE HAGUE.

SIR DOUGLAS HOGG'S APPEAL TO TURKEY.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
THE HAGUE, Tuesday.

The International Court of Justice resumed its consideration to-day of the League of Nations' request for a decision upon the powers of the League concerning the Mosul frontier dispute between Britain and Turkey.

Sir Douglas Hogg, the British Attorney-General, resumed his arguments as to why the Court should decide that in giving its arbitral award the Council's majority should suffice, and that unanimity was not required. Sir Douglas quoted numerous text books supporting the "majority principle." He pointed out that Article VIII. of the recent Lo[illegible] mentions a majority decision, an[illegible] occurred in numerous other treaties.

Sir Douglas insisted that it was Turkey which was repudiating the Treaty. He said that the British Government still hoped that the Turkish Government would not persist in its attitude. He hoped that the decision of that great Court would help her to see her position in its true light, and to recognise the obligations which she had undertaken. It was only if Turkey should persist in repudiating her promise, and should maintain the attitude that she was not bound by the undertaking so solemnly given, and by the Treaty so laboriously concluded, that Great Britain would assert her own release from the bond which the other party would have destroyed, and claim the liberty of action which the other party had already assumed.

To-morrow Turkey will be given an opportunity of orally stating its case, but it is understood that she will not avail herself of the opportunity.

MOSUL AREA DEPORTATIONS.

The following is a copy of a telegram of yesterday's date received by the "Friends of Armenia" Relief Committee from Captain G. F. Gracey, D.S.O., Mosul:—"Personally investigated escaped Christian deportees from Turkey to Bersivi and Zakho. Condition appalling and inhuman. Robbed women, and children cruelly maltreated. Girls sold, aged put to death. Many in mountains will perish from cold and hunger. Request Lord Radstock to appeal to public conscience that measures be taken to safeguard interests of these ancient Christians. Inform Buxton to request Cardinal Bourne to act on behalf of Chaldeans. Can you send grant through High Commissioner to Jardine, Mosul, for immediate relief, and appeal for funds?"

FRENCH GOVERNMENT TRAWLER

AT QUEENSTOWN FOR REPAIRS.

The French Government trawler Tanche, which arrived at Queenstown on Monday, will dock for repairs to engine defects, caused during bad weather over the week-end. The repair work will take only a few days.

It is understood that the Tanche is engaged in research work, studying the courses taken by mackerel and herrings during the migration periods. She is also surveying an important fishing bank about sixty miles south-east of Dursey Island.

ELECTION OF SLANEY CONSERVATORS.

ALLEGED IRREGULARITIES.

The Slaney Board of Conservators had under consideration on Monday a communication from the Ministry of Fisheries stating that a letter had been received from the Slaney Anglers' Association which alleged that the electino of conservators at Newtownbarry Courthouse on the 7th inst. was not carried out in accordance with the Ministry instructions, and requested that a new election should be held in which voting would be private.

The Clerk to the Board (Mr. T. Neill) said that he had replied to the Ministry stating that an ex-officio member of the Board of Conservators, who believed that he had a right to be present at the election, was present, but did not interfere with either the Chairman or the voters. One fisherman's licence was issued by Mr. Hall Dare, but as the fisherman did not call for it Mr. Hall Dare brought it to the Courthouse, and was handing it to the owner when Father Campion came in and asked to have the licence returned to the registered owner so that he could vote.

The Board approved of the Clerk's reply.

'BUS AND TRAMCAR COLLIDE.

Seven people were injured as the result of a collision between a 'bus and a London County Council tram-car in Well street, Hackney, shortly before eight o'clock yesterday morning. The 'bus skidded in front of a No. 77 tram-car, and a collision ensued, as a result of which the driver's platform was damaged and the driver pinned against the steps leading to the top of the tram.

None of the tram-car passengers was injured; but several of those in the 'bus were cut by the flying glass from the 'bus windows, which were smashed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE FARMERS' UNION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—What is wrong with the Farmers' Union? Though the farmers pay 75 per cent. of the rates and taxes, they have only a handful of members in Dail or Senate, and on only a few County Councils have they a working majority, and this in spite of proportional representation. How much weight is given to the advice of farmers when legislation affecting their interests is proposed? Their spokesmen lay the blame on the apathy of farmers who will not take the trouble to join the Union or even to vote. Quite so, but does not that very apathy prove that neither the men nor their policy appeal to the average farmer? He may often be ignorant, he may often be uneducated, but he has certain definite opinions even if he is unable or unwilling to defend them. The fact is that without organisation the farmer is powerless, and without the steady backing of the farmers the organisation is useless. What is the way out? Reports of county meetings do not help much; long, windy discussions of petty details, with resolutions blaming Guinness or the Government, seem to take up all the time. There may be something about wages, but little to help us to pay them. Of a broad underlying policy which appeals to all farmers—whether they go in for grazing or tillage, dairying or potatoes—there is not even a hint.

There is one matter that does appeal to all farmers; they all pay rates and taxes, and the burden of these is paralysing all useful work in the Free State to-day, while raising the cost of living, so that work was never so badly needed. Therefore, the first item of the Farmers' Union policy should be to reduce these and give immediate relief as far as possible. The bulk of rates and taxes goes to provide wages for working men and salaries for officials. The working men are employed by the week, and can easily be dismissed or have their wages reduced. The officials are employed by the year, are generally entitled to generous pensions on retirement, and, generally speaking, can only have their salaries reduced by special legislation. It is evident that reductions can easily be made in the wages bill, but is it fair to cut down the man with 30s. a week or the old age pensioner with 10s. and leave untouched the man with from £10 to £30 per week? Special legislation to this end will take time, and is not likely to pass the present Dail; but, after all, there will be a new Dail in a year or so, and the time is not too long to organise the farmers and work up public opinion before the next election.

The second item of the policy should be combination of the farmers in every branch of production, and pooling of the products, beginning with pigs or barley. Think what could be done by pooling pigs by means of a county association handling 2,000 pigs a week. A farmer would give a week's notice of so many pigs for sale of given weights; the association would collect the pigs, paying, say, two-thirds of their value at once, the balance to be paid after the sale of the pigs. The pigs would be forwarded to Denny's, if Denny's price was in line with Northern prices, which are generally 10s. to 20s. per cwt. higher than here—otherwise to the Wexford meat factory, Birmingham, Cardiff, or elsewhere. The farmer might not always get the price he expected, but such a system would control to a large extent the fluctuations in price which have caused such a lamentable decrease in the pig population of the Free State, while the luck penny alone would pay all the expenses of the association. So also with barley, oats and the like—pools may not give a fortune, but they will help to control fluctuations in the markets.

Once more, sir, the farmer cannot get on without his union or the union without him. Therefore, it is "up to" the union to justify its existence, and these suggestions may offer some small assistance to that end.—Yours, etc.,

CRUELTY TO CATTLE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—"Citizen," in your issue of the 16th inst., draws attention to a scene on the North Circular road, when he saw a drover strike a beast and also saw a tram-driver deliberately run his tram into two bullocks. Might I suggest to "Citizen," or anyone else who sees such incidents, to speak to the drover and tell him that he will give him in charge if he sees such conduct again? Also "Citizen" might have taken the number of the tram and sent it to the police, who, I have no doubt, would have taken action in this case. I should like to say that I have always seen tram-drivers most careful to avoid doing damage to live-stock when driving through droves of them. If the general public, when they see cruelty in the driving of live-stock through the city, would speak to the men who are in charge of the stock and inform them that they will be reported to the police or the R.S.P.C.A., it would do more to check this abuse than all the letters that could ever be written to our daily Press.

Some time ago there was a Government inquiry into the transit and general treatment of live-stock, and a report was issued, making certain recommendations, but no one seems to know if anything is going to be done about this most important matter. On days when racing is taking place at Baldoyle and other places near the city there seems to be no lack of police to regulate the traffic. I would suggest to the authorities that a dozen constables be put on duty between the Cattle Market and the North Wall every Thursday, with instructions to see that live-stock are not abused between these two points.

Years ago Ireland was a grain-exporting country, but foreign competition killed that form of agriculture, and now it seems that, unless we can land our live-stock in Great Britain in as good or better condition than the Canadians we shall lose that also. In my opinion, everyone in Ireland, whether connected with the live-stock trade or not, should join in a crusade to see that our cattle and sheep reach cross-Channel markets in such a condition that buyers will purchase them, feeling certain that they will obtain a carcase of meat free from bruises inflicted in railway wagons and stick-marks from ashplants.—Yours, etc.,

G. H. LENNON, junior, President,
Dublin Cattle Salemasters' Association.
29 Prussia street, Dublin,
October 26th, 1925.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Last Thursday I was in the neighbourhood of the Cattle Markets for some hours. I had not been there for some three months, and was astonished—and much pleased—to see the vast improvement which has been effected by the police in the treatment of the animals in the streets around there. A large drove of cattle passed along the Phibsborough and Glasnevin junction, and the absence of the sound of blows, as heretofore, and absence of shouting, and the orderly behaviour of animals in consequence, was, indeed, a gratifying testimony to the work of the constables in that district.

The children in many parts of the city have promised to help to put a stop to the beating of animals in the streets, and all that is required now is the hearty co-operation of all grown-up people, who must try to summon up sufficient courage to help also by remonstrating forcibly with cruel people, no matter what species of animal is being ill-treated. The only people whom I saw beating cattle or sheep on that day were a couple of small butchers, who, with their own men, were driving a few animals to their own yards. They should know by a perusal of the newspapers that this treatment results only in loss to themselves.—Yours, etc.,

ARMISTICE DAY IN DUBLIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—With reference to Mr. Toner's letter in your issue of yesterday's date regarding Armistice Day, his suggestion is good in a sense; but, as the same day is not observed as a general holiday, I think that it would be rather inconvenient for those who can only get off from their employment for a short space of time to proceed to the Phœnix Park. Therefore, I suggest that we should have the memorial crosses and the two minutes' silence in Merrion square, which is more central for everybody, and would not interfere with the traffic.—Yours, etc.,

KILLESTER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I am always grateful for any information, and I should be glad if Commander MacCabe would inform me of the dates when (1) the houses at Killester were inhabited, and (2) the Killester halt on the Great Northern Railway was opened for passenger traffic. If my memory serves me rightly, more than a year elapsed between, and I think that I am fairly entitled to use this as an argument to show that the development of housing and transport facilities should be so co-ordinated as to proceed simultaneously.—Yours, etc.,

ABBEY PLAYER'S DEBUT AT OXFORD.

NEW PLAYHOUSE TO BE BUILT.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
OXFORD, Tuesday.

Miss Gladys Roberts, of the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, who has joined the Oxford Players, made her début when the opening performance of the term was given last night. The production was Somerset Maugham's comedy, "The Circle," and at the close Mr. J. B. Fagan, the director, announced that it was proposed to build a new playhouse in Oxford, and that a well-known public trust had agreed to make a grant to the Players for the coming year.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN DONEGAL.

LABOUR REPRESENTATIVE AND THE CAUSES.

At the Donegal County Council meeting yesterday, Mr. Charles McPhelimy, Labour representative, brought forward a resolution dealing with unemployment. He declared that those who controlled the ship of State had the moral right to see that everyone got work, in order to provide the necessaries of life. If the Government failed it was the duty of the workers to rise up in mutiny against them.

Mr. James Clarke said that talk like that would only encourage them to mutiny.

The Chairman (Mr. McFadden) asked Mr. McPhelimy if he had any concrete proposals.

Mr. McPhelimy said that he desired to give an exposition of causes of unemployment, and if the Council would not listen it would go forth that it was a hostile body.

Amid considerable interruptions, Mr. McPhelimy proceeded to speak on the subject, and said that the fundamental cause of unemployment in Ireland was their relations with England, and England's exploitation of this country in the interest of British Imperialism. He proposed a resolution, that the condition of a large percentage of the people of Donegal, living on barren reservations allotted to them through the plantation of Ulster, be the subject of special consideration when Article 5 of the Anglo-Irish Treaty was being adjusted.

Mr. Sweeny said that work had been provided on the Shannon scheme, but the workers would not do it. If people were prepared to work they would find it.

Mr. Gallen (farmer), seconding the resolution, said that the remedy lay in the imposition of tariffs. There should be a tax on flour and wheat.

Mr. Mahony proposed an amendment to the effect that the state of unemployment in the county be brought to the notice of the Government, which should be asked to start works immediately.

Eventually the amendment was withdrawn, and the resolution was passed.

Mr. McPhelimy said that the wage on the Shannon scheme was not an economic wage. The workers could not be sacrificed in building up the country.

HOUSES FULL OF LOOT.

A number of claims for goods taken from canal boats in 1922 and 1923 came before Temporary Circuit Judge B. Roche at Tullamore, and in almost all cases Rahan was mentioned as the point at which the boats were raided.

Mr. J. Rogers, State Solicitor, said that Rahan was at the time a cover for armed robbers, and it was common knowledge that a large number of men out there did rob boats, and several houses there were like little shops, filled with the goods stolen off the boats.

The judge, after hearing the evidence of a boatman (John Kelly), who stated that goods were taken by armed men, who said that they were acting for the I.R.A., decided that the cases came within the section, and he reported in favour of the applicants on the amounts claimed.

LONDON THEATRES.

"THE DESIRE FOR CHANGE" AT THE PLAYHOUSE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
LONDON, Tuesday.

The whole of the action of Mr. Francis Neilson's new play, "The Desire for Change," takes place in the sittingroom of a Continental hotel during a strike of waiters. The women staff, led by red-haired Mag, the chambermaid, down tools and join the strikers.

An extraordinary Englishman staying in the hotel is inconvenienced by such unusual happenings, and spends two acts wandering about the stage in his dressing gown, talking nonsense and making a fool of the handsome chambermaid by dressing her up in his daughter's clothes. It is difficult to describe this play. It is not comedy, farce, or melodrama. The Communist element, however, led one to expect the latter. It remains merely a silly piece, with only one or two touches of good characterisation to redeem it.

It was played by "Red Mag" as if she liked the part, which was really rather wonderful of her, as Miss Clare, with her intelligence and talent, must have realised the stupidity of the character. Miss Margaret Halstan, Miss Josephine Wilson, Mr. Harcourt Williams, Mr. Arthur Wontner and Mr. Edmund Breon all played their respective parts for what they were worth.

RUSSIAN BALLET AT THE COLISEUM.

Enthusiastic houses at the Coliseum welcomed back the Diaghileff Ballet after its summer vacation. The ballet chosen for the opening performance was the "Boutique Fantasque." This is as gay and beautiful as ever, and it will always be a favourite with Londoners. The special ballet audience, however, waited until the evening performance to give their favourite stars their real welcome, when "Carnival" and "Les Matelots" were presented. "Les Matelots" proved as exquisite and as amusing as ever, and was beautifully danced by Woizekowsky, Slavinsky, and Lifar, as the sailors in the third scene, while Nemtchinova and Sokolova were a sheer delight. The orchestra played splendidly in the evening—they were not always sure of their tempo in the afternoon—and a word of special congratulation is due to M. Henri Defosse, who conducted.

REBUILDING DONEGAL COURT-HOUSES.

Tenders for the rebuilding of Donegal, Buncrana, and Carndonagh Courthouses were considered by the Donegal County Council on Monday. The lowest tenders in each case were accepted:—Donegal, £3,403, Messrs. Patrick Diver and Sons, Donegal; Carndonagh, £2,243, Messrs. Crawford and Aiken, Buncrana; Buncrana, £2,595, Messrs. Crawford and Aiken.

It was pointed out that the plumbing, heating, professional fees, etc., would mean another another £1,200 to the total cost of the three contracts, which would be completed in eight months.

It was decided to appoint a clerk of works for Donegal at £3 3s. a week, and a clerk of works for Buncrana and Carndonagh at £4 4s. a week, the latter to pay his own travelling expenses.

EARLY MORNING FIRE IN NEWRY

During the early hours of yesterday morning a fire broke out in the grocery department at the rear of Mr. John McConville's licensed premises in High street, Newry. When the brigade arrived the flames had secured a firm hold. After two and a half hours' work the brigade succeeded in subduing the flames. The grocery department and its contents were destroyed, whilst the two storeys overhead were also badly damaged, a portion of the roof falling in. The origin of the fire is unknown. The damage, which is estimated at several hundred pounds, is covered by insurance.

THE SHELLING OF DAMASCUS.

six inch shells into the seething section of the city, where the Druse rebels, as well as the Damascus rebels, were centred. The Street Called Straight, as well as the small thoroughfares surrounding, were almost completely destroyed. Fires are still raging unchecked.

"A TERRIBLE SILENCE."

To-night in Damascus City is a terrible silence. Every public building is a fortress. Tanks, armoured cars, and soldiers are everywhere. They are guarding the Consulates, where the foreigners have sought refuge. Many have been warned to leave for Beirut.

(FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.)
CAIRO, Tuesday.

The first reports from Damascus regarding the recent events are conflicting; the descriptions and accusations vary according to the sources from which they emanate, but they all leave the impression that Damascus passed through a terrible ordeal between the 18th and 20th of October. The town bears the scars of the relentless measures which were taken to put down the riots following a parade of the corpses of bandits through the streets.

HOW THE TROUBLE BEGAN.

A traveller who has just arrived from Damascus states that at four o'clock on the 18th of October Hassan el Karreth, the chief of a band, penetrated the Chagour quarter with his men, crying: "Rise up; your brothers, the Druses, are here." They then attacked a police post and shot dead a French officer, whereupon the inhabitants of the Chagour quarter armed themselves and joined the insurgents. They all advanced towards the Medan quarter, where the inhabitants ranged themselves with Hassan el Karreth's men.

100 FRENCHMEN KILLED.

Many Frenchmen, who were at the time working in the Medan quarter, with some Armenians, were savagely attacked by the insurgents and by another force coming from the town. Consequently they were caught between two fires, and a hundred of them died fighting valiantly. An aeroplane suddenly appeared in the skies and dropped bombs on the crowds massed in the Armenian quarter in order to disperse them.

The angry crowds replied, without hitting the aeroplane. Then tanks and armoured cars arrived, while the number of aeroplanes was increased, and they all joined in spreading death among the rebels, who fled in every direction from the terrible retribution. The rebels, however, did not cease fire on the public and military buildings. They barricaded the streets and set fire to certain quarters of the town.

Finally, the artillery opened fire from the Citadel, from Salhie and from Mazze on the rebel quarters, and the French made known that they would not cease till the rebels ceased fire.

BUILDINGS BURNT DOWN.

The bombardment lasted from the Sunday night until Tuesday, and the shells destroyed the Chagour and Medan quarters, while part of the Hamidieh bazaar, Midhat Pasha el Bouzourie and El Komeira were destroyed by fire. The Palace of Azm, which is considered one of the finest monuments in the East, was also greatly damaged.

2,000 DEAD.

It is difficult, he says, to estimate the number of victims. They were lying in the streets in hundreds, and there are probably at least 2,000 buried beneath the demolished buildings. Apparently the Christians escaped. The French had sent 2,000 soldiers to the Christian parts of the town, but the insurgents made no direct attack on these quarters.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED.

On the afternoon of the 20th a body of Damascus notables presented themselves to the High Commissioner, and undertook to fulfil all the requirements of the French Government. Martial law was declared, and anyone found in possession of arms was executed.

ANOTHER VERSION.

Another version states that there were six organised bands working around Damascus. The band which entered Damascus on the 18th was composed of forty men only, and intended to kidnap General Sarrail. The French bombarded the city to frighten the population whom they accused of connivance with the bands, and of having informed the latter of the date of General Sarrail's arrival.

The rebels remained in Damascus until October 20, and only retired then because their presence was given as the cause of the bombardment. According to this account nothing reprehensive was done by the rebels, and Hassan el Karreth visited the Christian quarters tranquillising them by saying: "You are our brothers." It is also claimed that large numbers of Moslems took refuge in the Christian quarters during the bombardment, and were well received.

FEUD AGAINST ARMENIANS.

According to a third version the band attacked Damascus to avenge themselves on the Armenians in the Medan quarter, who, they alleged, had enrolled in the French Army.

THE PRESENT SITUATION.

In a general way the bands around Damascus remain as they were, but, perhaps, have been strengthened during the last few days by men whose houses had been destroyed and whose families had been killed as the result of the Damascus troubles.

Several well-informed persons are of the opinion that the theatre of operations will be shifted from the Jebel Druse to the Damascus region, where the bands are being well organised. They are believed to be composed of thousands who are seeking vengeance for the calamities which have befallen them.

PLAYWRIGHT'S LOST FURNITURE.

CLAIM FOR £2,400 DAMAGES.

Mr. Justice Horridge and a special jury yesterday continued the hearing of the action brought by Mr. James Bernard Fagan, the playwright, of Great Russell street, London, W.C., against Messrs. Green and Edwards, Ltd., of Finchley road, Hampstead.

Mr. Fagan claimed £2,400 damages in respect of goods and furniture destroyed by fire during transit from London to Oxford in defendants' lorry. He alleged that the fire was due to the fact that there was no cap on the petrol tank of the lorry. Defendants maintained that they were absolved from liability by a condition of the contract, and contended that Mr. Fagan himself was negligent in packing some boxes of safety matches among the goods carried.

Mr. William Hepworth Dixon, chief chemist at Messrs. Bryant and May's works, told the Court that he had known safety matches to be carried in vehicles hundreds of thousands of times without any fire resulting. He had never heard of a box firing after being struck in a man's pocket by a golf ball.

Mr. Cyril Atkinson, K.C., opening the defence, said the case depended upon the terms of the contract. He denied that the cap of the petrol tank was off the lorry.

The hearing was adjourned.

SUBSIDIES CRITICISED.

MAKING THE FARMERS PAUPERS

Speaking at a convention of delegates of Cumann na nGaedheal in South Westmeath, Mr. William Bourke, chief organiser, discussed the agricultural position, and said that, by putting a tariff on imported wheat, a bigger consumption of home-grown wheat would be brought about, and more work provided for the millers. He did not favour a tariff on imported flour.

By subsidising the farmers, he declared, they would be subsidising the majority in the State. The subsidy could never be taken back, as the farmers would see to that. All the time they would be taking the money from Peter to pay Paul, and the system would put the farmers in the position of paupers.

BANK OFFICIAL CHARGED.

W. McEldowney, an official of the Wexford branch of the Bank of Ireland, was remanded at a Special Court in Wexford on Monday night, on the charge of embezzling £92. He was admitted to bail.

A meeting of the British shipbuilding employers and the shipyard trade unions has been fixed for Friday, November 6th, in London, at which a start will be made with the second part of the joint enquiry which will deal with the costs entering into completed ships, but arising outside the control of the industry.

U.S. MARKETS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)
NEW YORK, Tuesday.

Stocks opened strong, but subsequent pronounced irregularity culminated in sharp late declines, when the banks called in loans freely. Previously apprehension over the monetary situation and bear pressure was counteracted by concerted buying of Motors, Tobacco and Chain Store issues, and when the market was strongest General Motors sold at 138 and Chrysler Motors at 223⅞, both new high "records." General Railway Signal was temporarily up 12, Federal Mining 8, United Drug 7, and Union Bag and Paper, Hudson Motors United, and Cigar and Kelsey Wheel 4 to 6 points. Woolworth rose 10 points to 204 in the final dealings. The market closed heavy. Government Bonds easy; Railroad Bonds easy. The day's sales totalled 2,640,000 shares.

Money on call closed firm, at 5 per cent. bid and 5¼ per cent. asked. Business done during the day ranged from 4¾ to 5 per cent., with the ruling rate 4¾ per cent. The last loan was made at 5 per cent. Sterling exchange steady. Silver ⅛c. lower at 71⅛.

According to Bradstreet's statement, the visible supply of wheat increased 453,000 bushels on the week, and the visible supply of corn east of the Rockies decreased 1,188,000 bushels on the week.

Gold to the value of $2,000,000 has been engaged for export to Canada.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Tuesday.

WHEAT opened easy, ⅜c. to ⅛c. lower. Values weakened under the influence of bearish cable advices, favourable Argentine reports, commission house selling, the weather being more favourable for crop moving, and a slow export enquiry and outside demand. Woollens for Children

Messrs. Tubbs, Hiscocks & Co. Ltd., makers of the well-known "Bellwether" woollens, attach the following instruction to their goods: Always use Lux when washing. Articles are often damaged by careless washing and the fault wrongly attributed to the material. Manufacturers know this. That is why they recommend Lux.

Lux will wash the most delicate silks and coloured goods, as well as woollens and linen.

Lux costs a little more than soap, but saves its cost many times over. Thick soap flakes are not Lux. The filmy Lux diamonds are so fine you have to divide an inch into thousandths to measure them. They melt in water like flakes of snow. Economize by buying Lux in the big, new rod packet.

Silverware comes up beautifully after a wash with Lux and a polish with a chamois leather. Every day somebody discovers a new use for Lux.

THE CANADIAN CATTLE MENACE.

REFERENCE AT MEETING OF TYRONE AGRICULTURAL COMMITTEE.

At the meeting of County Tyrone Committee of Agriculture Mr. Alexander Cameron, J.P., stated that Irish store cattle were deteriorating. They had now to compete against Canadian cattle, and when these were put beside the Irish cattle in the markets it was a shame to see the condition of the latter. He recalled that two years ago he attended a conference in Belfast, at which he met harbour, steamship and railway officials, and he was promised a report of the result of that conference, but he had heard nothing further about it.

The condition of Irish cattle was a serious matter. Scrub bulls must be put down. Irishmen were playing into the hands of the Canadian people.

MR. KEVIN O'HIGGINS.

Mr. Kevin O'Higgins, the Free State Minister for Justice, left Kingstown last night en route for London.

NORTHERN IRELAND.

Jurors Fined.—Nineteen special and 14 common jurors were fined £2 each by Mr. Justice Brown for failing to answer their names at the calling over the jury panels in the Northern King's Bench Division.

A Noisy Court.—"This Court would remind one of the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava. There is talk to the left, talk to the right, and talk everywhere." Thus commented Mr. Toppin, R.M., on the noise in the Belfast Summons Court yesterday.

Banned From Londonderry.—In the Belfast Custody Court yesterday, Thomas Larkin, Bellagherty, Ballyronan, was sentenced to a month's imprisonment without hard labour for entering County Londonderry, from which he was prohibited by an order of the Ministry of Home Affairs.

Throat [illegible]ashed.—Mr. Laurence Cooney (24), only son of Mr. Edward Cooney, Mus. Doc., organist of St. Patrick's Church, Ballymena, was found in a field with his throat gashed. He lies in a serious condition in Waverly Hospital, Ballymena. Mr. Cooney had been suffering from insomnia for some time.

Women Citizens' Association.—At the annual meeting of the Londonderry Women Citizens' Association, the Mayoress (Mrs. Magee), who presided, was elected President; Miss MacKillip and Miss B. O'Neill, Vice-Presidents; Mrs. Semple, J.P., Hon. Treasurer, and Mrs. D. C. Osborne, Hon. Secretary. Mrs Chichester, O.B.E., M.P., delivered an address on "Recent Legislation in Northern Ireland Affecting Women and Children."

Would-be Robbers Foiled.—A determined attempt during the week-end was made on the safe at the Tyrone Brickworks, Dungannon, owned by Sir Samuel Kelly. Heavy chisels were used, but all efforts to force the safe, which contained a large sum of money, proved futile. Two experts found that a chisel had been driven right through the lock. A quantity of office stamps lying on the office desk remained untouched.

No Rate Exemption.—The Tyrone County Council have rejected a resolution passed by Omagh Rural District Council in favour of granting an exemption for rates for ten years of all houses erected within the district under the Northern Ireland Housing Acts. It was stated that the Rural Council granted the exemption, but did not make any grants to assist building, while some of the other district councils made grants of £40.

Manslaughter Charge.—John M'Clements, North Queen street, Belfast, was, in the Belfast Custody Court yesterday, returned for trial at the Commission on bail, charged with the manslaughter of William J. Howe. On the 6th October, the deceased was returning from the technical school on a push-cycle, when he collided with a motor lorry driven by the accused. The boy died from the injuries he received on the 9th inst.

Speeding Cyclist Fined.—At Portadown Petty Sessions, Joseph W. Kerr, a fitter, residing in Edinburgh street, Belfast, was summoned by Constable Lewis for recklessly driving a motor bicycle through the streets of the town on Sunday, 27th ult. The constable said that defendant was going as fast as the bicycle would take him. Mr. M'Elroy, R.M., said that this kind of thing would have to be put down, as the magistrates must protect the people. Defendant would be fined £3 and costs.

Alleged Theft of Letters.—At the Belfast Custody Court yesterday, Robert Hall, Hunter street, was remanded for a week on a charge of stealing currency notes and stamps, the property of the Postmaster-General, to the value of £5 0s. 9d. Mr. John Graham, after formal evidence of arrest, in reply to Mr. P. J. O'Donoghue, R.M., said that the allegation was that accused had stolen three letters containing about £2 each. He had been in the Post Office for about twenty years.

Fatal Fall From Window.—Annie Irwin (28), Bedeque street, Belfast, fell from the upstairs window of her home yesterday morning to the street below, and received extensive injuries to the head and face. She was picked up in an unconscious condition, and after receiving medical attention, was removed to the Mater Hospital, where she died an hour and a half after admission from a fractured skull.

Solicitors' Costs.—Armagh Rural Council yesterday received from their solicitors, Messrs. J. E. Peel and Sons, a bill of costs, which included items in connection with preparing a case and appearing in support thereof before the Boundary Commissioners during their sittings in Armagh. Mr. Patrick Conroy inquired if the ratepayers were responsible for such expense, and the Clerk replied that the Council instructed their solicitor to draw up a case and appear in support of it before the Commissioners. Mr. F. Maxwell, solicitor, was appointed to represent the Council at the taxation of Messrs. Peel's costs.

Stolen Fifty Dollar Note.—The ownership of a fifty dollar note, which was stolen by an ex-osldier named Sproule from his sister at Kilcleen, Castlederg, and was cashed by a merchant named Robert S. Hamilton, of Clady, Co. Tyrone, was decided at Omagh Quarter Sessions by Judge Linehan. Sproule was sent to prison on the charge of stealing the note, and the question arose as to whether the note now belonged to Sproule's sister, from whom it had been stolen, or Hamilton, from whom it had been recovered. The Judge held that the note was a negotiable instrument, and made an order that it be handed to Hamilton.

Tyrone Election Account.—Judge Linehan, giving judgment at Omagh Quarter Sessions in the case in which Messrs. Henry Pierce and Sons, Enniskillen, made a claim against Colonel H. Irvine, C.B., D.L., returning officer for Fermanagh and Tyrone, for work done in connection with the Imperial Parliamentary election in 1924, said that the claim of the plaintiffs seemed to be rather inflated. The items were generalised, and when the claimants were called upon to give mileage, etc., they failed to do so. That was not a very convincing way of presenting a claim of this kind. He would not allow the item of £2 2s. for inspecting the new polling places. He would allow the claimants for ten days at £4 per day, and in order not to do any injustice, would add £2 to the total. He disallowed the claim for labour in connection with the distribution of the polling places, but as these had to be carried long disances in some cases, he would allow £1 under that head. He would allow all the other items, making a total of £51 3s. 10d., but would give no costs.

Pitiful Court Story.—The sad plight of two boys, whose father was killed in the war, was told to Mr. Toppin, R.M., in the Belfast Summons Court, when Mary Hewitt, H[illegible] street, Holywood, was prosecuted by Inspector Thomas Williams, N.S.P.C.C., for the wilful neglect of Edmund and William James Magilton, aged 12 and [illegible] years, respectively. The defendant, who did not appear, was fined 10s. and costs, and arrangements were made for the proper care of the children. Inspector Williams said that the defendant on the 13th June, 1924, married a man named Hewitt, who was about seventy years of age, and who was stated to be in hospital at present. The defendant was deaf and almost blind, and she was unable to do anything for herself or her children. Miss Curran told the Court that when she visited the defendant's house on the 13th January she found the children ragged and dirty, and one of the boys was suffering from sore eyes, due apparently to neglect and cold.

This New Way
works wonders on cloudy teeth

Modern science, by perfecting a new way of combating the stubborn film that covers teeth, now opens the road to whiter teeth, safely

THAT cloudy teeth, yellowish, discoloured teeth can be made whiter, is now an accepted fact. Foremost dentists of the world are widely urging this new method. You can have cleaner, prettier teeth if you will start to-day.

This is accomplished by combating a viscous film that covers teeth. A stubborn, 'hard to remove' film that old-type dentifrices do not fight successfully.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel this film. Under it are the clear, attractive teeth you envy in others. Combat it, and your teeth become many shades whiter—more glistening. This offers you a 10-day test free. Mail the coupon.

The great enemy of teeth

Film is the great enemy of teeth beauty. And, according to world's dental authorities, the potential cause of most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It holds food in contact with teeth, inviting the acid that may cause decay.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

Ask your chemist or mail the coupon for Pepsodent. Don't expect the same results from old-type dentifrices. Begin beautifying your teeth to-day.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

CAMBRIDGESHIRE TO-DAY.

THE SUMMING UP.

TWELVE POINTER TO WIN.

PICAROON'S CANTER.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

NEWMARKET, Tuesday Night.

Several reasons have been advanced in this column in the course of the last two months why Twelve Pointer should win the Cambridgeshire, and, on the eve of the race, I cannot offer any reason why he should not win. The going is drying up well, and unless there should be rain to-night it will be sound where the race is run to-morrow. However, the going is a thing that is not troubling his trainer at all. Persse has no fears for him even if it is soft. The horse is wonderfully well and is much fancied, and I think that his prospects of creating a record by winning under 9st. 5lb. are excellent.

We must, however, look around to see from which quarter the greatest danger may come. Personally I anticipate that most of it may come from Conquistador, who is very well and much fancied to win. These high-class three-year-olds, such as Conquistador, are always a source of danger. I know that Conquistador, who was so badly cut about in the Derby, has come on a good deal since he beat Warden of the Marches here a fortnight ago. I give him a better chance than Verdict, for I cannot quite believe that she has refound her form, although I must say that she never looked better to my eyes than she did when I saw her to-day.

The French candidates have been the subject of a good deal of enquiry this afternoon. It can be said that Masked Marvel is genuinely fancied. Eugene Leigh, the trainer of Coram, professes only to fear Verdict, of whom he had an experience that perhaps was not a very pleasant one, for it was she who beat his ewe lamb, Epinard.

The French Horses.

On the other hand, a French jockey who has been in races against Twelve Pointer, gave it as his very fixed idea that none of the French candidates is of anything like the same class or will be capable of coping with the Duke of Westminster's horse.

There was some support on the course this afternoon for Pons Asinorum, but none of the alleged money that there has been for this colt so far is traceable to the stable. I believe that Paddy is fancied a good deal, and this genuine horse, on his Newbury form, has reasonable claims to run at least into a place. Blue Pete is expected to do well, and that is the most that can be said for him.

For such as Tranquilette, Brighter London, and B.D.A., I have no fancy. Creolian is expected to do well, but if there is to be a light-weight, the best seems to be Sunderland, although it is not in his favour that Richards has now been claimed to ride Dumas for the stable for which he holds a retainer.

Nothing has occurred since the weights came out to shake the confidence in TWELVE POINTER—indeed, it has rather been strengthened by his two splendid performances on successive days a fortnight ago. I expect him to win and enable Harry Beasley to accomplish the rare feat of riding the winners of the Cesarewitch and the Cambridgeshire in the same season. Conquistador is the chief danger.

It was not a very interesting day's racing here this afternoon, although the weather was fine. There was only one opponent—St. Becan—for Picaroon in the Limekiln Stakes, and the Manton colt simply played with Sir George Bullough's colt, who was well beaten at the bushes, although Picaroon had been hardly out of a canter up to that point. I do not think that there is a three-year-old in England who could make a race now with Picaroon, who is probably the best we have seen for several years, and will without doubt prove himself a great colt next season.

A Dead-Heat.

Mr. Persse was so hopeful that his good-looking Stefan the Great colt, Rosehearty, would win the Criterion Stakes and beat Spinel Ruby with his 10lb. pull in the weights, that he started almost as good a favourite as Lord Zetland's filly. The pair ran a dead-heat, Rosehearty just getting up on the post to divide the stake money. The filly, however, ran on splendidly against the vigorous challenge of Harry Beasley, and would not allow herself to be run out of it.

She was first away, but Elliott pulled her back, and allowed Lanchester to make the running. This good-looking colt of the Duke of Portland's collapsed rather suddenly in the dip, and was beaten off into third place by two lengths. I noticed a novice two-year-old—Squabbler—owned by Mr. S. B. Joel—running well for a long way in this race.

Roman Eagle had an easy task to win the Fordham Welter by two lengths from Witteklip, for after she had headed Black Gown she was never seriously challenged. She hung a good deal to the right in the early part of the race, and evidently needs a jockey with very good hands to ride her. She was the second winner of the day which Beary rode for Sir Abe Bailey, for he had previously won the Rutland Handicap on Foxlaw, who beat the plater, Dilemma, by two lengths.

In the Old Nursery Stakes there was a runaway win for Cymophane, who had been beaten recently at Doncaster, but here won in a canter by six lengths from the filly by The Vizier out of Panoply.

The Dalham Stakes saw a victory for Sortija, a filly who has done her racing in France, but has been at Newmarket for some little time with Coll. Leader. She is owned by Senor Unzue, who had Tracery in the Argentine, and who bought her dam, Wilma, in England when she was carrying Sortija to Gay Crusader. She must have been in front all the way, and well beat the fancied Livtofite.

Next to the Cambridgeshire the most interesting race to-morrow is the Moulton Stakes, and as APPLE SAMMY is greatly fancied he may prove himself good enough to give the weight to Water-Val. The New Nursery Stakes looks a fairly good thing for the smart Thought-Reader filly, now known as DEVACHON. DAMOZEL is likely to win the Maiden Stakes.

LONDON BETTING—YESTERDAY.

CONQUISTADOR SECOND FAVOURITE.

At yesterday's call-over at the Beaufort Club there were no material alterations in the prices. Twelve Pointer receded to 11 to 2, at which price the Duke of Westminster's candidate was backed to win about £5,000. Conquistador became second favourite at 8 to 1, and was backed to win a similar sum. Verdict was backed to win £4,000 at 925 to 100 and flat nines. Coram hardened to 100 to 6. Masked Marvel and Creolian were well supported at twenties, as were Sunderland and B.D.A. at twenty-fives. Small money only was invested on the remaining candidates quoted. Details:—

At the final call-over at the Victoria Club, Twelve Pointer was decidedly easy, and drifted to 1000 to 160 before a bet was made, and closed at 6 to 1, which was freely taken and offered. Conquistador was well supported at 8 to 1. Verdict was backed to win about £4,000 at 9 to 1, and was in strong demand for a place at 9 to 4. Pons Asinorum opened at 1000 to 75, and closed at 100 to 8, after being befriended to win about £3,000. Blue Pete was backed to win approximately the same amount, opening and closing at 17 to 1. Wagers were laid against Coram to lose about £3,000 at the same rate of odds. Creolian advanced to 18 to 1, and Paddy was backed from 28 to 1 down to 25 to 1 to win upwards of £11,000.

It may be suggested that the strong position held by the Stockbridge crack is, or was a fortnight ago, attributable to the number of "doubles" in which his name is associated with that of Forseti at substantial odds. This is in no sense a disparagement of Twelve Pointer's prospects of winning this race. The question is: Can he concede the required amount of avoirdupois to certain of his prospective opponents? That Verdict's preparation has all along been timed for this race is likely enough. She has immensely pleased both her trainer and rider, and it is important to grasp that she receives from the present favourite no less than 15lb. for a clever two lengths defeat twelve months ago. Last year to Dawson City, whom she beat a good length or so for third place, she gave 8lb. more than weight for age, whilst to Conquistador to-day she is set to concede 1lb. less than the weight for age scale would require her to do. If Conquistador is of, say, 10lb. better class than Dawson City was last year, he should beat Lord Coventry's mare now, and, unless he is of 15lb. lower class than Twelve Pointer, he ought to beat the latter at 21lb., the difference between them here. Serious attention should be paid to the French lot. Coram may be expected to do well, also Paddy; and were the race to finish in the Dip, leaving out the final ascent, Creolian would be very dangerous. The race is left to

On enquiry at the hospital last evening it was ascertained that, as far as could be ascertained, there were no fractures, but Doyle was suffering from bruises to the right leg and hip.

COURSING.

EXCELLENT SPORT AT TRIM

LARACOR WINS THE TRIAL STAKES.

By a coincidence, the Trial Stakes at Trim yesterday was won by the puppy Laracor, named after the townland where the meet took place, and, incidentally, it may be added that the owner is Mr. J. J. Long, the recently-elected Chairman of the Irish Coursing Club, who is thus one of the first to qualify for the National Produce Stakes.

It was a rather depressing morning; indeed, the outlook when we met at Laracor at the usual hour of 9.30 was not by any means bright, but the conditions, as the day wore on, improved, and but for a few showers, which did not matter in the least, the conditions were quite favourable for the sport, which was of an excellent type. As invariably happens in the open country, the trials were not uniform, but there were really few which did not afford tests of the most legitimate type; and, taken on the whole, a better day's coursing has not been seen in this country for a very long time.

It was not a big card, and for a time in the early part of the day the proceedings dragged a lot, for the hares were mostly on foot following the wet and stormy night; but after the third beat had been exhausted hares came to hand much quicker, and we finished with plenty of time to spare. The winner of the Trial Stakes ran his courses out in the gamest manner, but he is not a smasher, and had not his opponent in the deciding course taken a couple of heavy falls the result might have been different; indeed, Pearlsless Honey seemed to have the course about won when she fell the second time going up the quarry hill. But these things are inseparable from the sport in the open country. Several of the youngsters ran right well; apart from the winner and the runner-up, two which impressed favourably being Sandow and Blue Monday, the latter of which got the worst of the slip with Pearlsless Honey, which, however, was always going a bit the faster in the short run up.

After outfooting Winning Hand, a very smart bitch, in the first round of the Trim Stakes, Iract Eile's chances of ultimate success were obvious, and he justified expectations by a ready victory. He had a little the better of the handicap when he went to slips with Dark Prospect for the last course, for though both had been hard run, the Hill of Down dog had got off the lighter. In the decider he went up well in front, and at no time left the issue in doubt. Markosi and What's That disappointed, but Lady Essex had bad luck in her course with Dark Prospect, for after leading a couple of lengths, and having the better of the early part of the course, she fell so heavily that practically all the steam was taken out of her, and the other went on to win.

Judge—Mr. M. Walsh. Slipper—M. Horan.

440 YARDS CHAMPIONSHIP.

VICTORY OF H. F. CASE, Jun.

DUBLIN QUALIFY FOR IRISH CUP FINAL.

A big crowd attended at the Tara street Baths last night to witness two important events in the 440 Yards Irish Championship (originally allocated to Munster, but transferred to Leinster later in the season), and the Leinster semi-final of the Irish Water Polo Cup, in which Dublin and Dublin University were the contestants. To reach this stage Dublin accounted for Sandycove, and Dublin University defeated Pembroke and Clontarf. The Belfast finalists are Clonard, the holders, who will meet last night's winners, Dublin, at Templemore avenue Baths, Belfast, on Friday next.

The proceedings last night opened with a most interesting display by the Mountjoy School team, winners of the Leinster Schools' Life Saving Cup for the past two years. They gave a splendid exhibition of the arts of rescue and release in the water, under the direction of Mr. E. E. Benson. Their performance was loudly cheered.

In addition to these attractive items a Schools' Water Polo match, between Belvedere College, who again won the Schools' Water Polo Cup this year, and a side selected from the Rest of Leinster Schools. This was an interesting match, in which the Rest were superior, winning by 3 goals to nil.

440 Yards Championship of Ireland — The starters were:—H. F. Case, jun., Clontarf; P. McClure, Clonard; J. Jenkins, Clonard; A. B. Brooks, Dublin University; R. K. Boylan, Dublin. Mr. E. E. Benson, Pembroke, the holder, was unable to turn out, owing to a heavy cold. He was entered for the race, and it was hard on him that he could not compete.

Case went into the lead at once, and, at 100 yards was about three yards in front, McClure being second and Brooks third. At the half-way stage Case was about the same distance in front, but going better than McClure, whose action appeared laboured. Case was swimming easily, and, at 300 yards, went away from his rival, to win by twelve yards. McClure was eight yards in front of Jenkins. Result:—

H. F. Case, jun. ... 1
P. McClure ... 2
J. Jenkins ... 3

Time—6 mins. 26 1-5 secs.

IRISH CUP SEMI-FINAL.

Teams:—Dublin—W. Kay; B. G. Fagan and N. Judd; M. A. O'Connor (capt.); N. M. Purcell, K. C. Doyle and R. M. Corbett.

Dublin University—T. J. Stafford; D. Murtagh and D. M. Corbett; T. H. Dockrell; H. G. Ellerker (capt.), O. S. Wallace; R. W. Mather.

Referee—Mr. H. F. Brennan. Time-keeper—Mr. A. J. Cullen.

Play in the first half was fast and exciting, both goals being attacked in turn. Purcell scored twice for Dublin and Ellerker reduced the lead with a smart effort. Almost immediately, in a hot attack by Ellerker, O'Connor put through his own goal for the equaliser. Ellerker, who played very well, scored a leading goal for University, but R. M. Corbett equalised. Wallace, receiving from a free, scored the fourth for University, who deservedly led by 4-3 at the interval.

Defending the deep end, University were outplayed in the second half. Purcell scored twice in success. Corbett scored a third soon afterwards. University began to tire and further goals were added by Purcell, O'Connor and Judd, Dublin winning easily. Result:—

Dublin ... 9
Dublin University ... 4

Dr. W. H. Sexton presented the Cup to H. F. Case, jun., whom he cordially congratulated on his fine performance.

HOCKEY.

LEINSTER LADIES' UNION.

With the exception of Monkstown and Trefoil, all Senior clubs were engaged on Saturday. At L.C.C., Rathmines, Muckross scored a well-deserved win over Maids of the Mountain, by 3-0. This was the first time Maids had ever been beaten by Muckross, and although they were playing three subs, the Maids' team was a strong one. Muckross were without Miss Hogan (full), who was injured last week. Her place was taken by Miss Foster. The game was a strenuous one from start to finish. Muckross played at the top of their form, the half line in particular being exceptionally good. The forwards all gave a fine display, Misses Donovan, M. Kelly and Lowndes being responsible for the scoring. The backs, Misses Macauley and Foster, were very sound, and Miss Nagle, in goal, saved several shots that looked certain scores. The Maids' forwards, with the exception of Miss Tyndall (centre), were disappointing. Miss H. Wallis (inside right) started well, but seemed to tire towards the finish. At centre-half, Miss R. Wallis was really the pick of the whole team. Miss Bradbury was the better full, and Miss Stoker played a great game in goal.

Old College "A" ran up another large score, defeating University College 10 goals to nil. Of course, it was an easy thing for them, but nevertheless the University team played a very plucky game, and Miss Moynihan, in goal, was splendid. Miss Moynihan played on the Junior interprovincial team two years ago, and is a great acquisition to the National team. The University backs were good as well, but the half line was very weak, and the opposing forwards were allowed to run right through. The forwards got very few chances, but Misses Murphy (right wing) and O'Mara (left inside) got in some good running, and Miss Murphy has had hard luck in not scoring. Miss Pratt was again responsible for most of the scoring, shooting six goals altogether. Miss Nowlan played a strong game and netted two goals, Misses Hogg and Cullen accounting for the remainder. Miss Cooper was the pick of the halves, while the backs stopped any attempts of the University forwards to get within scoring distance.

At Trinity Hall, an even and keenly-contested match resulted in a win for Dublin University over Antiquity by 3-2. Trinity fielded a stronger team than against Old College "A," and showed more staying-power than Antiquity, otherwise the teams were well matched. The pick of the College forwards was Miss Halliday, who was brilliant, and Miss Gillespie ran her a close second. Miss Thrift showed speed, but was inclined to over-run the ball. Miss Buchanan, at left half, played a great defence game, spoiling the Antiquity forward movements time and again. Miss Clarendon (right half) was a little slow, but otherwise was steady, while Miss Harding, though possessing a very strong shot, hit wildly at times. Both backs, Misses Johnston and Manning were good, and they relieved Miss Boyd of an amount of work. The Antiquity forwards were a very hard-working line, Miss Bermingham (left inside) showing speed and shooting a good goal, while Miss Harlow was responsible for the second score. Miss Nolan (centre forward) worked well, but was inclined to get out of her place. Miss Connell was the best of the halves and both backs and goal-keepers saved well.

At Milltown, Optimists had a good win over Old College "B," by 3-0. Optimists were without Miss Goodbody, Mrs. Orr taking her place in goal, and they played one short for best part of the match, as Miss Perrin did not turn up until after the interval. The first half was very even and the play keen, but after half time Optimists had matters more or less their own way. At right inside, Mrs. Gossett played a clever game and was well backed up by Miss O'Kelly (right half). Misses N. Mooney and B. Hanna (halves) were in great form, never allowing the College forwards much liberty. Miss Houston was the sounder full, and at times she was really brilliant. Old College "B" played up very well in the first half, but the forwards lagged towards the end. Miss D. O'Riordan (centre half) was very steady in defence, marking Miss Cleary well, and the backs were both good.

Alexandra College have started in very promising style this season and so far have only lost one match. On Saturday they had a runaway victory over Victoria (High School), by 9 goals to nil. Victoria were completely outplayed, especially in the early stages, the half-time score being 6-0. Alexandra played a dashing game and combined splendidly. Miss E. Bonner (inside right) was responsible for five goals, and played a good all-round game. She was greatly assisted by Miss B. Fry (wing), who showed accuracy and judgment in passing. Misses McBride (2), Matthews and Caulfield scored the remaining goals. The halves and backs worked hard, the former backing up the forward line remarkably well.

LAWN TENNIS.

COUNCIL MEETING OF L.T.A.

At a Council meeting of the Lawn Tennis Association held at River Plate House, London, on Monday, under the chairmanship of Lord Desborough, it was decided after discussion to raise the existing ban on German players if and when Germany joins the League of Nations, and to instruct the British delegates on the International Federation to vote for Germany's re-admission to that body.

Having regard to the success which attended the new scheme of deciding the Inter-County Championship on grass, it was decided to continue holding this event on the same lines. The Inter-County Week has been fixed for July 19th-24th. After consultation with County Associations and players, it was regarded as impracticable to combine Singles and Doubles play in these championships, but the institution of an Inter-County Singles competition was decided upon. The Council consider that two competitions—one for Doubles and one for Singles—are sufficient, and the Singles event will be held on hard courts during the winter in substitution for the present Inter-County Hard Courts Championships. The first competition will be played during the season 1926-1927.

The Council approved of an application from the Welsh L.T.A. for the division of Wales into two districts—North and South—which will be considered as separate counties for the purpose of the Inter-County Championships.

The newly-constituted Jersey L.T.A. was admitted to membership.

NEWMAN v. DAVIS.

At the end of yesterday afternoon's session in the 18,000 match at Thurston's Hall, London, Davis, who receives 4,000, was 67 points in hand over and above his original start against Newman. In the course of the play the highest break made in the match so far was registered, that being 416 by the champion. Earlier Davis had scored 329, including 35 close cannons, and in the remainder of the play the best breaks by the Midlander were 79 and 126, unfinished. In addition to the big break already mentioned, Newman had 93 and 108. Interval scores:—Davis (rec. 4,000) (in play), 12,750; Newman, 8,683.

The champion made further headway in the evening session, when he had a total of 1,085, as against Davis's 449. Newman, who returned an average of 90, had breaks of 122, 185, 243, 101 and 130, and Davis 170, 113 and 151 (unfinished). Closing scores—Davis (rec. 4,000) (in play), 13,199; Newman, 9,768.

PRODUCE AND FOOD.

CATTLE.

SALFORD.—Owing to the foot-and-mouth restrictions supplies could only be drawn from unaffected area. Numbers at to-day's market almost negligible, totalling 167 beasts and 458 sheep and lambs. Many prominent buyers were absent, and even those who put in an appearance showed little disposition to do serious business, chief topic of conversation being the outlook of trade, it generally being agreed that future prospects were by no means bright. Prices generally nominal.

BIRMINGHAM.—Arrivals of pigs are on a moderate and rather better scale. Business is fair, with a slightly easier tendency for bacons and sows. Sizeable bacons 19/- to 19/6, cutters do., and sows 16/6 per score, dead weight.

LEEDS.—Good supply; quality good. On offer—Beasts 568, at 8d. to 11d., sheep 1,893 at 1/- to 1/3½, ewes 9d. to 11d., tups 7d. to 8d., lambs 1/3 to 1/9½, pigs up to 14/- a stone.

CAMBRIDGE.—Beasts 322. Beef 11/8 to 12/8. Sheep 328—Mutton 10/6 to 12/-. Pigs—950 14/6. Calves 130. Fat cattle—Large show, and prices slightly lower. Store beasts—Average supply; trade unchanged. Fat sheep—Good number offered, and no alteration in rates. Fat pigs—A heavy supply, and business slightly easier. Store pigs—Trade not quite so good.

GRAIN.

DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE.—There is still little of interest to feature in this market. A good many samples of new grain are now about, but business is of a stagnant nature. Irish wheat top samples 30/- to 32/6, inferior 28/-, barley malting nominally 18/6 to 19/- and 19/6, other sorts 16/- to 17/6, black oats 11/6 to 12/- and 12/6, whites 13/6 to 14/6 or 14/9 per barrel.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC—WHEAT—Cargo market firm, and Manitoba grades held for 1/- per qr. advance, with Plates 6d dearer, following higher American advices; other descriptions unaltered. A part cargo 4,500 tons No. 2 Northern Manitoba, per Canada 20th November loading, sold 50/9, ditto afloat sellers 52/6, Australian December-January sellers 52/-, white Pacific October-November 55/-, Baril 62lbs. afloat 52/9, Rosafe 63½lbs. January-February 50/6. Parcels opened easier, but steadier since. No. 1 Northern Manitoba afloat sellers 51/6, October-November and November-December sold 50/9 to 51/3, Rosafe 63½lbs. January-February sellers 50/3, Barusso 63½lbs. ditto 48/6 per 480lbs. MAIZE—Cargoes quiet, and tendency easier. 4,000 tons Dan.-Gal.-Fox. Jugo-Slavian October-15th November sold 34/6. Plate steamers afloat sellers 35/3 to 35/9, loading 35/6, November-December 35/3, No. 6 yellow African afloat 36/-. Parcels quiet and easier. Plate September-October 35/-, October-November, also November-December, 34/4½ per 480lbs. BARLEY quiet. Part cargo Black Sea 2,000 tons October-November sold 27/9. Parcels of ditto October-November sellers 28/-, American malting 48lbs. November 28/9 per 400lbs. OATS quiet. Plate October-November sellers 22/3, January-February 21/6, No. 2 Canadian Western October-November 27/6, American white clipped 36lbs. early November 22/9 per 320lbs.

LIVERPOOL.—WHEAT—Spot firm, dearer. MAIZE—Spot quiet; River Plate 7/8 per cental. FLOUR unchanged. Graded wheat futures opened partially ½d. lower, further declined until ½d. to 1d. less registered; then prices improved, the market closing firm at ½d. dearer to ½d. lower. Sales 200 loads. Latest trading—October 11/1, December 10/5¼, March 10/- per cental. Maize options nominal. The sharp rise in America had already been about discounted here, while Argentine cables were disappointing, and forward deliveries of wheat here gradually gave way from the outset until a fair decline had been registered; then prices improved with moderate fluctuations, and, aided by better late afternoon cables, near months in the end showed a fair advance on last night, while March registered a fair decline. C.i.f. parcels of No. 1 Manitoba October-November sold at 50/4½, November-December 50/6, due November 2nd 57/6 to Liverpool, and No. 3 Manitoba 15th November 48/9, and No. 2 mixed Durum afloat at 47/4½ to Manchester. C.i.f. parcels of maize River Plate October-November sold at 34/6 to 34/4½, November-December 34/7½ to 34/6, American mixed December 32/9, December-January 32/7½ per quarter.

PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL.—Irish and Danish BACON continues in only moderate request at late currencies. Canadian Wiltshires quiet, and 1/- easier at 109/- to 113/- per cwt. The market for American bacon here again rules quiet at late rates for singed sides, but other selections easier at 104/- to 112/- for backs, 120/- to 123/- bellies, 107/- to 114/- light Cumberlands, and 113/- to 116/- heavier averages. HAMS quiet, and extra skinned 1/- easier at 119/- to 124/- per cwt. Square shoulders and New Yorks remain nominal, and picnics quiet at late prices. LARD on the spot 1/- to 1/6 per cwt. easier. Prime steam now offered at 78/- to 78/6, and American refined 80/- to 81/- per cwt. CHEESE steady at late rates. BUTTER still favours buyers, though no further decline in values reported for any descriptions. EGGS scarce, and best selected Irish hen held at 25/- to 28/- per 120, and duck nominal.

LIVERPOOL REFINED LARD "FUTURES."—The sharp decline in Chicago was reflected here when the market opened lower, and further gave way considerably under pressure to sell, and at the end of the early session showed a loss of 2/- to 2/6 per cwt. from last night; November sold from 77/-, 75/-, 76/-, December 74/6, 73/9, 74/-, 73/9, January 72/- to 71/3, May 71/- to 70/3 per cwt., with February quoted 71/- and March 70/- buyers. Afternoon cables were easier, but prices here recovered slightly, closing 1/9 to 2/6 per cwt. decline on the day: November sold at 75/9 to 76/-, December 77/3 to 74/-, January 70/9 to 71/3, May 70/- to 70/6, and October quoted 79/6 sellers; weekly settlement prices—October 79/6, November 76/-, December 73/9, January 71/3, May 70/3 per cwt.

MANCHESTER.—BUTTER—Shipments of Danish and Swedish week ending October 24th, 2,671 casks (increase 388). Spot market opened quietly steady, but weakened considerably towards the close for all descriptions. Arrivals of Irish creameries continue to show falling off. Choicest qualities generally quoted:—Danish 225/- to 228/-, Swedish 210/- to 214/-, Finnish 212/- to 214/-, Irish creameries 208/- to 212/-, Canadian 210/- to 212/-, Australian and New Zealand nominal. BACON—Shipments Danish and Swedish 11,824 bales, 260 less. Market generally ruled quiet, with every probability of lower prices ruling at week-end. Irish quoted 125/- to 128/-, North of Ireland rolls around 155/-, according to weight and cure; Danish 122/- to 126/-, Swedish 115/- to 120/-, Dutch nominal, Canadian 115/- to 120/-. LARD easier; English refined 84/-, boxes wholesale; American 80/- to 81/- per cwt., according to brand. CHEESE—Finest cool made Cheshire in rather small compass at around 1/2½. Lancs. firm 1/3, medium and lower grades neglected and difficult to sell at value. Canadian favours sellers, 117/- to 120/-. EGGS—Shipments Danish and Swedish 30,294 cases (decrease 1,078 cases). Fresh in keen demand, other descriptions steady. Irish extra selected 26/- to 27/6, selected 25/- to 25/6, ducks 25/-, stores 17/6; Danish eighteens 30/-, seventeens 29/-, 15lb. 27/-, Russians 13/6 to 17/6, Polish 14/-, Argentines 16/9 to 17/-, Australian 22/-, Dutch ducks 17/9, English chilled 19/-.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE.—Good supplies of imported fruits, and fair, but slow, sale at about previous rates. Irish apples sold fairly, but are in abundance and slow to clear. Irish apples on trays 2/- to 3/- and 4/-, barrels 18/- to 28/-, and Bramleys (selected) 30/- to 35/-. Irish grapes 1/- to 2/2 per lb., blackberries 2/6 and 3/- per tray. Vegetables in large supply, and experienced a wretchedly slow and uncertain sale. Cauliflowers a glut, and practically down to nominal values—in fact, anything to clear. Cabbage also was plentiful, and a dragging cheap sale, as was also curly kale. Swede turnips 2/2 to 2/6 per cwt., celery 3/- to 6/- per bundle, tomatoes 7d., 8d. and 1/- per lb., vegetable marrows 10/- to 16/- per dozen; other prices uncertain.

DUBLIN POTATO.—Supplies of potatoes continue ample, and further offerings free. Trade is slow, and consumptive enquiry comparatively small, but prices appear to be recognised at near minimum level—viz., 4/6 to 5/- per cwt. for best table qualities. Coarse stuff can be purchased perhaps 6d. less.

DUBLIN POULTRY (Halston street).—Heavy supplies in of both cool and secondary descriptions of poultry. Trade was well supported for everything except turkeys, for which the consumptive inquiry seems to be disappointing, and the heavy quantity to be dealt with rather weakened prices; otherwise there was very little change in the general run of quotations from the closing position of last week; rabbits selling particularly well. Quotations:—Choice heavy chickens 11d. to 1/2 lb., crammed fowl special rates; chickens under 2lbs. 1/6 to 2/- each, prime heavy hens 2/6 to 3/- each, others 1/3 to 2/-, live turkeys 10d. to 1/- lb., dead 1/- to 1/2 lb., prime fat geese 8d. to 10d. lb., store and stubble descriptions 3/6 to 5/- each; prime big fronted fat ducks 3/- to 3/6 each, others 1/6 to 2/6; old ducks 10d. to 1/- each, cock pheasants 4/6 to 5/- each, hens 3/6 to 4/6, young grouse 3/- to 3/6, old 1/6; partridge 1/6 to 2/-, wild duck 1/6, grey plover 8d., green 5d. to 6d. Wildfowl still arriving in unsatisfactory condition, and prices consequently irregular.

DUBLIN BUTTER AND EGG.—There is still a conspicuous weakness in the general position of butter markets, although with new arrivals of Australian produce, prices are still coming comparatively dear on an otherwise slumpy market. The recent reduction in prices has slightly stimulated the consumption for Irish creams, but business all the same is far from encouraging or good. Choice creams in more than ample supply and going off slowly at from 1/10½ to 1/10½ lb., and for some special dairies and 28lb. pyramids 1/11 per lb., some very good quality creams obtainable around 1/10 lb., secondary and overheld stuff back to 1/8¼, according to merit and character. There is a fair sale for fine factories at 1/7 to 1/8½ per lb.; ordinary factories around 1/5 to 1/6 lb. Farmers' butter continues in small supply, and equally poor request, prices nominally from 1/3 to 1/6 and 1/6½ per lb. The egg trade at the moment is rather up and down; choice quality eggs very scarce, and for extra picked lots prices have gone high, but secondary descriptions of hen eggs are plentiful enough, but hard to sell as pickled sorts now get a preferential sale. For best arrivals of case hen eggs prices go from 25/- to 26/6; occasional lots from reliable senders 27/- per 120. Heavily picked fresh hen eggs making up to 28/-, and in some instances 28/6 and 29/- per 120 would be required owing to the small arrivals to pick from. Medium classes of eggs 21/- to 22/6, pickled sorts 19/- to 19/6 average run; country smalls, etc., from 16/6 upwards, according to character, but these prices are little better than nominal, as there is no sale for this class of article. Duck eggs in fair supply, and repacked lots 22/- to 23/6 per 120.

CORK BUTTER.—The market has undergone no further noteworthy change. Creameries 206/- to 212/- per cwt., choicest salted 208/-, special dairies extra.

DUBLIN FISH.—Moderate fish supply on market. Two steam trawlers brought in 127 boxes of stuff, also some small arrivals from country boats; 12 chests lobsters featured, besides 30 boxes herrings and 10 of mackerel. Good trade. Best lobsters 12/6 to 15/- and 17/6 per 13, others 2/6 to 5/- and 10/- per lot; turbot 1/- to 15/- and 18/-, brill 6d. to 8/- and 10/- each, best soles 30/- to 45/- per 9 pairs, mediums 20/- to 27/6, slips 5/- to 12/6 per 9 pairs, large plaice 6/- to 8/- and 10/- per 4, others 6/- to 8/- per 8, half boxes plaice 60/- to 140/-, dabs, etc., 12/6 to 30/-, codfish 25/- to 30/-, 60/- and 90/-, hake 40/- to 110/-, haddock 30/- to 70/-, white soles 30/- to 80/- and 60/-, conger eels 15/- to 25/- and 32/-, ray 15/- to 25/- and 30/-, pollock 20/- to 40/-, ling 20/- to 30/-, whiting 15/- to 50/-, gurnard 5/- to 8/-, herrings 20/- to 24/-, mackerel 25/- to 27/6.

GRIMSBY FISH.—Light supply; demand fair. Plaice 15/-, lemon soles 17/-, halibut 10/6, cod 4/- to 7/-, skate 9/-, small haddock 3/-, kit 5/6, ribbed 8/-, dabs 9/- to 11/-, codlings 4/- to 6/-, whitings 5/6 per stone, soles 3/-, turbot and brill 1/4 per lb.

MANCHESTER DEAD MEAT.—Home killed beef—Best sides 9d., seconds 8d. to 8½d. Mutton—Best hoggs 11d. to 1/-, lambs 11½d. to 1/0½, ewes 8d. to 9d., pork 1/1 to 1/2, calves 8d. to 10d.; chilled beef—Hindquarters 6½d. to 6½d., forequarters 4½d. to 4½d. Mutton—Wethers 6½d. to 7½d., ewes 6d. to 6½d., lambs 9½d. to 10½.

LONDON POTATO.—There is a fair trade for best samples at steady rates, but inferior sorts remain quiet of sale. Lincoln King Edward's best 6/6 to 7/-, British Queens and Majestics 5/6 to 6/-, Red Kings 6/- to 7/6, Blackland King Edwards 5/- to 6/-, do. Whites 4/- to 5/-, all per cwt.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LIVERPOOL COTTON.—American futures—After opening steadier, values became easier, chiefly for want of support; further weakened later in the day on lower American advices, and market closed barely steady. Closing report—Spot sales, 6,000 bales (sales for export included in above, 100 bales). American futures—Tendency barely steady. October 10.44d., November 10.28d., December 10.31d., January 10.35d., February 10.26d., March 10.44d., April 10.45d., May 10.51d., June 10.48d., July 10.50d., August 10.47d., September 10.43d., October 10.40d. Egyptian futures—Tendency easier.

MANCHESTER TRADE.—We are gradually recovering from the effects of Monday's surprise, and hopes are generally entertained that, with steadiness at the lower range of prices, good business will result. India maintains the lead in extent of inquiry. China more frequently mentioned, and steady demand reported from some secondary markets. American yarns ¼d. per lb. cheaper without being particularly active.

LONDON HAY AND STRAW.—Supplies fair; demand moderate. Best meadow hay £5 5/- to £5 10/-, medium £4 5/- to £4 10/-, inferior £3 5/- to £3 10/-, best clover £5 10/- to £6, best mixtures and sainfoin £5 5/- to £5 10/-, best trussed wheat straw 80/- to 95/-, barley and oat do. 85/- to 95/-, all per ton delivered.

DUBLIN HAY AND STRAW (Smithfield).—Both hay and straw were in small supply, and market sold up quickly at generally rather enhanced values. Sharp sale for prime dry stuff. Prime first crop hay 5/9 to 6/3, a few fancy shed loads perhaps 6/6, second and third crop 5/3 to 5/6, best old meadow hay 4/6 to 5/-, medium 3/6 to 4/3, inferior 2/6 to 3/3. Oaten straw 3/6 to 4/-, wheaten (only a few loads in) 4/- to 4/6 per cwt.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN AGAIN RISING.

TIN—Market reacted sharply; sellers being more reserved in face of higher Eastern cables, together with improved buying orders. On balance cash marked an advance of 72/6 and forward 67/6 per ton, compared with the closing rates of Monday. Standard cash quoted £285 to £285 2/6, three months £284 5/- to £284 7/6; settlement price £285. Sales amounted to 850 tons, comprising cash at £284 5/-, £284, and £284 10/-, three months £283, £281 15/-, and £284 5/-. English ingots quoted £285 to £285 10/-. COPPER fully steady, and forward positions settled down 2/6 per ton dearer, while a good business transpired. Standard cash quoted £62 7/6 to £62 10/-, three months £63 7/6 to £63 10/-; settlement price £62 10/-. Sales, 1,500 tons, cash at £62 8/9, £62 7/6, and £62 8/9, three months £63 7/6. GLASGOW IRON AND STEEL.—Rather better feeling characterises Scotch iron and steel industries. Makers' prices now at levels where they can compete with Continental firms. Locomotive and waggon builders fairly active. They are taking moderate quantities of malleable iron. Conditions somewhat improved for re-rolled steel. Ship plates £7 17/6 per ton; boiler plates £11 10/-.

IRISH FAIR.

"WIRED" THREAT.

CHARGE AGAINST CATTLE SALESMAN.

In the Dublin Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Cussen, Edward Murtagh, 333 North Circular road, Dublin, was charged with having, on the 9th ult., sent to Joseph Higgins, Athboy, Co. Meath, a telegram containing a threat that he would pay the extreme penalty of death.

Detective Berry said that defendant handed in a telegram, which was addressed to "Higgins, Athboy, Co. Meath"; and read: "Received letter from mother to-day. You will pay the extreme penalty of death." The defendant made a statement, in which he said: "I sent the telegram. I had drink taken at the time. It was in the heat of temper."

In reply to Mr. E. H. Burne (defending), the witness said that he knew that Higgins was married to a sister of the accused man, and that in or about the day on which the telegram was sent, she was charged with obtaining goods by false pretences.

Mr. Burne—At the time the telegram was sent the husband would not move in the matter at all, and Mr. Murtagh was drinking after the trial? I believe so.

Detective Sergeant Gibney asked for a remand, and did not oppose bail.

Mr. Burne said that the defendant was a very substantial man, and a well-known cattle salesman.

ALLEGED FALSE PRETENCES.

Harry Ludlow, St. Kevin Parade, described as an English Jew, was remanded on the charge of obtaining £5 by false pretences from Edward MacDonald, Jubilee terrace, Naas.

Detective Sergeant O'Connor said that the defendant made a statement denying that he got any money by false pretences from MacDonald. He said that he got £10 from him for teaching him how to do tailor-cutting.

WOMAN FINED FOR HAWKING CIGARETTES.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

W. A. Radbourne, 7 Leinster road, Rathmines, was prosecuted, at the instance of the Revenue Commissioners, for offering cigarettes for sale at a place other than that for which he was licensed.

A witness stated that he purchased a packet of cigarettes from the defendant in a garage in Dorset lane. The defendant appeared to be hawking cigarettes around the street.

It was pointed out that there was an error in the summons in the statement of the penalty, which was £100, and not £50, as stated.

Mr. Little said that he could not amend the summons, and, accordingly, dismissed the case, without prejudice.

Mrs. Annie Walsh, 116 Francis street, was fined £12 10s. for having sold cigarettes at Rathgarrett, Co. Westmeath, without a licence.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

At the wool sales held at Sydney yesterday 9,557 bales were offered, of which 9,100 were sold. Private sales consisted of 969 bales. There was a good selection. Competition was keen and the bidding was most spirited, France, Germany, and Italy took the bulk of the offerings, and there was strong Yorkshire and Japanese buying. Highly satisfactory clearances were affected. Prices ruled at par to 5 per cent. above the closing rates of the last series. Greasy merino realised 29½d
